

Queen of The Furrow Selection on Thursday

Contest Entrants To Be Luncheon Guests At Local Tea Room

"Queen of the Furrow" contest entrants are to be honored at a luncheon Thursday, August 6, at Blanche and Ethel's Tea Room, according to Dean Kelsey, Chairman of Hardin Soil Conservation District.

Entries have been received from Cynthia Montandon, Alden, and Jean Hoffman and Mary Ruth Moore of Iowa Falls. Additional entrants are expected during the week. The contest, open to all single farm girls between the ages of 16 and 21, is the 4th annual event.

Two girls will be chosen to represent the district at the regional contest to be held at Boone County Fair on August 18 in the evening.

Regional contest winner will receive a 21-jewel wrist watch and the opportunity to compete against eight other regional winners in the statewide finals at the Hanford Hotel in Mason City on September 20.

Designed to increase public understanding and appreciation of soil and water conservation, the Queen of the Furrow contest is co-sponsored by the Soil Conservation Districts of Iowa, United States Steel Corporation and local American Fence dealers.

The new queen will select a free, glamorous wardrobe for herself and appear as hostess at the Soil Conservation District Commissioners Annual Conference and the Iowa Field Days and Plowing Matches to be held near Sioux City on September 25.
