FOREWORD

OAKS '66 is a kaleidoscope of ideas, moods, activities, people, and personalities, which have made this a unique year for the Ambrosian family.

... bits and snatches of almost memories, and half-forgotten names of people, across a room, or close at hand in classes, at parties, or at games, at home or away ... rustle of autumn leaves ... pigeons on the chapel crown ... paralyzing snows ... that first spring breeze ... the crocuses in the snow ...

... only pieces ... only shreds that we remember ... minutes that were unimportant, no less than the important things, to hold on to ... problems to put up with ... papers to agonize over ... and gym-suits to wash ... thinking that challenged ... the continuing battle with grades ... rehearsals ...

... the NEWS each Friday ... construction of floats ... the Bell to be won ... the 1965 flood ... Theater III lights ... Musical's melodies ... these are memories ...

... beanies ... rings ... caps and gowns ... beginnings ... endings ... professors and students ... East and West ... North and South ... St. Ambrose in the Nation, this, our theme ...

These combined bits and snatches of memories ... We present in the '66 OAKS.

DEDICATION

There are those who come and pass away again ... those who cross our path and walk a bit with us, giving, guiding, sharing ... then we part ... with a surer step.

On June 21, 1964, The Right Reverend Monsignor Sebastian G. Menke became the tenth president of St. Ambrose College. Our road has been made smoother, our burdens lighter, our hearts happier, and our college life more profitable because Monsignor has crossed our path ... and walked with us ... toward the stars ...

It is to Monsignor Menke that we dedicate the 1966 Oaks, for what we consider to be his outstanding example of a way of life; striving with his best to serve his God, using his best to serve his fellow man, and giving his best to education. It is with this understanding of the students of Saint Ambrose College that they are guided. Appreciation is often a difficult concept to express, so it is with this, we dedicate Volume XXXII.

The 1966 Oaks Staff

The Right Reverend Monsignor Sebastian G. Menke

ST. AMBROSE AND THE NATION

Education is the chief defense of the nation. The educational system of the United States is greatly enhanced and aided by the private colleges and institutions which give students the opportunity for advanced learning. These colleges weld the system into the culmination of our proud heritage. Our American heritage has made our nation strong; its strength coming from its people. This strength is our defense.

Saint Ambrose alumnus Paul Kamerick shakes the hand of United States Vice-President Hubert Humphrey in the vice-president's office in Washington, D. C. Mr. Kamerick is Assistant Counsel to the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigation. He is the brother of Reverend Bernard M. Kamerick of the Saint Ambrose faculty.

There are approximately 25 Saint Ambrose Alumni in the Washington, D. C. area. Nearly 40 alumni live in near-by Virginia while alumni numbering 35 are located in bordering Maryland.

Associate Professor of Chemistry, Miss Dorothy Haskin is seen walking near the chapel of the U. S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colorado, her hometown.

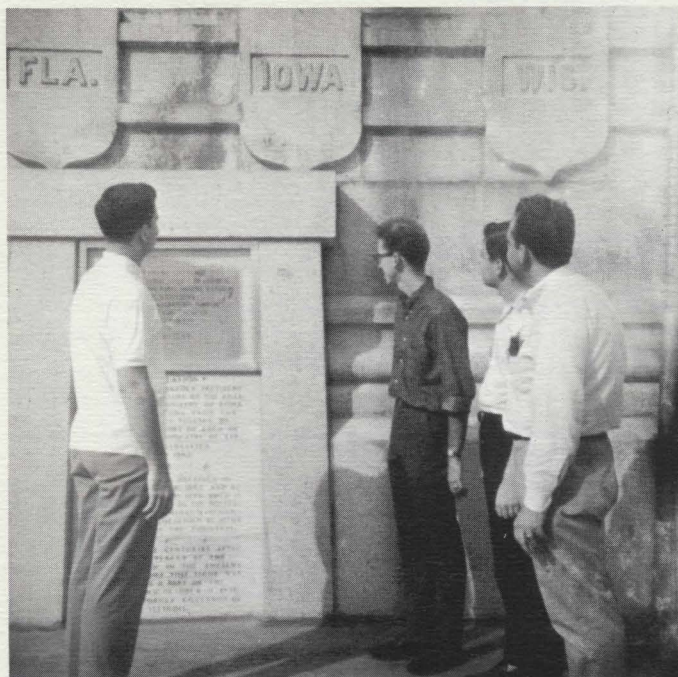

Milwaukee, Wisconsin is the home of Ambrosians and the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. Mr. William Stipich, director of marketing services looks at the 1965 Oaks with Ambrosians Tim Fisher, Peter Brust and John Schaffner.

Students Become Leaders

During the shorter breaks from schoolwork Ambrosians use the time to visit in parts of the nation which are new to them. Because of its central location, Iowa offers a starting place for many exciting short vacations. While in Keystone, South Dakota, a stop at Mount Rushmore National Memorial Park was on the itinerary of Chuck Flavin, Tom Clancy, Tom McGarry, Tom Hawkins and Bob Zahlman. Many Ambrosians from the east travel throughout the nation's west, while the students from the west often have a chance to tour the east.

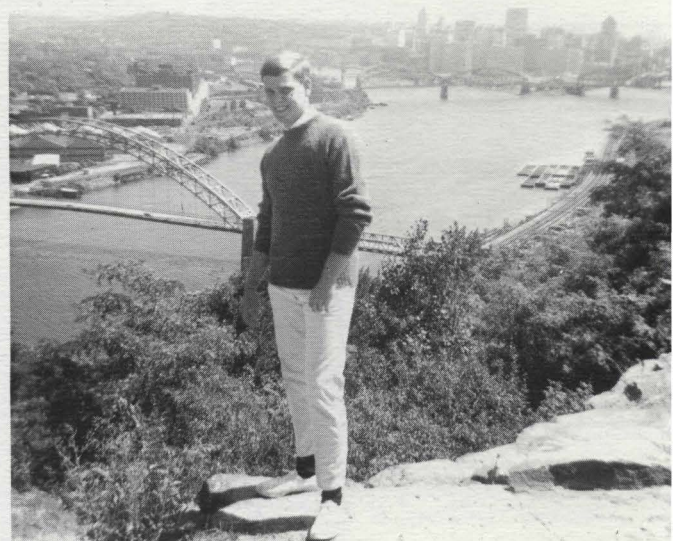

Each state is represented by a plaque atop the Lincoln Tomb in Springfield, Illinois, which is home to Ambrosians P. Pirrera, J. Picco, A. Pirrera and C. Pirrera.

The Youngstown Sheet and Tube is a landmark to the steel town of Youngstown, Ohio, home to Leonard Cockman.

The wide open spaces are not words to a song in many parts of our nation. George H. Kuhr finds the land ideal for hunting on his ranch near his home in Ocate, New Mexico.

Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, where the Monongahela River meets the Allegheny to form the Ohio, is the home of Rick Muck who is standing near the Golden Triangle.

We, of Saint Ambrose College, feel that our significance as a private Catholic college stems from our being a part of the educational system of our nation. Our theme "Saint Ambrose College in the Nation" denotes our heritage, our present and our future. This past year at St. Ambrose students from twenty-six states gathered to become better members of their nation. From Maine to California, Washington State to Florida the students came to learn; to learn about their heritage and to be able to fashion and create a better future. Within this book lies our present, the school year 1965-1966.

St. Ambrose alumni now reside in every state of the union except Vermont. The doctors, teachers and business men who have graduated from St. Ambrose have given us our heritage. We have made our present. Together we will shape the future, the future of our nation.

Ambrosian Gerald Martin is seen at the Strategic Air Command Base in Labrador. Both veterans and sons of military personnel come to Saint Ambrose from all parts of the continent.

Guide College Policies

"Opere et Veritate" (By work and adhering to the truth) describes the life of His Excellency Bishop Ralph Leo Hayes. One can see spiritual growth as Saint Ambrose has increased its breath and scope, its great advancements toward the "whole man", its steps to secure and give its students the knowledge needed for a purposeful life. Bishop Hayes has seen these and other growths as he fostered them. They are to his credit as well as to the many people who have helped him.

Assisting Bishop Hayes in the governing of St. Ambrose College is the Board of Control and the Board of Trustees. Incorporated as Saint Ambrose Seminary in 1885, its name was changed to Saint Ambrose College in 1908. The direct governing body, The Board of Control, consists of Bishop Hayes, The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Paul D. Moore, Vicar General, and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Sebastian G. Menke, President of Saint Ambrose College.

The Board of Control is advised by the Board of Trustees. This past year was saddened by the death of Dr. William Foley, Sr., an alumnus, a trustee, and a friend of the College. During this school year The Honorable James P. Gaffney, Rev. John B. McEniry, Attorney Hayes Murphy and Mr. John A. Schneider joined the Board. They meet four times annually in committees concerned with Educational Policy, Finance, Development, Associates and Rural Service. It is through these dedicated friends that the objectives and the ever increasing needs of the College are being met and provided for.

ADMINISTRATION

A steady and consistent rise in academic excellence has resulted from the Administration's heart to conceive, the understanding to direct, and the hand to execute the policies responsible for this desired progress.

The influx of the largest enrollment since the immediate post war period was handled with dispatch. Registration problems were at a minimum as a result of the recent spring and summer registration program. Cooperation of the Admissions Committee and the Admissions Counselors has considerably reduced the number of scholastically delinquent students.

Residence problems were challenging but the Davenport households responded to the call for rooms. Saga Food Service continues to adjust its serving hours to student schedules. All's well that ends well.

FACULTY, 1965-1966

"The purpose of life is to matter, to be productive, to have it make some difference that you lived at all." These words of Leo Rosten are apt in reference to the faculty of Saint Ambrose College.

Usually unnoticed committee work is an important part of the functioning of the college as an integrated unit. Faculty elected members (three) serve on the Administrative Council with the officers of the Administration. Appointed committees range from Educational Policy to Space Utilization and Student Personnel to Student Discipline. During the current year the Teacher Education Committee has prepared a report on teacher preparation for the State Education Department.

The academic day has been lengthened in order to accommodate degree candidates. One can fulfill degree requirements by attendance of classes between 2:00 P.M. and 9:30 P.M. on four days a week.

The cooperation of the Physical Education Department and the Athletic Committee brought the inauguration of the invitational holiday basketball series.

Faculty members have portrayed the College to the Community through a series of TV programs directed by Rev. Francis E. Marlin. All phases of college academic activity have been presented.

Dr. Robert M. Corwin travelled to Georgia to present a paper at a national meeting of biologists. Rev. Edward M. Catich continues to respond to the demands for lectures and publishing. Father Catich has established himself as a leading authority on Edvard Munch, a giant of twentieth century art and letter cutting into slate, the art of calligraphy.

Another milestone has been reached at St. Ambrose. In the relatively long history of the College, for the first time three lay professors have served full time for twenty years: Dr. Prudent C. Coussens, Mr. H. Shannon Boyd, and Miss Agnes C. Renner.

On Sunday, September 16, 1962, a freshman class arrived at St. Ambrose College. Very few of them knew each other, or for that matter, few of them knew much about the college and college life. Everything was strange to them. To many upper-classmen and faculty, however, the usual feeling was probably incurred, "This is Ambrose's prospects for the future?" Well, at 8:00 A.M., Wednesday, September 19, 1962, we began. On May 29, 1966, we ended. Whatever prospects existed — fulfilled!

We started as a class of 216 fresh "big-shots" from high school. Those with past academic and athletic accomplishments considered being a freshman a let-down compared to their senior year, just past. But ah, there was freedom, especially for those from out-of-town. The old guiding rules in the form of parents was left behind and except for those school rules, decisions and time were each individual's business. For some, this was another step to maturity; for others, besides the transfers, it was a blunder. We graduated about 150 of the original. The real Ambrosians came through.

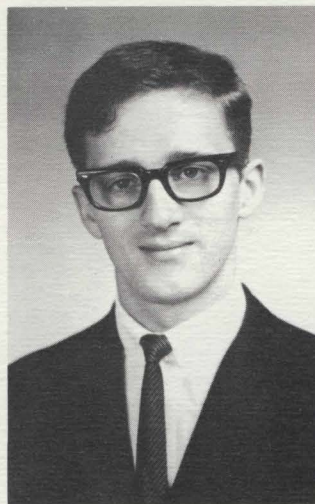

To us seniors, if we desire to do so, we can look back over an interesting four years. To every Ambrosian there were the beanies. This, for all of us, was the beginning. There have been so many things, however. We have seen a new President on our campus. Msgr. Collins left us, and Msgr. Menke has taken over. We all remember the Cuban Crisis; we even heard President Kennedy's address piped into the cafeteria. Then on November 22, a rainy, cold day in Davenport, we all shared in the sorrow as the country faced the assassination. President Johnson had been sworn-in and then elected. More locally, we saw the reintroduction of the Homecoming Parade our Sophomore year. Ambrose Towers living quarters was opened and some moved to live there instead of the usual Davis and East. The library took on a "new look" with the addition of the Browsing Room. In our Junior year we were faced with the unusual; Davenport was flooded. Remember the smell of the sandbags and the work. Senior year brought the first Supreme Pontiff on United States soil, Viet Nam, and Concelebrated Mass. The Registrar's office will not soon forget our worry of change from "2-S" to "1-A". There were also the many other events of senior year and graduation. To mention everything would take much time and present a bore to some. Let these few suggestions just recall to each reader what of the four years he holds important and enjoyable to his own personal life. Let it just be said that we have had many experiences, both individual and communal, in these past four years.

To look back over the four years is difficult, not particularly because of the time, but because of the change which has occurred in our own lives since then. What has really happened? What have we really gained? We left high school with many idealistic notions of college and ourselves. Some of these hopes were fulfilled, others neglected, and others discarded as childish dreams.

"Your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions"—Joel II, 28.

A more realistic view of ourselves, life, and our abilities was achieved during the four years at St. Ambrose.

Many arrived here self-confident. These were probably a minority. Others were only confident in the eyes of others. Perhaps this is the greatest accomplishment of college—a real self-confidence which inspires adaptability and cooperation expressed in growth towards maturity.

In academic life it is presumed we had become minor authorities in our field of endeavor. Be it in science, the fine arts, or economics, we had all made our choice and incorporated the field into our lives. More than just the knowledge of material had developed. We had learned, in a small way, to be a physical and mental part of our field, thus affecting our likes, dislikes, and attitudes. Along with this, it was hoped we had achieved a broad view of many fields of knowledge by earning our liberal arts degree. No matter how much we may have disliked a word list or an outside reading list, we had finished and it is part of us individually, shared as Ambrosians.

Many of the seniors have made an actual outstanding contribution to the College. In many of the extracurricular activities and sports, our Senior class has made itself known. Many have become better people. To name any one person would be wrong. There are too many and in varying degrees. The purpose of the outstanding work is not to get recognition anyway. Good work and achievement must have a better source of motivation. Therefore, praise here is unneeded for those who have "shined" have earned their reward personally in their own individual feelings of accomplishment. What could be said here would be unimportant in time, but what they have learned will be with them for as long as it is needed—a lifetime.

When we left high school days, we also left a community of which we were a part, no matter how small of a part that might have been. By Junior year we were completely absorbed in a new community of Ambrosians. We each brought our past and molded with the present, to share and receive and form a new community. So it was again as we left St. Ambrose; we took what we each were then, and mingled that with what came ahead, that being anywhere in the world. Like it or not, we cannot change what those past four years made us. Some faced the working world, others the military, and still others more academic life. Another of the many transitions and adjustments was faced by all of us. Because of the four years at St. Ambrose, that change should have been easier for us, and very profitable. We had completed another step to real manhood — a mental more than just a physical change. We had to take what we were and continue, to face the future. In the words of Wordsworth, we are not to look wantingly backwards at our lives, but realize that they are past, and "find strength in what remains behind."

