Papers Filed For Conservation Post

Nomination papers were received this week for Glen Robinson, Buckeye, and Leland Reece, New Providence, as candidates for the office of Commissioner of the Hardin Soil Conservation District. The election is to be held Monday, March 9, at the Youth Building in Eldora in connection with the annual meeting of the Hardin Soil Conservation District.

Robinson, who owns and operates a farm one mile east of Buckeye, has been a cooperator with the Soil Conservation District since 1948. Reece, who is presently serving as assistant commissioner, lives three miles southwest of New Providence.

Reece and Robinson are candidates for the expiring term of Kenneth Meir, Hubbard. Meier, a commissioner since 1953, has announced he will not seek re-election.

Present commissioners and their terms are Dean Kelsey, Iowa Falls-1961, and Harold Marsh, Union-1963.
