

To Speak At Conservation Banquet Monday

Frank Mendell, State Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, will be principle speaker at the Hardin County Soil Conservation District banquet, 6:30 p. m. Monday at Eldora. His talk will be titled "The Great Plains Conservation Program." The banquet, open to the public, will be held at the county Youth Building on the fairgrounds at Eldora. Another feature of the program, according to Hardin County Soil Conservation agent Calvin Moore, will be the presentation of Conservation Achievement Awards to county winners for work accomplished on their farms. The general public is invited to attend this meeting, Moore said, and cooperators with the Soil Conservation District are urged to be present. Ladies of Owasa community will serve the dinner.