This is a scene in Lewis Hall during the night. It calls to mind an interesting thought. Students today, especially in America, learn to take education as a thing for granted. To have an educational system which we have today, we must also have the physical structures. During our free time and at night when we are relaxing and studying, we seldom stop and realize that the classrooms provided for us by the generosity of others are silently awaiting our return to fulfill their purpose — learning.

To each senior class comes the right to initiate the freshman. To each freshman class comes the obligation to gather courage enough to face the initiation. At St. Ambrose this takes the form of "stunts" on Thursdays at 11:00 A. M. Here we see a familiar trick of hunting for one's shoes after they have been mixed with those of about 100 other people.

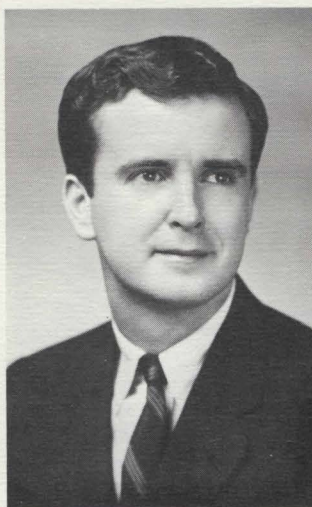

Education . . .

Adapting and Fulfilling

"Perhaps the most valuable result of all education is the ability to make yourself do the things you have to do, when it ought to be done, whether you like it or not; it is the first lesson to be learned; it is probably the last that is learned thoroughly."

—T. H. Huxley

Two hundred three Juniors Respond to Roll Call

The class of 1967 entered the upper division of the college in September of 1965 with half of our college experiences over. Two more years to go.

As Juniors, we had declared our majors and minors as we envisioned receiving our degrees. A number of the class received honors in membership in Beta Beta Beta, American Chemical Society, Kappa Delta Pi, and the American Institute of Physics. These are the National Honor Groups on campus.

Class enrollment increased as we were joined by transfer students chiefly from Midwestern junior colleges. We were also the last of small classes at St. Ambrose due to the lower birth-rate prior to the end of World War II.

When we arrived in the Fall many of us found that we had to look for living accommodations off campus. The Quad Cities responded with gracious offers to house many of the students. And to our surprise we ended up living in all sorts of places — a large unfurnished five-room apartment to a single claustrophobia orientated single-room. We made the best of it and plodded our way to classes each day.

We also graduated during the year from cutting lawns, washing windows, and working at the Brady Street Car-Wash, those normal jobs during our Freshman and Sophomore years. Now we held positions such as driving Public School buses, selling at Sears and Turnstyle, selling insurance, working at Mercy Hospital. With these odd jobs as well as working at school, attending the social functions, club meetings and basketball games it was a year full of memories, a year of work.

There was always something during the year to keep our class together. Homecoming brought second prize for our float. Spring brought our Junior Prom and the Spring musical. Theatre III kept some of us busy as did the Chorus and the Band. Juniors also participated in different capacities on The Ambrosian News and The Oaks. A busy year for a busy class.

Two hundred ninety-nine Sophomores in 1965-66

Sophomores at last! The long awaited reward! We won the struggle and enjoyed not being on the bottom of the totem pole. How "inferior" the "frosh" were to us "mature" sophomores — all 299 of us.

Many moved off campus because of room shortages. It was a good idea at first, but was as much studying done? A new rule abolished study hours for the sophomores on campus but night check remained.

The sophomore classes of SAC and MC encouraged renewal of friendships by sponsoring one of the first class dances of the school year.

Homecoming was earlier with "Old Man River" as the setting. Our class contributed a float to the parade and danced to the music of Guy Lombardo and His Royal Canadians at the "Col."

The Fall Fair was a huge success with its theme being "Camelot!" With the other classes we worked on the booths and decorations and the hard work could surely be noticed. Many of our parents attended.

Thanksgiving followed and for many of us that lived far away, it was the first time we had gone home. With Thanksgiving past, we had three weeks of hard studying, which meant English, Religion, History, and for many of us Philosophy, before we were free for Christmas. However, for many this vacation was filled with part-time jobs and trips to the library to work on term papers. Returning from the holidays semester exams faced us.

It was a long stretch until Easter break. The only change of pace we had to look forward to was the annual retreat. This gave us a chance to consider our actions and to plan ways of improving during the coming year.

Easter came and was followed by the musical and spring sports. In May we declared our majors and minors as we registered for 1966-67. From here we would continue on in the fields of our special interests. As juniors we would be entering the final two years of our formal undergraduate education and setting the pattern for our success in adult world.

Mr. McShane explains to us the important part that English Literature will play in our future lives. As sophomores this course was our last meeting in the classroom with literature, except for those who continued in the field of English. "Literature in its widest application embraces all compositions which do not appertain to the positive sciences. As a man of literature is versed in the belles lettres, so a man of learning excels in what is taught in the schools and belongs almost wholly to the past; while literature includes the current composition of the day."—John Locke

Just a typical study hour as David Boland, Bill Manning, and Steve O'Brien drill Larry Boesen in the art of pinochle.

Five hundred twenty-five Freshmen Arrive

With the anticipation of entering the "life" which college brings, all 525 of us (frosh), stood "firm" and ready to accept our challenge. This "new life" began on September 19, 1965 as we flooded the premises on the west side of East Hall. By the time Sunday was over we had been assigned rooms (which for some meant sleeping with a piano as a roommate in the Music Building, or rooming at the Dempsey Hotel in downtown Davenport until room complications were cleared up), had eaten dinner in the gym with the Marycrest freshmen, enjoyed a mixer in the student union and each of us acquired a "headdress," more formally called a beanie.

W-A-I-T-I-N-G in line to have our pictures taken and completing our registration with the payment of first semester fees, occupied much of our time during the next two days.

Wednesday, September 22, officially started the academic year. Oh, how we hated those alarm clocks.

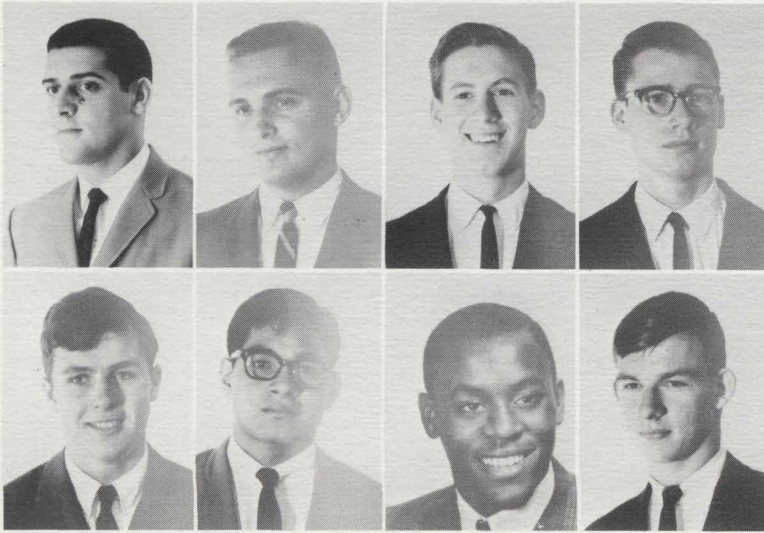

Along with classes there was always the ever-present initiation. Air raids, but no planes; duck walks without any ducks; singing Jingle Bells while doing push-ups when Christmas was still in the future; . . . just a few of the "experiences" which were bestowed upon us by the class of 1966.

With the arrival of Homecoming we felt truly collegiate as we stuffed floats and went to the first big dance of the year. We had arrived!

As we discarded our beanies with a sigh of relief, we also looked forward to the many new experiences ahead, especially the vacations and the thoughts of going home. Our first semester exams will always bring thoughts of long hours and the confusion of terms. But most of us made it . . . relief!

Second semester brought more new experiences to add to our college life. There were new intramural activities to participate in as well as the annual retreat, the band and chorus trip, the Spring musical, and the Junior Prom. The climax came with the onrush of final exams. Our first year was nearly over. At last it was over and we headed home to begin our all-important summer work. We would return as sophomores, and we would return proudly, the class of 1969.

The blue and white beanie has a special meaning to every Freshman Class at Saint Ambrose and Marycrest Colleges. It is a distinction, it is a trial, it is a relief when it is over, it is a fear when it begins. Herein are our beanies mingled with another symbol of our growth in our Ambrosian family—the oak leaf.

Since many states have different requirements for teacher certification, it is often compulsory for a student to return to the College in order to "pick up" more education courses. This year nine such men returned to St. Ambrose. They are recent graduates of both St. Ambrose and Augustana Colleges.

Not pictured are: James Bailie, Davenport, Iowa; David Cleary, Gridley, Illinois; and Ronald Hoff, East Moline, Illinois.

Rick Stank "re-checks" his class permit cards.

COMMUNITY OF WORSHIP

In view of Vatican Council II and the layman's need for greater spiritual integration, it is necessary that the training of future priests be more convergent formation in the spheres of worship, study and practical life. The minor seminary at St. Ambrose prepares young men for the priesthood in the dioceses of Davenport, Iowa, and Joliet and Peoria, Illinois.

Father Ed and Father Grif, who direct the seminarians, offer daily mass in Sacred Heart Chapel in Ambrose Hall. The seminarians attend evening conferences daily and end their day in common night devotions. All seminarians are enlisted in the preparation of community liturgical activities such as sacristans in both Sacred Heart and Christ the King Chapels. They also act as lectors, servers, and music directors for mass and Bible services. The spiritual retreat in the spring provides for a deeper experience in the community of worship.

Since it is in the world and to the world that priests are sent, the "churchies" at S.A.C. are able to supplement their academic preparation, centered in philosophy, education and Latin, by their various brushes with the reality of the apostolate in a liberal arts atmosphere. Several seminarians are involved with Confraternity of Christian Doctrine work for elementary school students at St. Paul and Holy Family parishes. A recent innovation has given the seniors the opportunity to practice teach at Assumption High School. All of this is contained in the community of study.

All seminarians are members of the Manning Club and the Rural Life Club. The former is an organization for social and intellectual activities. This year's activities included a New Man's party, participation in Homecoming festivities, a student-faculty Christmas party, a program of full-length movies and a tobagganing party. It sponsored a roster of speakers including Rev. Kevin Coughlin on Psychology in Religion, Rev. Clarence Stangohr on the Role of Newman Clubs, and Mr. Robert Guise on the Role of Lay Theologians. The Manning Club also initiated a department newspaper to provide seminary information and personal expression.

John Pomberg, Bob Striegel and Mike Wadle study together in the seminary library.

COMMUNITY OF LIFE

The Rural Life Club sponsored an annual field trip to the Amana Colonies in the fall. All seminarians and members of the Catholic Interracial Council and many actively participate in its programs.

Communications is the basis for community life and apostolic effectiveness and the daily life of a seminarian is crowded with personal interchange encouraging the development of genuine Christian friendships. They eat their meals in a common refectory, share the duties of communal living, participate in college intramural athletics, study together in their library, watch television in the lounge and conduct "popcorn and Pepsi" discussions in their rooms. These activities help to build the fraternal and apostolic spirit vital to the community of life in the seminary.

This bulletin board prepared by seminarian student teachers helps to explain the liturgical year.

Mr. Frank Gerzina
Director Of College Band

The St. Ambrose Band opened its campus concert season under the direction of Mr. Francis Gerzina on December 8. Mr. Gerzina, a new member of the College's faculty, brought his many years of experience to the band which resulted in a new style of concert music.

Forty-one members of the Concert Band were molded into a well-balanced musical unit. This was an accomplishment to be credited to Mr. Gerzina and his many hours of time both in and out of rehearsal as well as to the band members since the band was the youngest ever presented by the College's Department of Music.

Following the initial concert, the band prepared for tour which was taken with the chorus in late January and early February. Two other concerts followed in March and May.

Band members were not only busy with their concert season but gave their musical talents to a variety of other on and off-campus functions. They participated in homecoming festivities, provided music for the "pep section" at basketball games, and played in the pit orchestra of the annual spring musical. Ensemble groups presented a spring concert and also appeared in the Fine Arts Program of the two colleges in early spring held on the Marycrest campus. The monthly Music Hour found various soloists and groups performing throughout the year. Religious participation in Sunday Mass at Christ the King Chapel by the flute section added much to the music of the new liturgy.

The final appearance of the band was in commencement activities on the St. Ambrose campus on May 29.

The clarinet quartet participated in many of the activities of the band during the past year. They have taken part in a series of monthly concerts given jointly by St. Ambrose and Marycrest Colleges for music students of both schools. The many numbers played by the group included "The French Suite" by Waterson. The group includes (l. to r.) Charles Vorderberg II, Joseph Brady, John Ihle, Jr., and Thomas Shafer.

Groups

Set Rhythm, Beat

Kester and Jim Schepker lead and accompany the hymns at Holy Sacrifice of the Mass in Christ the King Chapel.

The members of the St. Ambrose College Band also performed in smaller groups throughout the year. Brass ensembles, clarinet quartets, woodwind trios, woodwind quartets, and recorder quartets performed at the band concerts, the monthly Music Hour, and presented their own concerts in spring on the Ambrose campus. In addition, they performed in the Fine Arts Festival at Marycrest.

Musicians also participated in religious activities on the campus. The new liturgy, as it has been called, was given added meaning to many Ambrosians as the awe and splendor of the worship of God was enhanced by the use of flutes and guitars in addition to the traditional organ. As young Americans we made the Mass a more meaningful sacrifice by the use of approved folk songs which expressed our feelings and thanks. "Go Tell It on the Mountain" expresses the modern concept of "Go, the Mass is ended." The musicians helped make the Mass more meaningful to all in Christ the King Chapel.

The brass ensemble was featured at the annual December Concert given by the St. Ambrose College Band. Among the numbers performed by the group was "Brass Carnival" by Wagner. The ensemble includes (l. to r.) Gene Kester, first trumpet; Dave Nichols, second trumpet; Ray Bustos, French horn; Jim Schepker, bass; Robert Flesch, baritone; and Tom Swanson, trombone.

The St. Ambrose Chorus under the direction of Fr. James E. Greene consists of thirty-seven male members. They perform as a part of the combined choruses of Marycrest and St. Ambrose Colleges and as a separate concert group.

Their concert season opened on December 12 in Upham Hall on the Marycrest campus. Following this combined performance, the St. Ambrose Chorus began rehearsal for their annual concert tour which took them into Central Illinois in late January and early February.

Auditions were held for the annual spring musical, Orpheus In Hell, immediately following the trip. With the cast members selected, the chorus took to the stage in the Assumption High Auditorium.

Chorus members also participated in the Music Hour held monthly on the Marycrest campus and in the Variety Show of the annual Mardi Gras festivities.

Participation in the Baccalaureate Mass concluded the season.

Individual Performances Perfect Musicians and Their Skills

Students in the Department of Music also presented individual recitals during the year to emphasize the importance of individual expression in the arts. Seniors giving recitals were Thomas Mooney, Clinton, Iowa senior and Thomas Schafer, LeMars, Iowa senior.

Mr. Mooney presented his recital to the public on March 30. Demonstration of his voice was given through Elizabethan Folk Songs, Arias from several Italian operas, and a series of Aaron Copeland selections.

Mr. Schafer ended his four years of study in the Department with a recital on April 24. Oboe music of Mozart, Handel, Marcello, Schumann, Collidge, and Wagner were among the composers chosen for this recital.

Underclassmen also performed on an individual basis in Music Hours and even at Mass in Christ the King. Two freshmen, James Staley and Dennis Thomas, both talented flutists in the Department, gave their musical talents to expression of the new liturgical music each Sunday.

Mr. Sutton accompanies Mr. Mooney in the East Room in preparation for his March senior recital.

Dennis Thomas, James Staley, and Thomas Mooney play a new style of liturgical music for the eleven o'clock Sunday Mass in Christ the King Chapel.

Argan (Tony Swartz) plays dead to find out the real feelings of his wife Beline (Margaret Larson) who is after his money in the comedy The Imaginary Invalid as the young scampering servant, Tionette (Sharon DelGuidice) laughs.

