Student 90's Life of the

— Kimi Farrell

▲Working at HV-Vee and studying is tough to balance, but Ryan Morrissey works his best to keep his life in order.

"It depends totally on the person. I've had students who are able to take advanced courses and work full time with success." — Mrs. Jean Parsons ►Football and schoolwork takes up a great deal of Travis Roberts' time.

$ for College or Grades for College

Students face dilemma of working for cash or working for grades.

Anyone who works knows how difficult it is to keep your boss and your teachers happy at the same time. If you mess up at work because you're tired from school, your boss may cut your hours. But if you mess up at school because you're tired from work, your teacher will cut your grades. Seem unfair? Well, it is, but those of us who work definitely make a choice.

Some employers understand the pressures of school and try to make your schedule liveable. Other employers don't seem to remember how tough it is to try to carry a full class load and work 30-40 hours a week.

For many students like Senior Shelli De-Decker working isn't worth it. "Academics and athletics are more important. I want to do the best I can in sports and school, and I know that if I worked I wouldn't do as well."

For others money is more important and they pay for it with lower grades. Raymond Covert remembers last year when he worked 35-40 hours a week. "At the time, my bank account went up and my grades went down."

What about the teachers? After all, in the final analysis they're the ones who can make or break us!

Mrs. Parsons, the Advanced Placement English 12 teacher, said, "It depends totally on the person. I've had students who are able to take advanced courses and work full time with success."

Well, it depends on you. It can be valuable experience if you can handle it, but if you can't it can be disastrous.

— Julie Bonney

— Nicole Walters

▲Time spent working hard on schoolwork will pay off in the long run for Sarah Dobson.

Students' futures reflect the times

Is there life after high school? Why, sure there is life after high school! One of the best things about graduating from high school is going back to school.

According to Senior Julie Mitchell, "Going to UNI or Central College and traveling overseas for a corporation doing International Relations sounds more interesting than having kids or getting married." Brian Sincox said, "Learning lasers at IHCC would be a good way of making good money and doing more interesting work at the same time." Julie Bonney plans to become an English teacher. She said, "I am interested in literature and think it would be exciting to teach on the college level." Bonney plans to attend Greenville College in Greenville, Illinois. Radiology seems to be the profession Heidi Grade wants to get into. She said, "Helping people is very enjoyable to me. Also the field is very open not to mention the money involved." Indian Hills seems to be where she is going to start schooling. As for Todd Holman, business seems to be what he is looking into. He said, "Definitely for more money."

Most seniors today are more interested in furthering their education in hopes to gain jobs that pay big bucks! Getting married and having children seems to be put on the back burner until economic status is gained.

— Leslie Meinders

A career in music may be in the futures of Steven Sporer and Angie Modrell.

— Nicole Walters

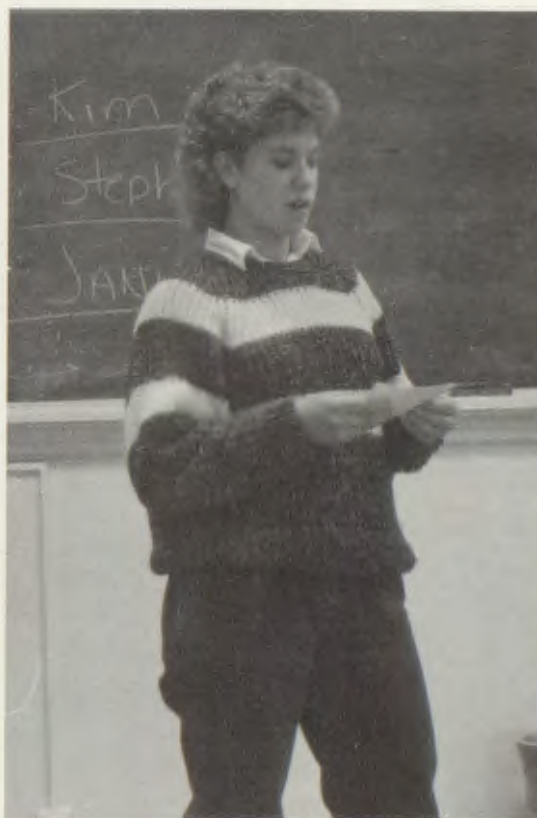

— Kim Berg

▲A job at Hy-Vee gives Jason Pigg extra money for college.

