BENTON COUNTY'S COLORFUL DAILY NEWSPAPER

Monday, September 8, 1975 Vinton, Iowa Volume 60 Number 6 8 Pages

This is our land

This is our land, and our land is the basis for nearly everything we do in Benton County. And Bentonians do a lot with the land, from raising some of the best crops anywhere, to using its resources for recreation and enjoyment. Water is necessary for our productivity, with either too much or too little causing problems. It is critical to preserve what we have, and the water we receive. Those endeavors come under the subject of soil conservation — a practice that should be on all our minds every day, and especially this week. This is soil conservation week, a time when extra attention is focused on our land, and preserving its resources. (This stream and farm are between Vinton and Mt. Auburn.)