THEATRE III - IMAGINARY INVALID

"He is guaranteed to beget fine children," shouts M. Diaforius (Tom Mooney) about his son, Thomas (Bob Flaherty) to poor Angelique (Charlene Rothan).

MOLIERE

Headphones buzzed "Lights up!" for the opening of Theatre III's production of Moliere's "The Imaginary Invalid" on October 21, 22, and 23. The comedy revolves around Argan, a wealthy bourgeois who, because of his desire for attention, affects severe illness. His obsession makes him a perfect target for the medical charlatans of the day and for a grasping second wife who hopes to see him killed off by the doctor's cures so that she may inherit his fortune. To save money, Argan insists that his daughter Angelique marry someone in the profession and chooses the imbecile son of his doctor. Angelique loves another man, however, and Toinette, disguising herself as a ninety-year-old doctor, reveals the true feelings of Argan's wife and daughter by carrying his obsession to its absurd extreme.

The play is filled with Moliere's parodies of social types. The cast included M. Bonnefoy (Martin Weiss), Messr. Diafouris (Tom Mooney), his imbecile son (Bob Flaherty), Cleante (James Thomas), Louison (Jean-Paula Periolat), Beralde (Leonard Cockman), and Fleurant (Frank Schneeberger).

THE PRISONER

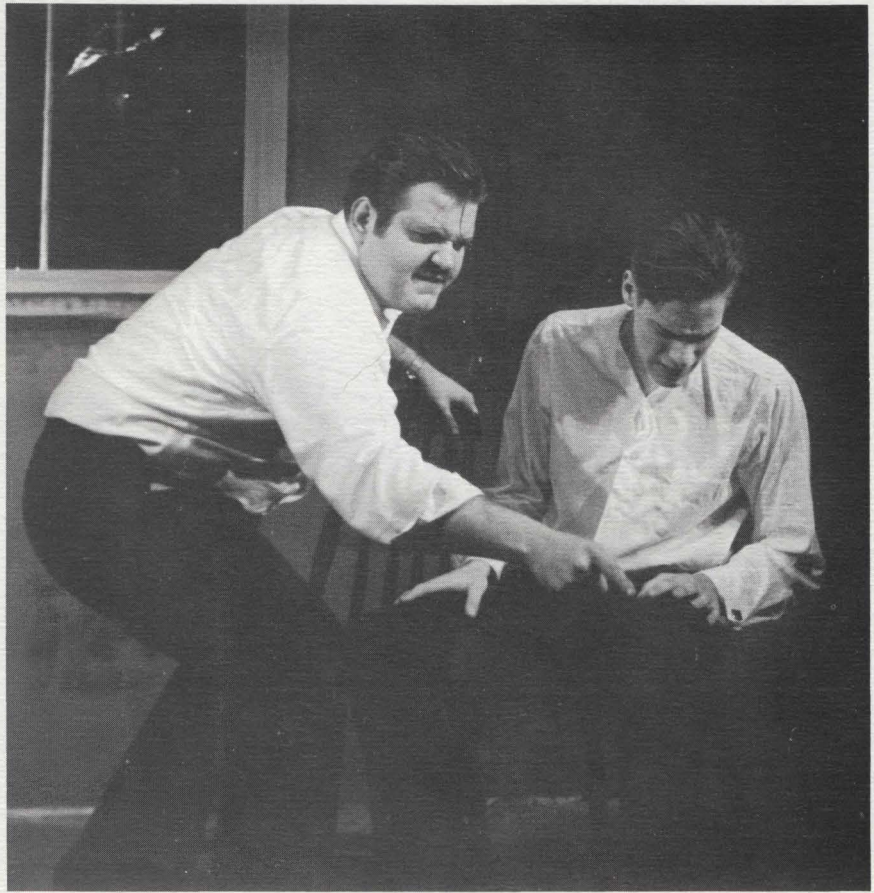

"The Prisoner" by Bridget Boland was presented on the St. Ambrose College campus as the second production of the Theatre III season. It was presented on February 17-20 in the theatre in Lewis Hall. The play resembles the Cardinal Mindszety story of Hungary in many aspects.

It is the story of the means of war. The Roman Catholic cardinal is taken to jail so that a confession of treason may be extracted from him so that the government can better convert the people to their end. The long process of getting the confession from the cardinal, played by Robert Thomas, is given to a former friend and doctor, the interrogator, played by R. Anthony Swartz. The many days pass that are needed for the cardinal to become weakened and sign the confession.

The cardinal, under great strain and under the false convictions of his pride, initiated by the interrogator, admits his guilt. He is condemned to death at his trial and then set free by his captors. He ends a broken man.

Others in the cast were: James Ruzeck, cell warden; Frank Schneeberger, secretary; Bill O'Connor, room warden; Martin Wiss, doctor; and Pete Metroni, barber.

The cardinal begins his life in prison not knowing what will befall him. He has not yet been stripped of the worldly signs of his position, nor his being which has conformed to his worldly position of leader of men. It is because of this position that he is a threat to the government that is trying to overtake his people.

As the trial of a man takes place within his own being, Bob Thomas, as the cardinal, fights the words of the interrogator, R. Anthony Swartz.

TEAM SETS NEW SCHOOL RECORDS

VARSITY TRACK

"Youth" seemed to be the answer for the success of Bees' harriers this season. Coach Roy Owen relied heavily on underclassmen to put together the most successful track team in St. Ambrose College history.

The team began its season early in January when they travelled to Chicago to take part in an indoor meet against the University of Chicago and Bradley University. The Bees came away with a win over Bradley and a loss to Chicago. They rounded out their indoor season with losses against Western Illinois, Coe, and Loras.

The Cindermen came to life when the outdoor season began. Led by veterans Bill Fulton and Joe Cervantes and Ron Schachel, and Freshmen Monroe Keys and Jim Collins, the Bees won three out of their four dual meets.

The highlight of the season was a 90-46 win over Augustana College. The Bees had a hand in wrecking ten meet records as the two schools renewed athletic relationships, after a 17-year layoff.

St. Ambrose won ten out of 16 events in this meet, losing only in the distance runs, the hurdles, the discus, and the high jump.

Ron Schachel, junior, set meet records in the 100 yard dash (10 flat) and 220 yard dash (21.7) and anchored-in record-winning relay teams in the 440 (43.1) and mile (3.21.9).

School records and meet records went to Schachel in the 220, to Don Krebs in the pole vault (12-6) and to the 440 and mile teams. The team also had time to travel to the Drake Relays in Des Moines, Iowa. In the Iowa College Division, Bill Fulton, Monroe Keys, Jim Collins, and Ron Schachel, the relay team, came away with a third in the 880 relay and a fifth in the mile relay.

A nucleus of veterans will return again for the Bees this spring, along with a group of talented freshmen to help strengthen the weak points. The Bees should put together the finest track team in St. Ambrose's history.

Junior Lou Kaiser comes from underneath to "stuff" against Platteville in the opening game of the season.

VARSIITY BASKETBALL

The 1965-66 Varsity Basketball season opened with many questions to be answered. How will the team do in the newly-formed Midland Athletic Conference? How will they do with a comparatively young ball club? Can they do better than the previous season?

Under the leadership of Coach Robert Duax the Bees started out on the right foot to answer these questions. With only four returning lettermen, all underclassmen, and a good crop of transfer students, Coach Duax molded together one of the finest teams in years for St. Ambrose. The team also finished high-up in the Midland Conference. Other teams in the conference are Quincy, Loras, Lewis, and St. Norbert's.

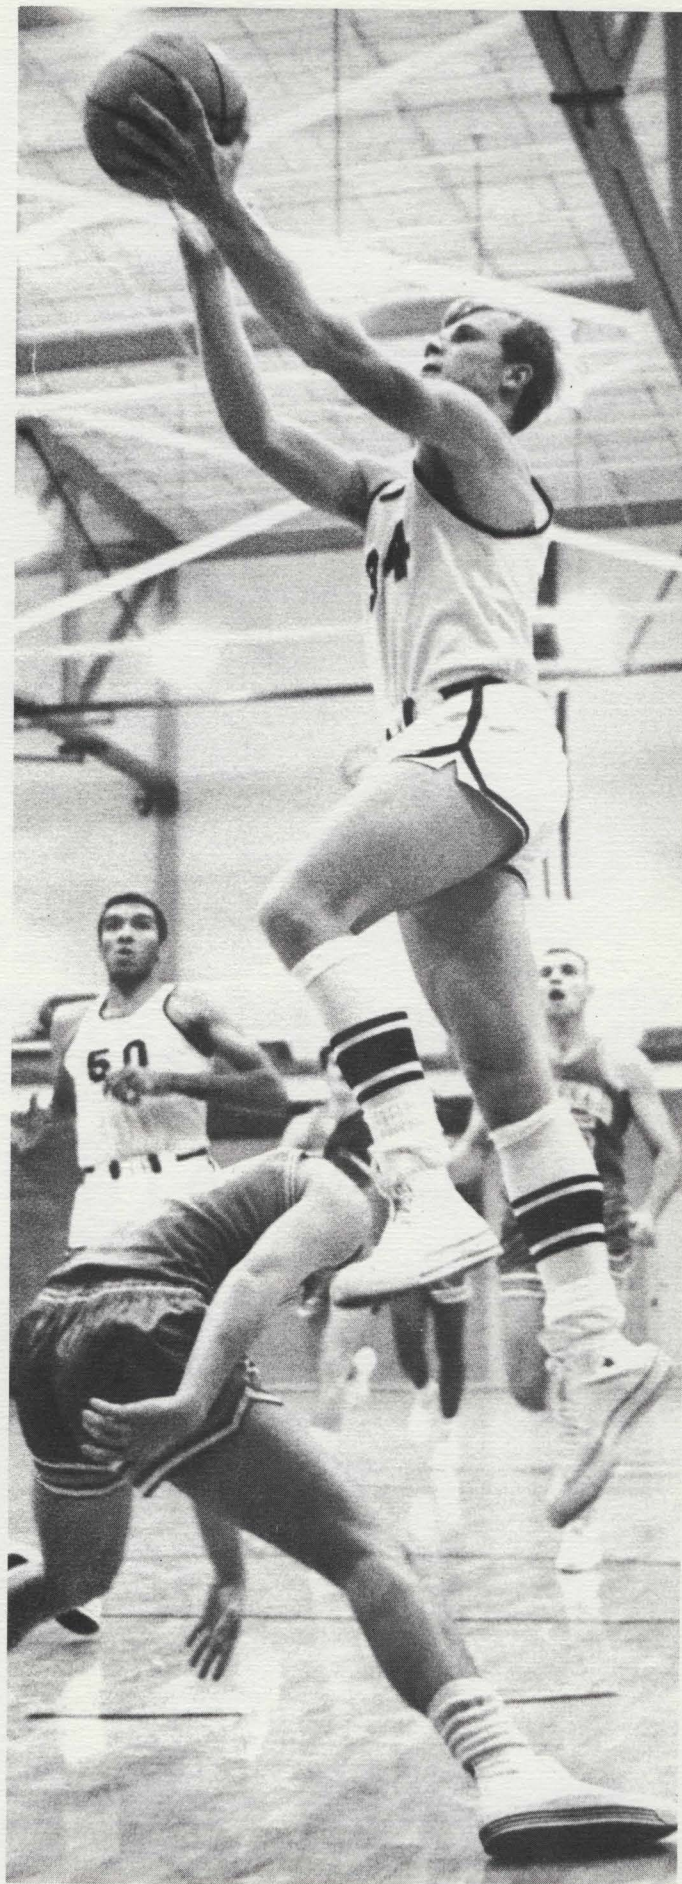

The Bees opened this season after the Thanksgiving Holiday on the right note, with wins over Platteville (112-102), Dubuque (81-73), Coe (89-67), and William Penn (65-63). Junior Captain, Lou Kaiser, showing some of the moves which made him a "Little All-American" the past season, took scoring honors in all the games.

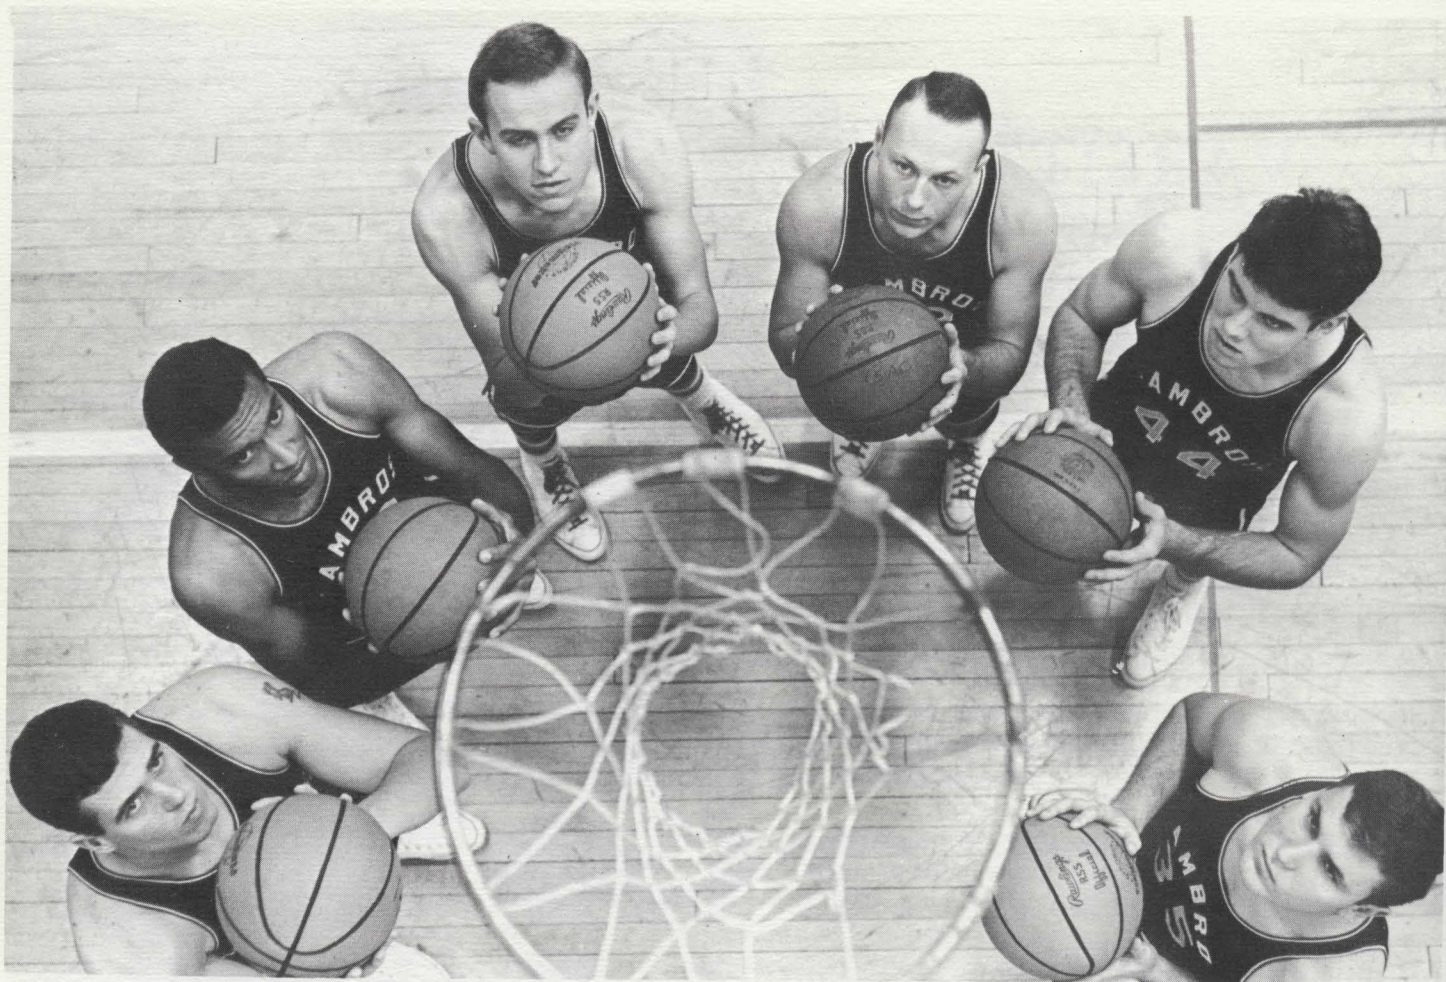

On the first road trip of the year the Bees were stopped by Illinois Tech, 68-64, and Lewis, 94-89. They bounced back with a 92-91 win over Iowa Wesleyan before going into Holiday competition.