▲Acting is a high school interest that some may choose later in life.

▲Public speaking may be in the future of some students.

*No alarm . . .
No homework
No excuse . . .*

NO PROBLEM!

It's just an average day.

►A trip to the Attendance office is enough to ruin anyone's day.

This day is like no other day in the life of this OHS student. We are about to hear the gruesome tale of the worst day in the life of Sally Scholarly.

The day began on a foul note; Sally's radio alarm droned out a foul sounding noise, it was a Debbie Gibson tune. To alleviate her bleeding ears, she pressed the snooze bar. Sally then snoozed a little too late! In a rush to get herself ready for school, her favorite place to be, Sally absent mindedly left behind her Algebra homework. She faced first hour with a big fat F already against her. Before third hour, a blue slip. Three nights of detention! "For What?" she asked.

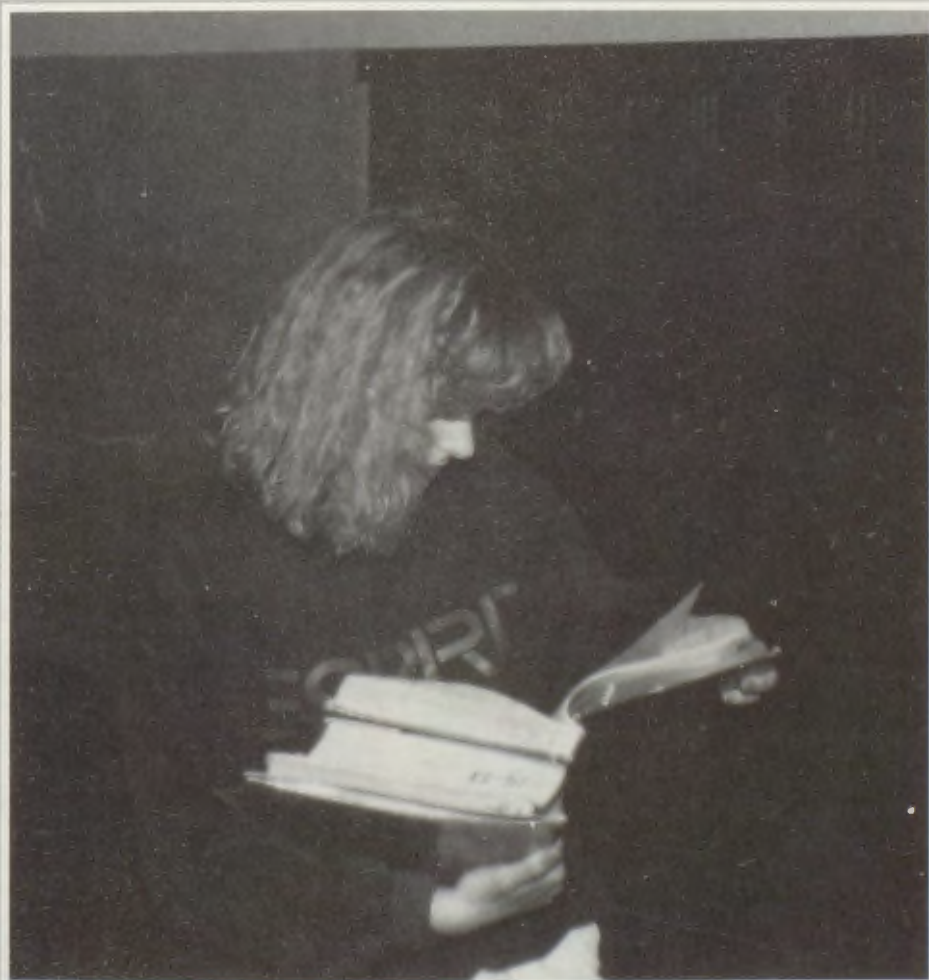

It seems Sally had been late to Chemistry a few too many times. Flustered, she darted off to her next class on her way she tripped over the shoelace she forgot to tie. Books and papers flew everywhere. Near tears, Sally slithered off to her next class. Finally, lunch came, but Sally found herself with no $. After bumming fifty cents off a freshman for some milk and a Nutty Bar, Sally sat down at her crowded lunch table. After she devoured her meager meal she attempted to toss her wrappers into the garbage - airball! Her miss amused the rest of the lunchroom.

