

Teachers from all over western Iowa have attended a two-day conservation education workshop hosted by the West Pottawattamie Environmental Education Council for the past two years. West Pottawattamie is the only soil conservation district that hosts such an event in Iowa.