While everyone was home for the holidays, the Bees took part in two tournaments: The William Penn Tournament and The St. Ambrose College Holiday Tournament. In the William Penn Tournament the Bees opened with a first round win over Culver Stockton, but lost to William Penn in the final. They won the St. Ambrose Holiday Tournament with wins over St. Mary's 67-64, and Augustana, 76-70. Kaiser was voted the most valuable player in the tournament. Denny Rusk was on the All-Tournament team.

The last half of the season proved to be hectic for Coach Duax and his team. They opened with loses to Augustana, 69-67, and Quincy, 104-72. They came roaring back with wins over arch-rival Loras, 81-66, St. Norbert's 104-92, and William Penn, 85-80. The Bees then turned cold with loses to Dominican, 71-67, Luther, 104-87, Dubuque, 79-78, and Lewis, 111-76, but turned on power again, to win over Ill. Tech, 100-73, and Augie, 65-60.

Roger Furman leaps over a Platteville Pioneer to score a lay-up. It was action like this that sparked the start of the season.

Wazoo defender fails to get Duke quarterback John Underwood before he gets off pass.

The intramural program at St. Ambrose College is set up so that every student can benefit from the program. Purely a non-compulsory program, intramural participation takes in more than two-thirds of the student body.

Under the direction of Leo Kilfoy, and his assistants, Edward Scheck and Roy Owen, the program is aimed towards student organization and student leadership. The formation of teams is left up to the students, and each activity is under student supervision.

The activities which make up the intramural calendar are: flag football, basketball, volleyball, softball, swimming, water polo, bowling, golf, track, tennis, wrestling, and gymnastics.

FOOTBALL

This year intramural football was made up of 25 teams, with approximately 250 students participating. The top two teams in each league are entitled to participate in the play-off. The top teams this year were: Ramblers and Caravans (Monday), Punks and Wazoos (Tuesday), Dukes and Fitoes (Wednesday), and Vandals and Vikings (Thursday).

The Wazoos, a group of highly talented freshmen, showed their strength and took the Intramural Football Championship for the year 1965.

Tom Miller displays trophies won in the annual Field Day events.

INTRAMURALS

BASKETBALL

The new year opened the intramural basketball season with a record total of fifty teams, representing approximately five-hundred men. A new system of a double-elimination tournament took the place of a round robin tournament. Competition lasts until March when the top four teams of each league will participate in the playoffs.

The top teams in the tournament were: the Spartans, the Mofus, the Blanks, the Little Yawehs, the 69's, the Dukes, the Vikings, and the Playboys.

WRESTLING

Intramural wrestling again proved to be very successful this year. This sport has been met with such great enthusiasm, that it might well be put in on the varsity level. The matches pitted the on-campus wrestlers against the off-campus ones. There were eleven matches, and each match was exciting. The only fall in the matches for the off-campus students was when Mike Stoltmier pinned Bob Torti. Three-time champion Hank Kapheim won on default over Bob Menke. Big Steve Miclot also became a three-time champion with a slim decision over Bill Hass. The on-campus wrestlers showed their over-all strength by winning a decisive 30-14 over the off-campus mat men.

From the large number of events which make-up the annual Field Day, a rather large group of winners is formed. These are those for '65.

OFFER VARIETY

VOLLEYBALL

Growing in popularity year by year, intramural volleyball took in a total of 240 participants, which resulted in approximately 30 teams. The teams were divided into four leagues. The top teams this year were: the Nads, the Punks, the Globes, the Ranglers, the Tappers, the Ramblers, the Bucs, and the Wanderers. The Bucs were defending the title which they won last year.

BADMINTON

Interest is not low, but participation is on a lesser scale in this intramural sport. Gary McQuinney and Tom Dowling teamed up to win out over twenty-one teams.

TENNIS

With the highest number of participants in tennis singles that have ever been here, Herb Gregory walked away with the championship.

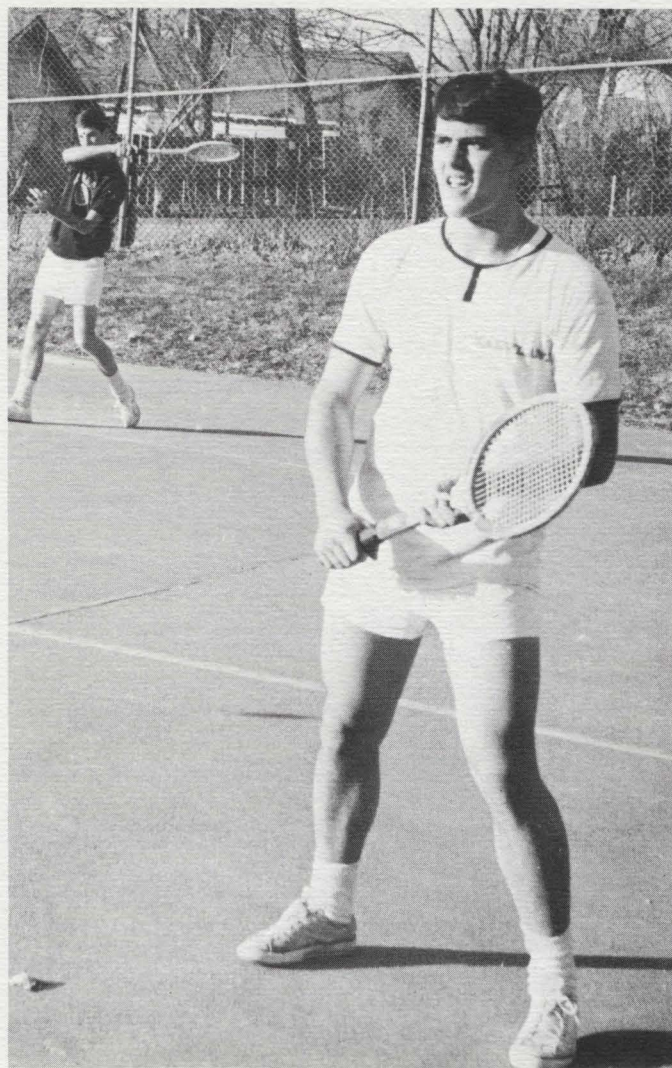

SOFTBALL

The 12 and 16 inch intramural softball tournaments proved to be very exciting this past spring. The Grubs, behind the pitching of Ken White, stopped the 210 Club in the 12 inch league, and the powerful Vandals showed their strength by downing the Vikings in the 16 inch league.

FIELD DAY

The annual field day is an event occurring towards the end of the school year. It consists of a multitude of track events. The most valuable man of the day this past spring was Tom Miller.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The physical education program at St. Ambrose meets the needs of the students by providing a great deal of physical activity. In the freshman year the emphasis is placed on physical conditioning and swimming. In the sophomore year the program of classes includes basketball, football, softball, swimming, tennis, golf, bowling, track, wrestling, volleyball and gymnastics.

The athletic facilities are also opened to the students during the week and on week-ends. The gymnasium and the swimming pool are opened at specific times for students who want to take advantage of them.

Physical conditioning is the prime concern for all involved in the P.E. classes.

As mid September came the Student Council gathered to help show our campus and its facilities to our new students and their parents. They also had the chore of selling beanies and saw to it that the correct room assignments were obtained by the new students.

The next big job was the October 22-23 Homecoming. The largest Homecoming parade in recent St. Ambrose history with the fifteen floats and two bands was staged. Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians were brought to play for the student dance at the Col Ballroom.

The Council passed resolutions regarding proper dress for classes and on campus generally. As college students throughout the country there are those who feel that the proper dress is intricately involved in the maintenance of standards of quality and excellence.

As the freshman class began to form, it seemed that something should be done so that they would have a voice in student government until such a time that they would elect their own officers. As a new innovation to St. Ambrose the Council formed a Freshman steering committee which consisted of representatives from each dormitory floor and one for off-campus students.

The Council again sponsored the Honors Banquet which was held on Saturday evening of Parents' weekend. Each department chose a senior who had maintained high scholastic achievement to receive the plaque.

"Winter Wonderland" was the theme of the annual Christmas dance. The arrival of Santa Claus was the highlight of the evening. The soldiers in Viet Nam were honored as gifts were provided to help make their lonely

A.I.P. DIFUSES KNOWLEDGE

The American Institute of Physics has at Saint Ambrose an affiliated chapter. For those majoring in physics, engineering or mathematics the group offers membership. The Saint Ambrose Chapter was first organized in 1959. Its purpose is to advance and diffuse the knowledge of physics and its application to the welfare of the human race.

This year the American Institute of Physics counted for the first time among its members Marycrest students whose interests in physics brought the group together.

Programs for the year included films on the Mercury and Gemini space flights; movies from Westinghouse, Inc. and the Bell Telephone Co. on research in physics; and Dr. R. Frank from Augustana College, Rock Island, Illinois spoke on research grants.

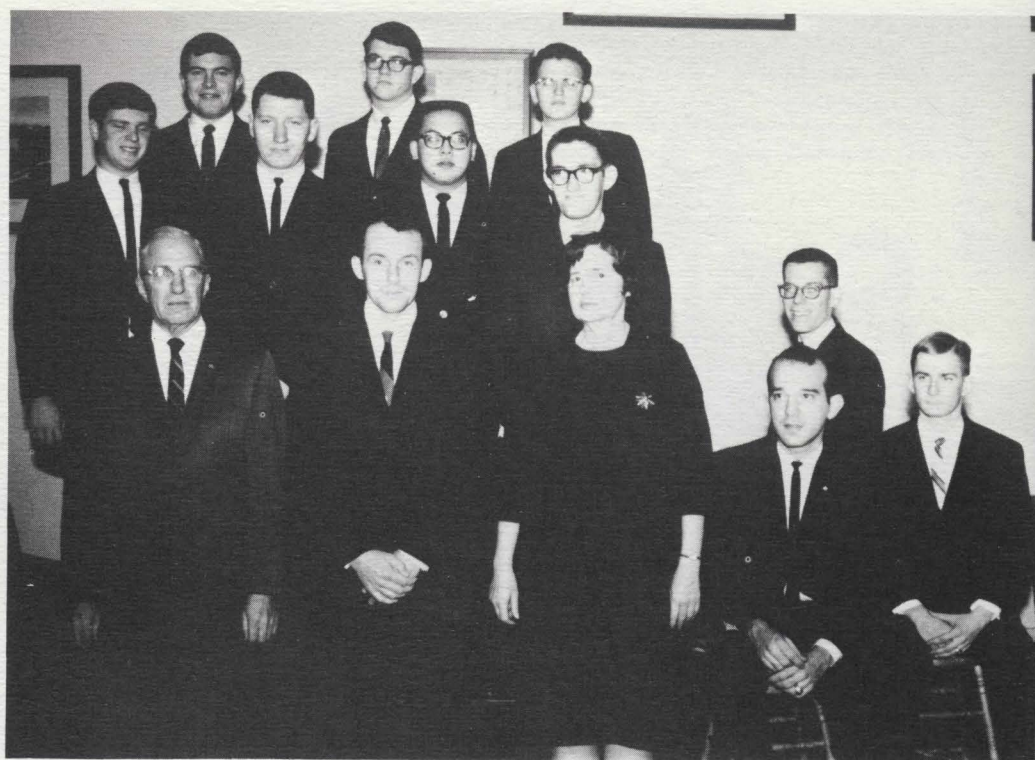

On campus the group learned much by building a gas laser and growing crystals in the laboratory.

affiliated with the National American Chemical Society. All members receive the American Chemical Society Newsletter to help them keep up with the latest information and discoveries in their field.

The requirement for membership into the society is to be a major in chemistry at Saint Ambrose.

Again this year the Saint Ambrose Chapter travelled to the Argonne National Laboratory in Argonne, Illinois.

The Tri-Beta Lecture Series included A. M. Winchester, author of the Freshman Biology Textbook used at St. Ambrose. There were also lectures on "The Medical School—What To Expect" and "The Graduate School—How to Get In."

The Theta Theta Chapter also conducted a tutoring service for those who felt the extra help would be beneficial.

KDP Attends Convocation In Houston

Today, with the expanding quality of professional teachers, those who work in the professional education program and exhibit worthy educational ideals and express their interest in the field of education are honored by an invitation to become a member in the Iota Omega Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, a national honor society in education. Membership is open to those students of junior and senior status with the general scholarship of a ranking grade in the upper one-fifth of the college. Their motto is Knowledge, Duty, Power.

This year the fall initiation was held at the Plantation with Mr. Robert McCue speaking on the aspects of special education in the Davenport school system.

Travelling to Houston, Texas for the national convocation was the highlight of the year for those selected to attend. Donald Miller and Charles Pirrera represented the Saint Ambrose Chapter as official delegates. John Schaffner, John Picco, Miss Agnes Renner, and John Wright went as observers.

Mr. Maertens served as advisor for the honorary society. Meetings brought to the students a number of worthwhile thoughts from speakers on various topics. Speakers included Mrs. Dorothy Wilbert on Retardation, Miss Mildred Marron on libraries, and Miss Etta Cosner on teacher recruitment in the Davenport school system.

The national honor society for students of Catholic colleges and universities, Delta Epsilon Sigma, has its Xi Chapter on the Saint Ambrose College campus.

Each year initiates are selected by a faculty committee from no more than ten per-cent of the seniors who have maintained a "B" average and who have actively participated in the extra and co-curricular events of the college.

The national honor society was founded in 1939. Saint Ambrose College was a charter member in the organization. Miss Juanita Monholland is the moderator of the Xi Chapter of Delta Epsilon Sigma.

AMERICAN ASSN. OF UNIVERSITY PROFESSORS

The American Association of University Professors was founded in 1915 to advance the ideals and standards of the academic profession. It is the only organization which is national in scope and exclusively devoted to serving the interests of the academic profession as a whole, in contrast to the hosts of specialized and professional associations. The St. Ambrose College Chapter is, in the same sense, devoted to the interests of the faculty rather than to the more narrow interest of individual departments or divisions. The local chapter provides a vehicle for discussion and action.

During the past year, as in many previous years, the local chapter has been active in the promotion of academic freedom, adequate salaries for all faculty members, physical facilities which can promote and encourage an interchange of ideas among members and the creation of administrative forms which will aid in the growth and preservation of quality liberal education at St. Ambrose.

CHICAGO CLUB

One of the largest social groups on campus is the Chicago Club. Membership is open to all students from the Chicagoland area.

The Club sponsored dances and movies on campus. The Holiday season was an active one for the Chicagoians. The third Sunday of Advent the annual St. Vincent's children's party was staged. During vacation students and alumni joined in a Christmas Dance at the Hilton.

The Club also sponsored the annual summer picnic. Last summer it was well attended and served the function of introducing prospective students to the "social life" of the Ambrosian family.

Buses were provided by the Club for students from the Chicago area at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The roster of area clubs would be incomplete without the Iowan's. As we live in their state while attending college they show us what it means to be an Iowan. They are justly proud of their past, present, and future.

Again this year the Iowa Club did much to increase the active participation of students in many of the activities. Homecoming received much support and the club built a float for the parade. The annual Christmas party was enjoyed by all attending Ambrosians. The club joined many of the clubs at Christmas and gave a basket of food to a needy family of this locality. Its social date brought them to the Clayton House Ballroom. Picnic plans for the summer as well as plans for the coming year completed the college year.

