

Farm Science Is Practiced—

Manure Loader Big Labor Saver

Biggest labor saver on Tyden farm No. 2 is a manure loader on the front of a tractor, shown above dumping a pile into a spreader—also tractor drawn. "Tootsie" Sherman, who stays on this farm, is driving the spreader; Rex Townsley, who is the oldest employe of the Tyden farms and has been with them more than 12 years, now living on No. 3, is driving the loader. Farmers living on each of the units of the Tyden setup help each other with farm work, use various items of farm equipment in common under the supervision of Art Lindell—thus saving money, time and worry and getting important jobs done quickly—when they need to be done. (Lock photo, Kayenay engraving)