

Miss Helen Wilson
109 E. Washington
London

MISS FLORA N. DAVIDSON
1812 WEST LAWN AVENUE
MADISON, WISCONSIN

MISS FLORA N. DAVIDSON
1812 WEST LAWN AVENUE
MADISON, WISCONSIN

4 Nov. 1938

Dear Miss Wilson:-

After a summer's neglect of book plates, I am returning to them with renewed interest. I have just finished looking over several hundred book plates, costing 15- and 25-cents apiece, which were sent to me on approval by Stanley Q. Beganon, 1 Court Street, Boston, Mass. He issues price lists at irregular intervals that I find interesting even tho I seldom buy from them. ^{I think you} ^{would like them} ^{also}

Just now I am going over my book plates looking for garden pictures because I have to show some to a little garden club to which I belong. Incidentally

▣ JAAP EGMOND ▣
Baljuwenlaan 12
Amsterdam/z HOLLAND
exchanges EXLIBRIS

I have a large number of African mammals, picked from my little garden to-day. We have had a wonderful autumn. Some time ago
 I planted over 150 birds out doors.
 over. Ticks, nose ticks and new birds. Come and see them next spring. Written to H. von Döbeln of Holland yet but not soon. I have not seen many European birds that I could for, but there from Holland and Portugal none better than the European ones. I have no very good duplicates on hand so I'll try to make up my quantity for lack of birds quality. Mrs. E. B. Patterson, Lower Lake, Lake County, California, is a very pleasant elderly lady who is eager to exchange with others.
 Best wishes to you
 Yours in cord
 + Love W. Davidson

MISS FLORA N. DAVIDSON
 1812 WEST LAWN AVENUE
 MADISON, WISCONSIN

Mrs Helen Wilson
 109 E. Washington
 Washington
 D.C.

Received
 some attractive plates from this person