CENTRAL ILLINOIS CLUB

The Central Illinois Club was organized for the purpose of strengthening interests of the students and alumni in the school and promoting campus activities. Students living in central Illinois comprise the majority of its members but anyone wishing to, may join.

The club also sponsored three annual events in Illinois; the summer picnic in Peoria, a Christmas Dance held during the holiday break, and gifts to seniors were awarded at the annual spring picnic to celebrate their successful completion of undergraduate studies.

The CIC also presented the Ed Kelly Award to the member of the track team who had done the most to foster good sportsmanship throughout the year at Saint Ambrose.

EAST COAST CLUB Leader in Social Groups

"They come from all directions. . . ." At St. Ambrose about one hundred have answered the call of the mid-west and higher education. A very successful organization on campus, the East Coast Club competes with many of the larger groups by sponsoring some of the largest and best social functions of the year.

The Clayton House was the site of the club's dance. It was a very well attended affair. In the autumn a picnic functioned as a "get acquainted" affair. Before leaving for the Holiday season they presented a basket of food to a needy family. The mild winter foiled the plans for an ice skating party.

Father Reilman is the club moderator and is always helpful with the young men's problems.

The year, 1965-66, was another that the Easterners enjoyed their new found home, and the treks to the far away East Coast were few indeed.

In October the Investment Club was formed at St. Ambrose for those students interested in learning the very complex and complicated matter of the world of Wall Street. Stocks and bonds are less a mystery to this group. They both practice and learn the theories of investment through practical application.

The Davenport investment firm of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith gave the Investment Club its impetus by freely granting advice and stock exchange materials that enabled the club to begin its study of the stock market and its many complicated facets.

Under Mr. Hamel the interested students can prepare themselves well for the business life ahead.

PRE-LEGAL CLUB

The students of St. Ambrose College who are interested in entering law school belong to the Pre-Legal Club. Under the guidance of Dr. Matthew McMahon they bring speakers to the campus to speak about the law profession. This year the Dean of the Law School of Saint Louis University as well as speakers from Drake University and local attorneys added great insight to the members. During the year the Pre-Legal Club takes two trips to the area law schools, Drake University and the State University of Iowa. In bringing to the pre-legal student as much information as possible regarding law schools and the profession, this club helps direct themselves to their hopeful career.

The Physical Education Club at St. Ambrose College has come a great distance since its organization in 1964.

Many speakers have been brought to our campus to talk to the members of the Club. Coach Tom Loun, of the Palmer College rugby staff, spoke on the growing interests of rugby in the Midwest. Films of many different sporting events were also seen by the Club and their guests. At the annual All-Star Intramural football game the Physical Education Club takes on the task of selling refreshments.

MATH CLUB

Under the guidance of Rev. Joseph Hratz, chairman of the Mathematics Department, the Math Club was established to supplement the mathematics courses of the majors and minors in this field, as well as to introduce them to new mathematical ideas and possible future profession. Although membership in the organization is not restricted, it is primarily made up of students majoring or minoring in mathematics. During the past year the club sponsored "help sessions," which were utilized by students having any difficulties.

HISTORY CLUB FURTHERS INTEREST

The History Club experienced a challenging program under Mr. Richard Geiger as advisor. The Club tries to further the active interest in history and to discuss current events. The majors engage in discussion of issues of particular interest. They have also discussed career opportunities in History as well as graduate studies. This club was not socially active, 1965-66.

The primary objective of the Monogram Club is to promote school spirit. Any Ambrosian who has won a letter in a major sport is eligible for membership in the organization. Membership is also open to any student who is voted in by the letter winners. In the spring all new members must undergo a vigorous initiation. A dance and the annual Faculty Basketball Game are sponsored by the club.

Every student enrolled at St. Ambrose College belongs to the National Federation of Catholic College students. The National Federation has three purposes: 1) to foster Christian thought and action; 2) to make the student aware of contemporary issues; and 3) to represent St. Ambrose College at the national level.

With so many students involved, the number of projects are divided among six commissions. These include the Legion of Mary, the Young Christian Students, Family Life, International Relations, International Students, and Lay Missions. This year a group was formed to aid the admissions office in giving prospective students a tour of our campus and its facilities.

For the most active members of the NFCCS the year started with the Twenty-second National Congress held August 29 to September 4 at the Sheraton Park Hotel in Washington, D. C. Voting delegates at the convention were Mike Brockman, John Baumert, and Jerry McMorrow. Jim Henkel, John Jablowski, George Liu, John Curran and Don Claeys made the trip as observers.

October brought the NFCCS Regional Council meeting and workshop. It was held in Sioux City at Briar Cliff College. The theme was "The College Student and Ecumenism." Seventeen Ambrosians attended.

Fall Fair is an annual event on the St. Ambrose campus. Its theme for the fair, "Camelot," dominated the November 6 weekend. This, as usual, was a successful money-raising event and a great deal of fun. The proceeds supports the many and varied activities of NFCCS.

The NFCCS also initiated the first "Inter-College Spectacular" to honor the international students in the area colleges. Joining Marycrest and St. Ambrose were Augustana, Blackhawk, Central, Clarke, Loras, Mercy, Mt. Mercy, Mt. St. Clare, Moline Lutheran, Moline Public, St. Anthony's, St. Luke's and Palmer. The undertaking was a huge success. The Starlight Ballroom at the Mississippi Valley Fairgrounds provided adequate space.

More than one thousand students, with representatives, from all parts of the world attended the "Spectacular."

St. Ambrose College, for the fifth consecutive year, hosted the Quad-Regional Seminar. It was held on the weekend of March 12. Our guests were students from Loras, Clarke, Mt. St. Clare, Ottumwa Heights, Mt. Mercy and Marycrest Colleges.

The Big Brothers Club was organized in 1961 by a few members of the Chicago Club. Their purpose was to visit St. Vincent's Home to entertain the children. Today this continues to function for these children. Many friendships and good times the children would otherwise not have known have been made possible by the Big Brothers Club.

During the year the men have visited St. Vincent's Home twice weekly. They coach the boys in sports while the Club's counterpart at St. Vincent's, The Big Sisters, entertained the children. On October 31st the traditional Halloween party was held with the children bobbing for apples and playing other games.

A thrill for the children was made possible by the Club when they marched together in the Homecoming parade.

The Big Brothers and Big Sisters have a picnic in the spring for the children.

CHARTER GRANTED TO NAACP

"One Nation, under God, with liberty and justice for all." This is the goal of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. It works "to achieve the end of segregation, per se, or eradicate practices of discrimination."

This year the NAACP at St. Ambrose was granted its charter from the national headquarters in New York. This very active young club was moderated by the Rev. Francis W. J. Duncan. Tutoring of junior high school negroes in the area helped prove their good intentions to their fellow neighbors. The distribution of NAACP material was the on campus project. The Ambrosians supported the local chapter's major projects including a January banquet featuring Melvin Goode, of ABC News, as the speaker. The chapter gave a basket of food to a needy family at Christmas.

FIRST IOWA COLLEGE COUNCIL

March 1965 brought the Knights of Columbus to the college campus in Iowa. The St. Ambrose Council has the distinction of this honor.

The Knights' activities are centered around a six-point program with a committee in charge of each program: social, religious, youth, fraternal, public relations, and insurance.

The first annual fall dance was presented in November. The Council's Homecoming float featured a colorful K. of C. saber. The Student Council's third place award was taken by this entry.

The Council has held corporate communions and breakfasts for its members. They have had several Masses offered for world peace.

The children of St. Vincent's Home received pen and pencil sets at Christmas and were guests at a May picnic. During the winter an essay contest was sponsored at the elementary school in St. Paul the Apostle parish. The prize was a savings bond.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS

The politicians and independent-minded voters of tomorrow are formed today through the political clubs on campus. The Young Democrats seek to further the ideals of the Democratic Party and to support local party members in their campaigns. Campaign activities included precinct work, phoning, typing and decorating for rallies. Interest continues to grow as the state elections approach and the party workers anticipate the presidential election of 1968.

Mike Kernan accompanied by students from Cornell and SUI journeyed to Washington to visit Iowa Congressman John Schmidhauser. He continues a political action program for college students from the First Congressional District of Iowa.

Tom Lawlor and Tom Drew attended the National College Young Democrats Convention in New York City during the fall semester.

In October the Young Democrats staged the "Donkey Serenade" in the Beaux Arts Ballroom of the Blackhawk Hotel. This club had a busy year as active Democrats.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS

Derek Williams and Marcia Midland tag Charles Wittenmyer during the Scott County Young Republicans "reserve tag day." Mr. Wittenmyer is the GOP national committeeman from Iowa.

The projects and activities of the Young Republicans were two fold: to increase the political awareness of the student body and to put the fun back into politics. The first was accomplished through two programs. A speaker program was started to bring top Republicans to the Campus, among which was Alderman Robert Duax who spoke on local election procedures, and a new type of political action called "Education for Action" was initiated.

During the municipal election members aided in pre-election canvassing, polling, precinct work, phoning, typing and decorating for rallies. They participated in the Homecoming parade. A delegate attended the Young Republican Convention at Waterloo on March 11 & 12.

The business, economics and accounting majors of St. Ambrose join the Commerce Club in both social and career planning efforts. The group annually sponsors career conferences by prominent businessmen in the area who visit the campus. This year they included Mr. David Harrington, President of the Junior Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Donald Simcoe of Phizer and Co., who spoke on salesmanship; and Mr. Robert L. Bloome of the Eagle Signal Company. A tour of the Bawden Advertising Agency was made at the beginning of the year.

The Commerce Club built a float for the Homecoming parade, sponsored a dance at the Clayton House and held their annual April banquet at the Plantation.

DEBATE TEAM TRAVELS TO TOURNEYS

The Saint Ambrose College Debate Team has established a continually meritorious record in its many years of existence. The thirty-five year tradition has been continued during the past year by participation in eight intercollegiate debate tournaments. In addition to the tournaments, the College Debate Team compete in, there is also a Saint Ambrose College Debate Council. This council organizes and administers the annual Saint Ambrose College Invitational High School Speech Tournament.

The 1965-66 schedule was a very busy one for the debaters. October took them to Western Illinois University for the Western Illinois Season Opener Debate Tournament. In November there were two tournaments; one was held at the University of Chicago and the other at Bradley University, Peoria, Illinois. The debate team later traveled to Wisconsin State University for the W.S.U. Debate Tournament. The new year started for the men at Western Illinois for the Double Threat Tournament. Iowa City was the next challenge as the State University of Iowa held a Forensic Conference. The year ended at Carthage College on March 18 and 19.

KSAR EXTENDS BROADCASTING HOURS

"This is KSAR, 570 on your radio dial, Saint Ambrose Radio, with you in mind." And so began another day in the broadcast studio of our student radio station. In redecorated quarters the announcers and disc jockeys daily broadcasted music, news, and weather. All the commercials were tape recorded. Interest in student radio and communications has been mounting during the past years at the College. As a service to the students, KSAR brought music to the dormitories on campus and as a news service brought to them the latest campus releases as well as information regarding club meetings. Their full broadcasting schedule was filled with something for everyone. This year the Sunday schedule was increased to a full day's broadcasting as well as the addition of Saturday programming. From one o'clock until ten in the evening, with the exception of the 7 to 9 o'clock study hours, KSAR brought programs that soon grew to be the favorites among the students.

New features were added to the News this year as the demand for student expression and added interests continued to rise. The controversial column "The White Knight" gave many reactions to be pondered while a weekly review of entertainment as well as reviews of both campus and area concerts, plays, lectures and movies was to be found in "Around Town." "Right Reaction", "Reader's Forum" and "In other Words" also added to student interest in current affairs and events.

For the staff it was a busy year of writing, typing, proof-reading, cropping and layout. It was a worthwhile year as the busy campus had a busy newspaper to tell, shout, review, approve, disapprove and congratulate. "It said in the Ambrosian News . . ."

Volume 32, the 1966 Oaks, was produced by a team. It is a result of hard work, long hours and much thought. It is for the students, it is for posterity. The team numbered only ten, these ten came through. The coach was Miss Agnes Renner, without whose help the team never could have made it. The game is over.

The organizing, if there is a key factor to success then this must come first. It demands leadership, knowledge and hours of hard work. This book is intended to last a lifetime. That is why much time was spent in putting it together. Seated are Literary Editor, Leonard Cockman and Editor-in-Chief, Charles Pirrera. ALUMNI

PLEDGE CONTINUED SUPPORT

All but one surviving member of the Class of 1915 returned to the Campus for their first reunion in 25 years. They are: Edgar Hill, Blue Island, Ill.; Peter Hahn, Keota, Iowa; Dr. Clem Kerrigan, Davenport; The Very Reverend Edward O'Connor, St. Ambrose College, and Rigobert Hellweg, West Point, Iowa.

During October more than 700 alumni from all parts of the United States returned for the Homecoming weekend. Homecoming has been the high-light of the alumni social calendar.

The College has been proud of her alumni for more than three quarters of a century. Ambrose men and women consistently distinguish themselves in all walks of life and can be found in all corners of the world. In the United States they reside in forty-nine of the fifty states. Being proud has not been a one way street however, for each alumnus also has a wealth of memories from his days on the campus at Locust and Gaines. No matter where you go, you will find alumni who are ready to reminisce about their professors, their classmates, their social activities, and much more. There are strong bonds between each alumnus and also with the College. Alumni each year are responsible for many students making application to attend St. Ambrose. They have also provided more than three hundred thousand dollars in recent years through the Alumni Living Endowment Fund and through bequests to the College.

ORDER OF THE OAK

Parents, Alumni, and Friends of the College who believe that private higher education is essential of the preservation of our free society and are willing, invest a minimum of $100 toward the education of men and women who will be able to solve today's problems. During 1965 these 107 men and women invested more than $29,500 in the form of cash, appreciated property, appreciated stocks and bonds, insurance policies and trusts.

EVENTS

THE GREAT FLOOD OF 1965 THE MAYOR SAYS THANKS

An Ambrosian sandbag line built walls to stop a raging river and help a community.

In late April of 1965 the mighty Mississippi River surged its waters onto the Quad-Cities with such force that the homes and lives of the people who live on its banks and rely on the riverside businesses were in severe danger. Many businesses and industrial plants were extensively damaged. This same flood challenged the Ambrosians who volunteered to help save these threatened people. The urgent call for help was met with vigor as the administration, faculty and students flocked to aid the Cities. Classes were dismissed for two and one-half days. As the high waters came, the Davenport water works, which was severely threatened, became "Project Ambrose." The industrial complex on Point Mississippi in Bettendorf was saved due mainly to Ambrosians. Milan was in great danger but Ambrosians worked through the night and helped save the city.

The American Red Cross used LeClaire Gym as a registration and administration center. There were 115

The American Red Cross used our gymnasium for an aid center.

"You haven't space in the News to say what I could say about the part played by St. Ambrose College in the flood crisis.

"Especially significant was their enthusiastic defense of the Davenport Water Works. This city can do without electricity or gas or many other things, but we could not have made it without water, and you kept it possible.

"The only thanks I can express are my prayers for your wonderful work. Thank you."

Ray T. O'Brien

Red Cross national staff workers from twenty-eight states to aid the needy. College facilities were offered to those who needed them. Saga Foods extended its service by transporting food to workers who were on the sandbagging detail.