At long last Sally made it to her car, but it wouldn't start. She reluctantly hopped aboard the bus and rode home. Home at last! Sally hoped to find some rest and relaxation. Tough luck, Sally! She was ordered to clean her messy room and do her homework. So finally after many hours of hard work, Sally finally went to bed and slept the semi-peaceful night away, only to find herself going through the entire ordeal of school many more times in the future.

Sound familiar? Yes, many students do, angrily, find OHS to be much less than a place of tranquil learning and happiness. Don't fret, soon you'll find yourself on the outside looking in — with a job or college ahead. Who ever said OHS was so bad?

— Anne Witte

Loads of homework and heavy books can drag down the day.

1990 Prediction ANYTHING GOES!

What does it take these days to be a cool dresser? Anything except bellbottoms, ruffles, skin tight cut-off-y our-circulation-leather outfits, sailor suits and knee-high nylons, rolled down to the ankles. Such things as concert shirts, rolled up bleached jeans, cardigans, vests, college sweatshirts and anything oversized are in. All types of accessories are also in from bangly bracelets and dangly earrings to rings on every finger and buttons. Leather jackets are hot and many items from the 60's are making their comeback.

This day and age is more than just plain black and white. It's neons, neutrals, pastels, stripes, flowers, plaids, and abstracts.

Even teachers are getting into a more laid back look. Various teachers have been spotted sporting jeans, t's, cowboy boots, and tennies. Whoa!

For the most part students are pretty carefree about the clothes they wear. Brent Meyers said, "I'll wear what I want to wear, not what people think I have to wear to be popular."

Today's fashion world is ever changing, from the frilly dresses and powdered wigs of the 14th century, to the hip-hop look of the 80's. It's changed in years gone by and it will continue to change in years to come.

Just another boring weekend?

It's Saturday night and you're bored stiff!! So whatcha' gonna do? In September you probably would've said, "Go to a dance," but school dances now are a fast-fading social event. Why, you might ask? As Shawn McNamer said, "The beginning of the year was great, but after everyone heard about the breathalyzer test they didn't want to come." Although there is a breathalyzer at OHS, it is only used when there is just cause. There was also talk of 8-11 p. m. dances as opposed to the 9-12 dances in hopes of curbing the drinking problem. Along with earlier dances came a dress code. These ideas were declared irrelevant to the problem at hand.

Student Council Advisor Mary O'Brien commented on the drinking at dances. "Kids are taking a terrible risk by getting addicted at an early age. We're making an attempt to change things."

As the attendance of high school dances is decreasing, the attendance of Coliseum dances are booming. The reason? "Anything goes," Derek Anfinson stated. Anything does go, and sooner or later ANYONE can end up in jail.

Pep Assembly Raises School Spirit

Ecitement filled the OHS auditorium for the 1989 Homecoming Pep Assembly. Now Playing: Homecoming '89 was this year's theme.

The assembly started out with the football players and their dance partners doing a tap dance to the Broadway song "ONE".

This led into various skits including, "The Wizard of Oz" acted out by the OHS volleyball team. Dan Canny's imitation of the ever-popular Dr. Science was a big hit.

The auditorium was silent while Mary Magrane ripped through the envelope and announced that Mendy Paris and Matt Woodruff would be the 1989 Homecoming King and Queen.