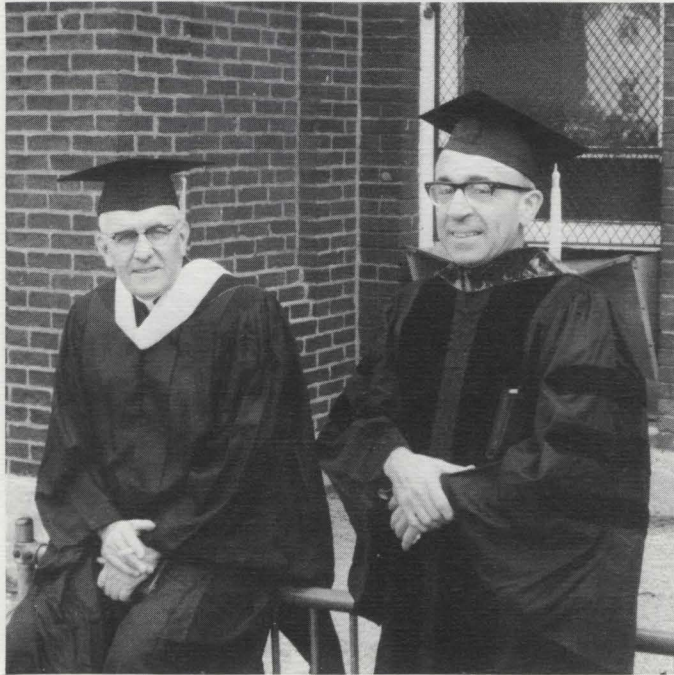

Sandbags are meaningful to Ambrosians now. They represent hard work, help, want, need, pain, callouses, colds, giving, belief in the Christian brotherhood.

The Rt. Rev. S. G. Menke sent the following message to the students: "I would like to express my appreciation and gratitude to the students of St. Ambrose for the fine example of community spirit shown during the recent flood period. The many hours of work which they contributed and the discomfort that many of them experienced are enduring proof of their concern for the welfare of others. St. Ambrose has reason to be proud of their record."

There was little hope of holding back the threatening flood.

GRADUATION -1965

Fr. Edward Lew and Fr. Pasquale Ferrara relax before Baccalaureate Services at Sacred Heart Cathedral.

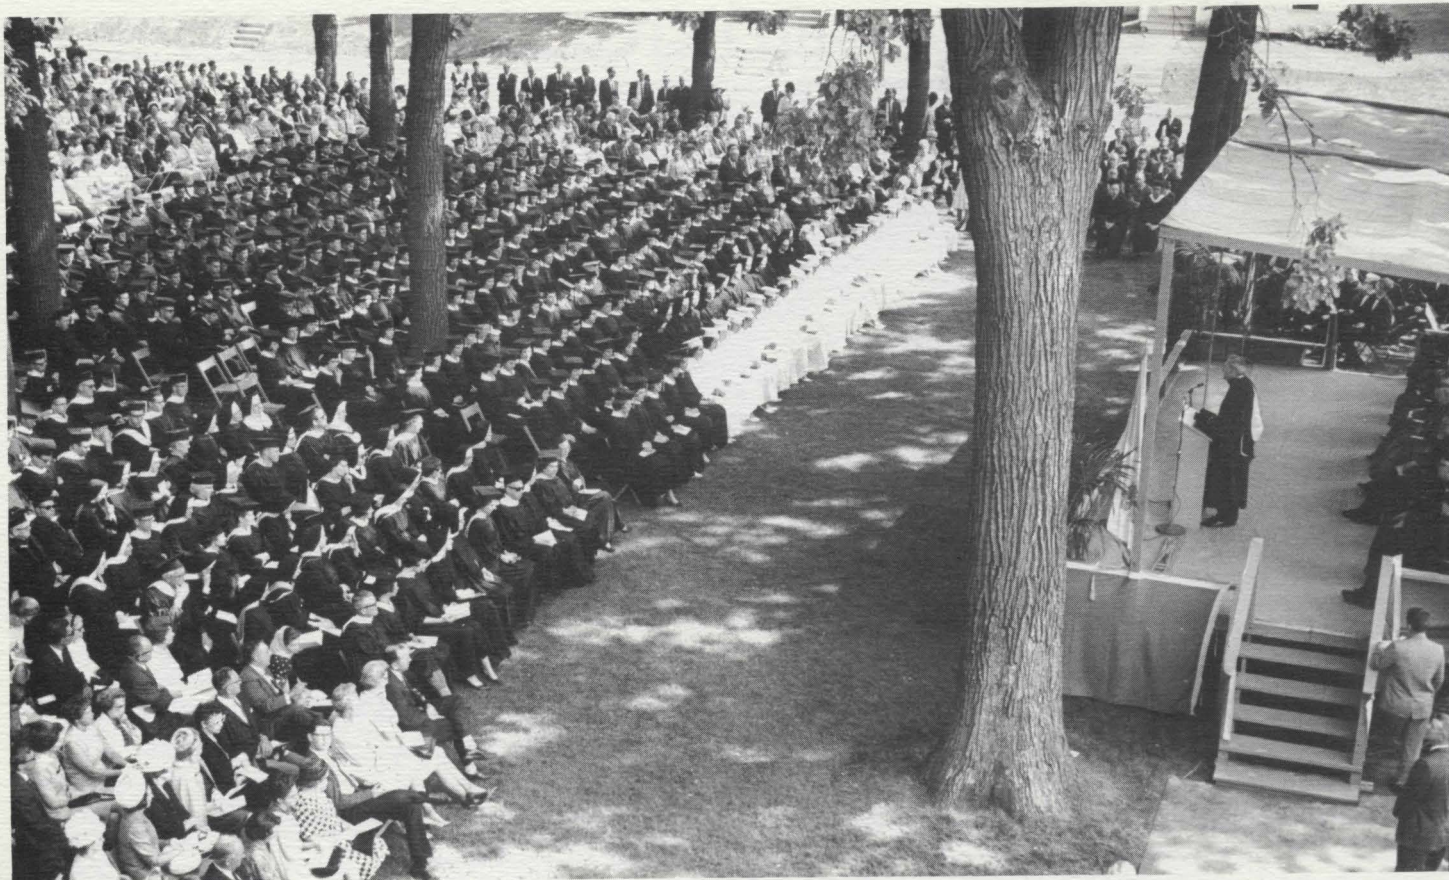

May 30, 1965 one hundred sixty-three seniors from St. Ambrose and one hundred fifty-one seniors from Marycrest assembled at Sacred Heart Cathedral for the Baccalaureate Mass. His Excellency, Archbishop John B. Franz of Peoria delivered the sermon using the epistle and gospel of the day as his text. He urged the graduates to use the good things they had and would receive in the service of others. He applied the gospel to those responsible for the education of the graduates, those who had equipped the candidates to bear witness to Christ. Archbishop Franz advised adopting the motto of Bishop Hayes: By work and by adhering to truth.

Commencement was held on the front lawn of Saint Ambrose. His Excellency, Bishop Ralph L. Hayes conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Fine Arts on Mr. Charles Gigante, retiring conductor of the Tri-City Symphony. Mr. Robert W. Galvin, Chief Executive of Motorola, Inc., was given an honorary Doctor of Laws.

Mr. Galvin delivered the address to the graduates outlining the role of the college graduate in today's society. Eight points were enumerated as basic to success: Know the objectives of the organization which you join; learn to think; have courage to express self; learn to communicate; work your job; be positive, not negative; bring loyalty to your organization; and bring character to your job.

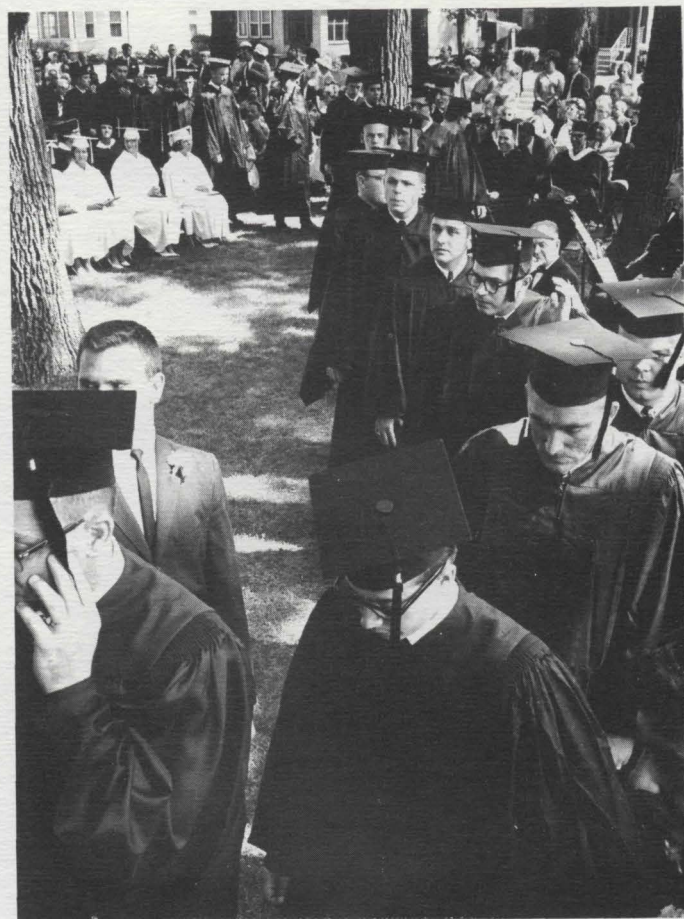

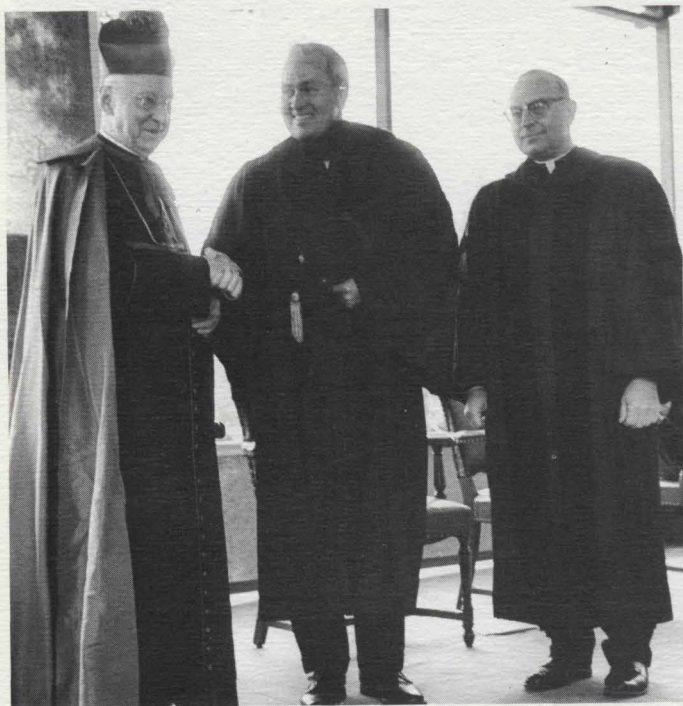

The American and Papal Flags lead the traditional graduation procession as the Bishop of Davenport and St. Ambrose President follow.

At the combined commencement exercises of St. Ambrose College, Marycrest College and Mercy School of Nursing the graduates, parents and friends listen to speaker Robert W. Galvin. The 83rd commencement was held under the oaks accommodating the 349 graduates.

Bishop Ralph L. Hayes congratulates Mr. Robert Galvin upon the reception of a Doctor of Laws degree from St. Ambrose. Msgr. Sebastian G. Menke, President of the College, looks on.

IT'S ALL A SUMMER'S HABIT

Sister Mary Christine, O. P. relaxes with a book in the library.

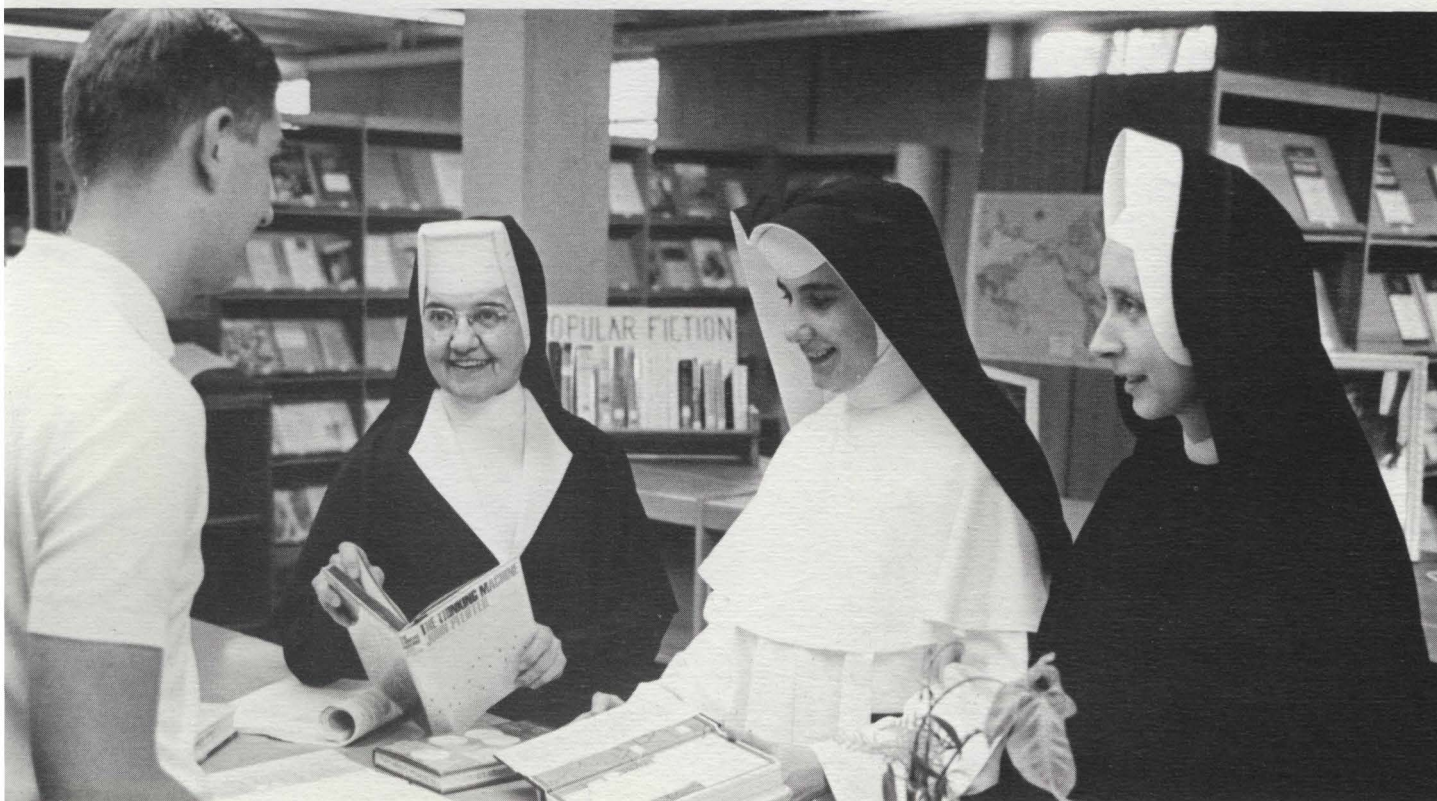

Summer is that time of year when most Ambrosians return home in search of a job or to do volunteer work. At the same time many of the Superiors of the religious houses throughout the mid-west are sending sisters to continue studies. Many specialized courses are offered as well as degree requirements. Approximately one-third of summer students are nuns.

Summer session provides some with courses missed because of conflicts, others with time for a luxury course or two, and others a chance of a "make-up."

In the browsing area of the library John Breinich helps with the selection of a book for Sister Marietta, S.S.N.D., Sister M. Joachim, O.P., and Sister Rita Marie, B.V.M. The library is one source of relaxation and pleasure for the sisters who also sing and swim.

Summer mornings begin with the sacrifice of the Mass for the sisters from many orders who study at Saint Ambrose.

The chorus from "The Sound of Music" included first row, (l. to r.); Sisters M. Helena, M. Pius, M. Armand, M. Mel, M. Georgine, M. Jeremy, M. Eunice. Second row; M. Paula, Margaret Mary, M. Anne Patrick, M. Grace, M. Anita, M. Rosalita, M. Angelita. Third row; M. Georgiana, M. Conseula, M. Michael, M. Lorraine, Concepta Marie, M. Julie. Fourth row; Peter Damien, Joan of Arc, M. Theresine, Marie James, Philip Neri, M. David, M. Pierre.

The Sounds Of Music

July, 1965 the sisters and other students of music presented a portion of Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein's "The Sound of Music." Sister M. Jeremy, O. P. portrayed Mother Abbess; Sister M. Mel, O.S.F. appeared as Sister Berthe; Sister M. Joachim, O.S.F. was Sister Margaretta; and Sister M. Philip, O.S.F. was Sister Sophia. Miss Susan Ryan sang the part of Maria. The production was directed by Richard Marriott. It was a fine performance and the Sisters gained both experience and knowledge as they worked to produce a beautiful show. Another production of the summer period was "Le Perichole." It combined music and drama department talent, with an assist from alumni.

"Climb every mountain" sings Sister M. Jeremy, O.P. (Mother Abbess) to Susan Ryan (Maria) as Sr. M. Pius accompanies.

A game of tennis proves fun for Sister Daniel Anne, B.V.M. who is serving to Sr. Michela, O.P. and Sr. Donald Marie, O.S.F.

At the Summer School Graduation Tea Fr. Francis Duncan helps Sr. Robert Mary as Sisters Mary Wilfred, Mary Eunice and Mary Grace look on. Mrs. Evelyn Wier and Mrs. Ruth Peacock served as hostesses for the occasion. It was graduation day for ten of the sisters.

Summer Commencement

Summer 1965, St. Ambrose conferred forty-seven bachelor of arts degrees. The Commencement address was given by Rev. Joseph E. Kokjohn, Ph.D., Vice-President of the College and Chairman of the English Department. Father pointed out that there are many clever questions and few clever answers as one looks back and tries to enumerate what a college education has meant. College students have learned to weigh, to challenge, to study, and upon graduation alternatives are offered. Father Kokjohn also noted that in seeing justice we see our duty to move on. This is especially true for the Summer School Commencement because of its nature and its being. It was conceived as a system to aid and promote education as an extension of the college and for many it provided the means of fulfilling the goal of a college degree.

The graduating students in the summer of 1965 listen to Fr. Joseph E. Kokjohn, Ph.D. who gave the commencement address.

EIGHTY-FOURTH ACADEMIC YEAR

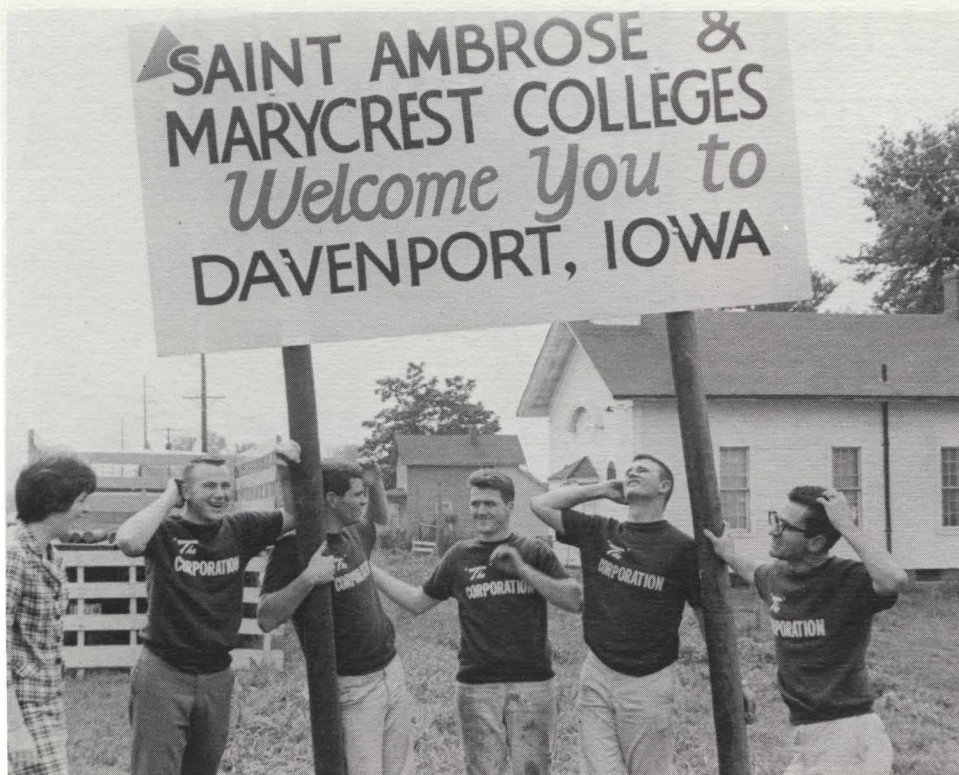

The faculty begin the year with a meeting in the library.

Academic year, 1965-66, the eighty-fourth for the College, was opened with a faculty meeting, Friday evening September 17. The President, Rt. Rev. Msgr. S. G. Menke, introduced the new members of the faculty: Mr. Oscar O. Barnett, Accounting; Sister Ritamary Bradley, CHM, English; Dr. Rita Bricksin, Economics; Mr. David A. Burk, Piano; Mrs. Rose Mary Burwell, English; Rev. Thomas Dinges, Dean of Men; Rev. William Dawson, Philosophy; Mr. Francis J. Gerzina, Band; Mr. Perry Jones, Voice; Mr. David Mallie, Latin; Mr. Paul Pluwak, French; Mr. William Vroman, Economics & Business Administration; Rev. John Shipman, Sociology

The Library Committee for the year was: front row; Fr. Anthor Farrell, Dr. Bertrand Miller, Mr. Richard Geiger, Chairman, and back row; Mr. Robert Porod, and Dr. John Norton.

At the intersection of Locust and Gaines Streets the Library and Administration Building can be seen to the left as well as Ambrose Hall through the Ambrosian oaks. Ambrose Hall was the first building built on the campus in 1885 as a seminary.

On the roads leading to Davenport the traveler now sees a large white sign. It welcomes them to Davenport from St. Ambrose and Marycrest Colleges. These signs are the work of the combined student councils of the schools. Obviously some of the erectors have problems getting it straight.

& Religion; Mr. Arthur J. Yonke, Education; and Mr. John Killion, Librarian. Plans for the year were outlined, committee assignments were released, and the order of events for the first week were reviewed. A social hour, in the College Center followed adjournment.

New students arrived on Sunday, September 19. Father John Smith, Chaplain, offered a noon Mass for the students and visitors. A convocation at 1:30 P.M. followed the luncheon. The President, Rt. Rev. Msgr. S. G. Menke, welcomed the students, parents and their friends. A briefing on College procedures followed.

“Freshmen Only” was held in the College Center for the beginners of St. Ambrose and Marycrest.

The Class of 1969 spent the next few days learning the procedures and tribulations of college life. An orientation for new students was guided by the Council.

The year began—by plane, train, bus and car returned the community to start the new year. This entails completion of registration, I. D. pictures, and yearbook photos.

Traditionally the opening Mass was on Thursday during the eleven o'clock hour. The first concelebrated Mass at St. Ambrose was offered. In the homily Father Smith,

This is registration. It means orange I.B.M. cards and waiting. For the faculty it means answering many questions, many times.

It was chug, chug as these freshmen learned that being a locomotive is fun, especially when initiation time is upon us. One can see nearly anything being done as the seniors put the freshmen through their paces. But it was soon over and done.

Chaplain, reminded the students that they have a specific purpose—to learn. He stressed that the keyword is “balance” between the world of the ivory tower and action in the world. A student’s primary concern is learning. He suggested Cardinal Newman’s definition of a gentleman as a guide: One who is sensitive to the rights of others, uses proper language and has appropriateness of dress. One who tries to understand the personality of the man named Jesus will find what he was. Be genuine

September 28 was the day set aside for the last day of registration for the fall semester. Professors representing the various departments were in the faculty lounge to assist the late registrants.

LIBRARY EXHIBITS

Iowa Congressman John Schmidhauser presents Msgr. Sebastian G. Menke with a portrait of the late President for the library.

During the past year the library has hosted several art exhibits. The first included sixteen watercolors, a few of which are pictured above, by Richard Van Wagoner. Many of the exhibits were under the auspices of the old Bergen Art Guild of Bayonne, New Jersey. Other exhibits included paintings by Avery Johnson and Henry Gasser. The paintings were displayed in the newly completed listening area.

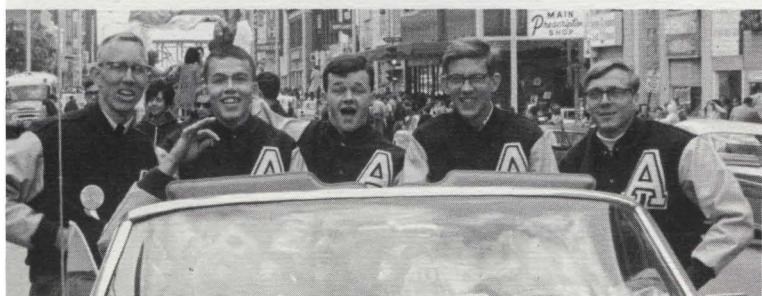

The reference room of the library is a familiar sight to the many Ambrosians who have suffered through many volumes for a term paper or research paper. The library has undergone many changes within the past three years. Built in 1941 by the Friends of St. Ambrose, the building serves as an administration center for the college as well as a library. Each year the library adds nearly 4,000 volumes to its approximately 38,000.

The festivities for Saint Ambrose College's Eighty-fourth Homecoming began on Thursday evening, October 21 with the opening of the Faculty Lecture Series. Dr. Sam Noah Kramer, a renowned Sumerologist from Temple University spoke as a Danforth Lecturer on pre-Biblical times.

Friday, October 22, the students of St. Ambrose and Marycrest Colleges joined for the annual Homecoming Dance at the Col Ballroom in downtown Davenport. This year the student council sponsored affair featured the music of Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians. Miss Karen Beiderbeck, a Marycrest sophomore, was crowned queen of the Homecoming.

Friday also brought up the curtain on the first show of the Theatre III season as they opened with Moliere's comedy "The Imaginary Invalid." The play continued through Sunday evening so that many of the returning alumni could attend the production.

The student sponsored Parade began moving at 1:00 P.M. from the levee on Saturday. It was one of the largest parades in recent history.

John Jablkowski, as a member of King Arthur's Court, welcomed the parents, students, faculty and friends to the annual Fall Fair sponsored by the National Federation of Catholic College Students. It was again held in LeClaire Gymnasium where the magic of paint and paper transformed the environment into the days of "Camelot," the theme. The dungeon was a favorite of all the patrons who were not captured. The Fall Fair was a highlight of the November Parents' Weekend.

The "Penny Pitch" was one of the many carnival games to be played at the booths of the 1965-66 Fall Fair in LeClaire Gym.

The first weekend of November was Parents' Weekend. The Parents were welcomed with a luncheon on Saturday noon. As part of the program, the annual Student Council Honors Banquet was held. Sister Rita Mary, C.H.M., gave the address and Jim Henkhaus, Student Council President, presided. At the Sunday brunch Rev. Joseph E. Kokjohn spoke and Mr. Richard Aubrey presided.

The annual Fall Fair was held the same weekend. The theme for the 1965 extravaganza was "Camelot." The gym was bedecked with banners and coats of arms reminiscent of the days of King Arthur. The dungeon became a reality and the games and booths as well as the refreshment nook were popular with all. The two-day event netted the NFCCS over $1,000.

His Holiness, Pope John XXIII opened the Ecumenical Council in 1962. The late Pontiff is seen above with His Excellency Ralph L. Hayes, Bishop of the Diocese of Davenport, during the first session of the Council. Pope John started the world on a mission of peace and brotherhood again, with renewed vigor. Though he was not to see the Council close, his hopes and prayers were fulfilled in the Council as the world prepares to complete the work of world peace and understanding.

The fathers of the Vatican Council kneel in prayer along the nave of St. Peter's Basilica in Vatican City. Participating in the rites were 76 cardinals, 8 patriarchs and about 2,400 archbishops, bishops, abbots and other ecclesiastical dignitaries from all over the world. On December 8, 1965 the Vatican Council closed marking the year forever in the annals of history.

Ambrosians concentrate on domestic and foreign affairs in co-curricular activities. In late autumn Marycrest's Social Science Club hosted a panel discussion on problems of India and Pakistan. Feature panelists were Mr. Harish Batra, an Augustana student, born in Pakistan but grew to manhood in India; Miss Regina Arculli, a Marycrest senior, born in India but lives in Pakistan; Miss Diane Buxton, Marycrest student; and Mr. Gregory Cusack, graduate student at Iowa U. of the Colleges. At present departments are discussing possible extension of existing programs in science, music, drama and accounting.

The press release stated, "Joint participation in future courses of study will present the student with a greater selection of courses and will make the best faculty from both campuses available.

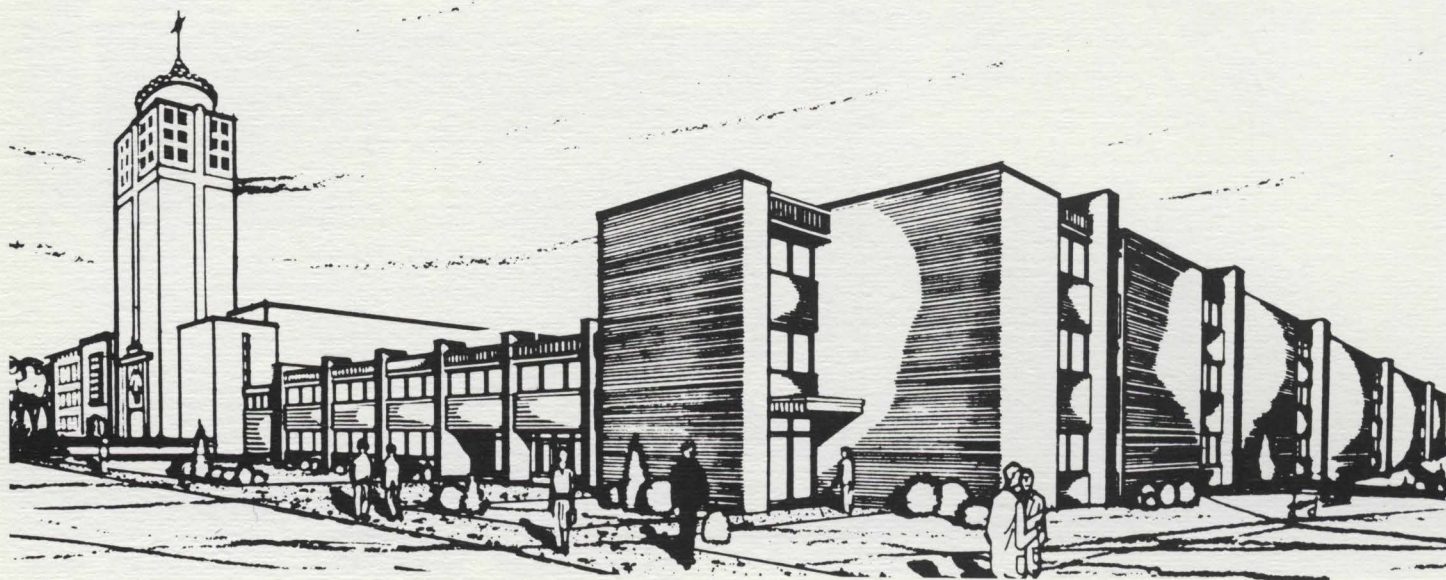

"The central objective of both colleges has and will continue to be the achievement of exceptional strength in the academic and humanistic tradition by inter-institutional co-operation. Without losing our individual identities, we can strengthen certain departments on one campus and other departments on the other campus so that the student may select a variety of courses in his major field."

The nearness of Christmas was evident as the creche was erected on the quadrangle, the advent wreath in the Chapel, and the festive tree in the Union. Before leaving on vacation the annual Christmas parties were held. Donations were made for gifts for soldiers and students joined with the other colleges' students in filling books with signatures for the men in Viet Nam. Clubs were busy taking baskets of food to needy families in the community.

SEMINARY TO COMPLETE CHAPEL UNIT

The Ambrosian Family applauded the January 10 announcement by Bishop Hayes and Monsignor Menke of the proposed construction of a seminary building on Campus.

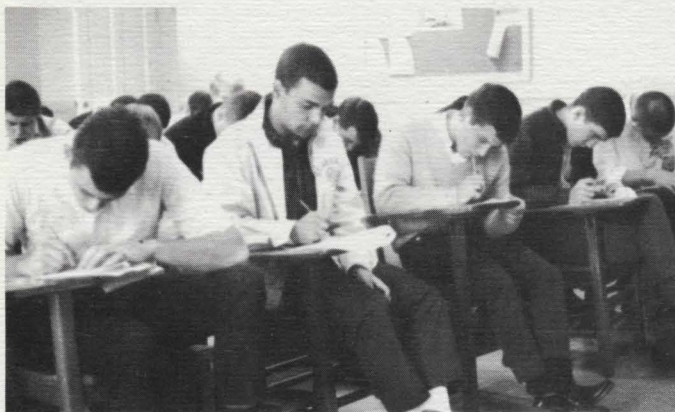

The three-story building will provide residence quarters for more than fifty seminary students, the rector, the spiritual director and six priests of the faculty. Classrooms and reading areas are planned for the first floor with recreation and utility rooms in the basement quarters.

The completion of the building on the east side of Christ the King Chapel, at an estimated cost of $650,000, is to release present areas of the seminary in Ambrose Hall for use as classrooms and residence quarters.

More than five hundred priest-alumni of St. Ambrose College serve the laity throughout the United States. One hundred eighty-five priests of the Davenport diocese have received all or part of their college training here.

Today the seminary department numbers forty students, who are studying for the dioceses of Davenport, Iowa, and Joliet and Peoria, Illinois.

World Civilization provides a challenge for freshmen.

Peace Corps Recruits

Mike Lillis, Miss Martha Hamm and Glen Suiter discuss the Corps.

Miss Martha Hamm, Peace Corps graduate, visited the Campus as a lecturer and recruiter. She showed a short film on the work of the training of Corpsmen, handed out literature and answered many questions. Three Ambrose graduates are presently serving in the Corps in Pakistan, Panama, and the Philippines.

Shortly after Miss Hamm's visit students were scanning the bulletin boards to determine their exam schedule for the first semester.

SECOND

SEMESTER . . 1966

Schedule adjustments for second semester present changes that must be accurately recorded by Mrs. Countryman, Secretary to the Registrar. This was done the first week of the semester.

Mrs. Barbara Smith, R.N., is Dr. Robert Foley's campus office nurse. Regular office hours are kept each school day from 11:00 to 2:00 o'clock. She makes appointments for Dr. Foley.

The College Bookstore stocks a complete line of goods to care for the needs of the student from textbooks to toothpaste. Mrs. Joann Linnburg is cashier and bookkeeper.

It was a first at St. Ambrose and "goes to maintain a long standing Ambrose tradition of willingness to change and adjust with the times," said Father John Smith.

Three evening lecturers keynoted the day's sessions. Msgr. Menke opened the retreat speaking on "The Church in the Modern World", an explanation of the constitution promulgated by Vatican Council II.

Dr. Robert Tobias of the Lutheran School of Theology, Augustana College, Rock Island was the second evening speaker. Dr. Tobias spoke on the ecumenical movement and made us keenly aware of the differences and similarities of our religious beliefs.

Fr. Lawrence Mullins, Vice-Chancellor of the Davenport Diocese, ended the retreat with a lecture on responsibilities we have today.

The Ambrosian Lecture Series for 1965-66 was designed to bring into sharp focus some of the ideas and issues that have shaped, and are continuing to shape, the world we live in. From this world of many times and many relevancies, these lectures concentrated successively on the ancient world and its schools, on today's world of mass communication, on the world of current political and social tension, and, finally, on the space world, the world of a nearing future.

As a visiting Danforth Lecturer, Samuel Noah Kramer gave three lectures on the St. Ambrose Campus. His primary lecture was given on Thursday evening. His topic was “Schools in Biblical and Pre-Biblical Days.”

As a renowned scholar of pre-Biblical archaeology, Professor Kramer described in fascinating depth and detail the education of men in ancient times. At the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Kramer is Clark Research Professor of Assyriology and Curator of the Museum's Tablet Collection. He is also a principal authority on the ancient Sumerian civilization.

Mr. Robert Hoyt is the editor of the dynamic National Catholic Reporter. His lecture on “Religious Freedom and the Catholic Newspaper” was well attended. As an observer to the Vatican Council, Mr. Hoyt gave many insights into the problems of the world of communication. In his early career Mr. Hoyt was editor of the national Catholic daily, the Sun-Herald. He spoke of the Catholic editor and said that it was not only a matter for academic debate, but one of daily decisive action as well.

The emergence of extremist groups and the character of extremist attitudes in the United States was analyzed and described by the noted conservative, Dr. Arthur Larson. He is Director of the World Rule of Law Center at Duke University and is Chairman of the National Council for Civic Responsibility. Dr. Larson served President Eisenhower as under secretary of labor and director of the United States Information Agency, besides being a confidential advisor. He now serves President Lyndon B. Johnson as an international affairs consultant.

Dr. I. M. Levitt came to our campus to lecture on the world of the future, “Other Life in the Universe.” He said that many various motives are propounded for man’s venturing into outer space, but it may be that the principal one is the simple curiosity to know who or what lives there. Dr. Levitt is Director of Philadelphia’s Fels Planetarium and an advisor to NASA. He is very much “at home” amongst the galaxies and nebulae of the space world on which he spoke.

The lecture series was attended by many Quint-Citians as well as by many of the faculty and students of Saint Ambrose.

FACULTY SPEAKER-EXCHANGE PROGRAM

The Faculty-Speaker Exchange Program was designed to invite colleges and universities located within a day's journey from Saint Ambrose College to exchange leading faculty persons for special speaking programs with Saint Ambrose College. The Faculty-Speaker Exchange Program sought to bring as guests to our campus outstanding teachers, and other professional persons concerned with the liberal arts and sciences from all walks of life.

The first speaker in the series was Dr. Edward L. Mayo. He is the author of three "best seller" books of poems: Unbound; The Center is Everywhere; and The Diver.

Dr. Mayo is a professor of English at Darke University in Des Moines, Iowa. He is a frequent contributor to such literary magazines as Poetry, Partisan Review and The North American Review. Dr. Mayo is acclaimed throughout Iowa as one of Iowa's leading poets. He spoke on "The Poet's Point of View."

Former Iowa State Senator C. Edwin Gilmour spoke on "American Youth and the War on Poverty." Dr. Gilmour is on a leave of absence from his chair as professor of political science at Grinnell College, Grinnell, Iowa. He is presently serving as State Director of the Office of Economic Opportunity in Iowa at Des Moines.

Professor Jack W. Jessee, Ph.D. is a professor of English and director of the graduate school program in English at Western Illinois University, Macomb, Illinois. He is faculty sponsor of The Elements, the literary periodical of the university. His published reviews may be found in many of the professional literary journals. He is former director of the Mobile University Center, Extension Division, University of Alabama. Dr. Jessee spoke on "Shaw, A Revival in Mutation."

Dr. Edward L. Mayo

Dr. C. Edwin Gilmour

Dr. Ping Chen, Ph.D. came to our campus from Wisconsin State University at Platteville, Wisconsin, where he is an associate professor of political science. Dr. Chen, born in China of a prominent family of bankers, came to the United States as a youth with his family, refugees from the Chinese Communists. Dr. Chen earned his doctorate from the University of Maryland and is an authority on the political program and propaganda of the Chinese Communists. He is the author of a book on Mao Tse Tung. Dr. Chen has been an advisor on certain specialized Chinese affairs to various U. S. embassies abroad and to executive officials in Washington. Fluent in many languages and dialects, he has performed extended missions for the U. S. government in Europe, Asia and Africa within the last four years. Dr. Ping Chen spoke at St. Ambrose on "The Political Theories of Mao Tse Tung."

Congressman John R. Schmidhauser, Ph.D. again came to our campus in the interest of the college. On this visit Congressman Schmidhauser spoke on "Politics Today For American College Students." Congressman Schmidhauser, U. S. Representative from the First Congressional District of Iowa, is a former professor of political science at the State University of Iowa at Iowa City. He is the author of several important books in the field of American constitutional law and on the U. S. Supreme Court. An able speaker and scholar, he applies keen insight and analysis to the current political scene as it appears to a professor of political science and a member of the United States Congress.

Congratulations!

You've successfully achieved another goal. You're ready to begin reaching for future successes. But . . . how do you measure success? Not with a caliper or a yardstick or a stopwatch . . . not by the acre or the ounce or the cubic foot. Success is intangible . . . it is the sum of your personal goals and aspirations, sorted into positions of relative importance.

Whatever you establish as your criteria of success, you will need to exercise self discipline. Ambition alone is not enough . . . even coupled with intelligence and talent. Self discipline is essential to direct your energies and abilities into productive channels . . . to provide you with initiative and perseverance. Develop this quality . . . you will enjoy a more rewarding life, a more successful life.

"Ambition is just the desire to succeed. The world is full of ambitious failures—all desire and no discipline. Self discipline is perhaps the most important quality an intelligent person can develop in order to reach his goals."

"Best in the Midwest — QUAD-CITIES, U.S.A." is the keyword and the declaration of the business community. Shaped to form a V, the above sign is located on the new approachway to the Airport Terminal Building.

At the unveiling ceremony, Mr. Charles H. Whitmore, President of Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company and a trustee of Saint Ambrose College, explained that the purpose of the new sign is to help create a greater awareness of the many outstanding advantages of the Quad-City area among the travelers and other visitors at the airport. "This sign is also intended," he said, "as a means of focusing additional attention on the Quad-Cities as one large metropolitan community — a single entity rather than separate towns." The Mayors of the Quad-Cities, Metropolitan Airport Authority Board members, officers of the Iowa-Illinois Industrial Development Group, and executives of Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company were in attendance.

This activity is evidence and reason why many students come to study and remain a lifetime in the Quad-Cities.

ways. The city is served by four railroads and, because of its central location, is afforded through passenger service and through freight service.

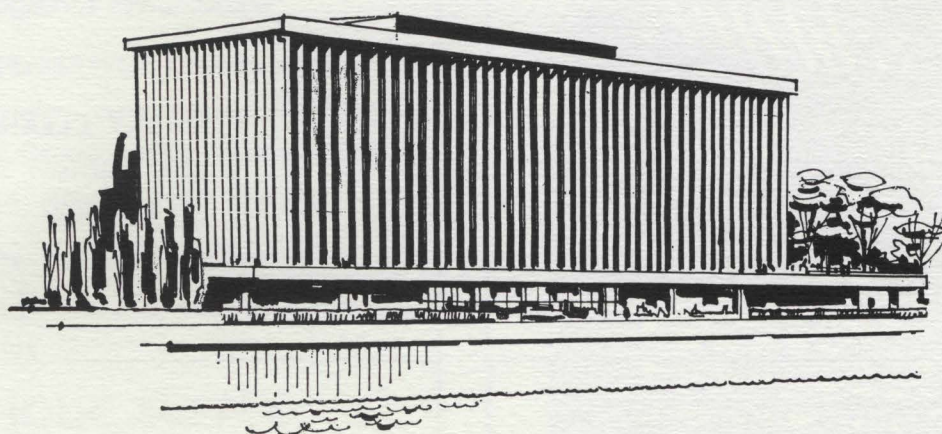

At present Davenport is served by the Quad-Cities Airport in Moline, just twenty minutes from downtown Davenport. About one million passengers use the airlines each year. The Municipal Airport, two and one-half miles north of Davenport, provides facilities for private and chartered air service.

Ninety-one churches administer to the spiritual needs of the city. They are of all denominations and Davenport is a see city of the Roman Catholic Church.

The educational facilities of the Cities are excellent. In addition to the public schools several denominations operate elementary and high schools. St. Ambrose and Marycrest are the only four year liberal arts colleges. Palmer Junior College and the American Institute of Commerce provide additional offerings. Several vocational type schools give training.

The Davenport Public Library owns nearly 150,000 volumes and has circulation figures of 492,000 — many of these being used by Ambrosians. The Library loans films, music and language records, and art reproductions. The Bookmobile extends the service of the library to outlying areas.

Recreation is varied. The city-wide park system and playgrounds provides picnic areas, golf courses, tennis courts and baseball diamonds. Swimming pools, flower gardens, a park greenhouse, and a children's zoo offer variety. The Public Museum and Municipal Art Gallery are outstanding as recreation and study areas. Youth activities and community functions find available centers in the Bettendorf Community Center and at the new YM-YWCA in Davenport. The Masonic Auditorium serves for stage performances, road shows, concerts and recitals. The Tri City Symphony celebrated its fiftieth season, 1964-65.

On the left bank of the Mississippi are the cities of Rock Island, Moline, East Moline and Milan. These communities number approximately 120,000. There are 185 manufacturing establishments producing a variety of goods, including hardware, men's clothing, plumbing and household supplies, refined oil, and farm implements. Deere & Company and the largest division of International Harvester are in this area.

The historic Black Hawk State Park, the Revolutionary War marker, Fort Armstrong and Colonel Davenport's House are of major interest. Butterworth Park and thirty-two other public parks offer picnic areas, tennis courts, baseball diamonds and playground equipment. The Arsenal Golf Course and Short Hills Country Club offer superb playing areas. The State Armory, Wharton Field House, Rock Island senior high school field house, the Civic Center and several other auditoriums are available for varied entertainment features. These Cities also utilize the Mississippi for summer events.

There are ninety-six churches of all denominations in this area, plus fifty-six public schools and twenty-three parochial schools. Three libraries are open to all residents. The Denkmann Memorial Library on the campus of Augustana College is an asset to all of the Quad-City college students. Blackhawk Junior College and Augustana, a four year liberal arts college provide for the higher education needs of the community.

This resume confirms the declaration of the Airport sign, "Best in the Midwest—Quad-Cities, U.S.A.." This is a most desirable climate in which to study, play, work and live.

For Information, Write:

The 1966 OAKS was printed by The Consolidated Graphic Arts Corporation, Canton, Ohio on 8½"x11" Saxony 90 pound stock paper. The Caledonia family of type was used with Times Roman type in the headlines. The cover was designed by the staff and executed by the S. K. Smith Company, Chicago, Illinois.

AFTERWORD

Creating the 1966 yearbook as a complete and accurate account of the school year would have been virtually an impossible task without the support of an able staff. Several members were "old-timers" but many were new to the world of book making: photography, writing, typing, editing, proof reading. As others played and slept, the staff carried on to produce Volume XXXII. The end seemed distant but came in due time. To the staff, my sincerest thanks.

We alone could not produce the 1966 OAKS. We are indebted to the "unsung heroes and heroines" who worked behind the lines. To these my special thanks: Miss Agnes Renner, our advisor, without whom "the seed would have fallen by the wayside"; Miss Juanita Monholland and secretaries for class lists and "mountains" of information; Father Edward Lew for assistance on senior biography; Mr. Jay Kane for opening his information and photo files; The Ambrosian News for stories and photos; Mr. Thomas Chouteau for the charcoal portrait; Mrs. Kay Spencer for help in indentifications; Jim Aubry, Monroe Keys, and Jim Staley for help on advertising, sports and fine arts; Sally Hotep of Jean Sardou Studios; The Catholic Messenger and The Daily Times-Democrat for photos and stories; The S. K. Smith Company and Consolidated Graphic Arts Corporation for cover and publishing; and to the many others who contributed in any way to this publication.

It is to the Ambrosian Family, nationwide, that we present the 1966 OAKS, St. Ambrose and the Nation.