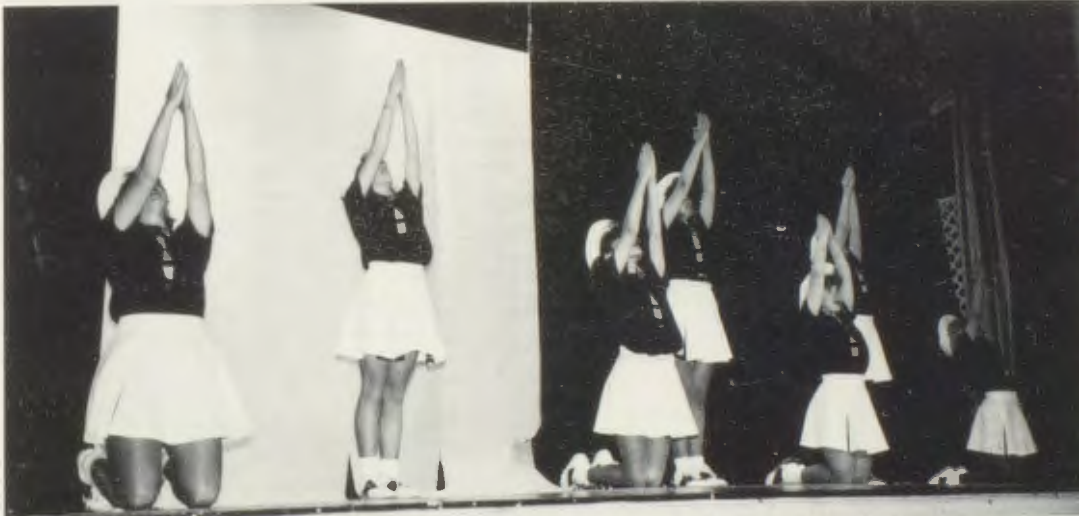

Congratulations, Mindy and Matt and to the Student Council for raising school spirit in yet another successful pep assembly.

Trojans snap Bulldog 8-year Homecoming streak lthough OHS lost the last home game of the year as well as Homecoming, it was a very exciting game with a lot of scoring. Moo Baccam and Bill Farrington had a big game, Farrington with a 80-yard touchdown run with the help of Jay Thode who made two points to tie the game. Rich Meadows also had a 17-yard touchdown run in the second period.

Unfortunately, Fairfield continued to answer with touchdowns of their own. Several questionable calls late in the game could have made the difference, but it was not to be. This is the first time in eight years that Ottumwa has lost Homecoming. Fairfield won the contest 35-28.

During halftime, Nathan Jongewaard introduced the Homecoming Court and finally the Homecoming King and Queen, Matt Woodruff and Mandy Paris. The band, drill team and fireworks made the evening so special whether we won the game or not. We all had an exciting evening to remember for years to come.

— Leslie Menders

«Touchdown! Although Ottumwa lost the Homecoming game, they kept the game close by scoring 28 points.

«Even though the game ended in defeat, the Bulldogs maintained spirit and enthusiasm for each point scored.

Homecoming '89 holds memories for all

Homecoming '89 was a week full of fun and surprises.

The week started off with the Junior and Senior Girls' Powder Puff games. The girls battled it out with the Senior Blue Team dominating the Junior Red Team.

Tuesday evening, Student Council sponsored the annual Hog Roast where different activities such as the Chubby Bunnies took place.

Students were treated to an in-school assembly featuring guest speaker Dano/Dr. Science, Dan Coffey.

Thursday evening featured the Homecoming Parade followed by the Bonfire. The Junior Class once again won the float competition with a spin-off of Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom.

The Homecoming Football game dampened spirits with the loss of our team 35-28, but still celebrated like a victory.

Saturday night concluded the week festivities with a dance. Junior Jeanne Taylor said, "I liked the whole week of events, but I was disappointed that we lost the game."

Spirit runs high for 1990: THE WONDER YEAR

Spirit Week was a fun filled week to break away the winter blahs. The week started off with Casino Night. Students played Blackjack, Roulette and Poker and won many fantastic prizes.

Tuesday was Ottumwa Apparel Day and students wore their Ottumwa apparel and showed their Ottumwa pride.

The middle of the week was Twin Day and attendance/no tardies day. A contest was held for class participation. The Junior Class won $100.

Thursday ended up being a snow day and the activity, Wheel of Wonder, was postponed for two weeks.

The week ended with a pep assembly and a boys' basketball game. They were defeated by two points.

Student Council Advisor, Mary O'Brien, said she believed that Spirit Week was "a lot of fun." Casino Night and the basketball game on Tuesday were well attended.

Junior Steve Sporer, the school projects week co-chairman for Student Council said, "I think Spirit Week was really great! I was really pleased with the outcome!"

Spirit Week was lots of fun for everyone and as said by Freshman Julie Dawson, "It was a nice change after Semester Tests."

What will YOU miss at OHS?

What will every graduate miss most about OHS? that alarm ringing early every morning? the many hours spent in classes? or just as many doing homework? or could the main reason be all those friends we went to school with?

Senior Chuck Eaton of The Motor Heads (Voc. Auto class) said, "I'll probably miss most of all the fast times and all the trouble I got into." Senior Joey Davis added, "All the crazy things we did and all the trouble we caused, I guess we were a bunch of gear heads." Terry Emery remembered, "All the hard work done in Brett Phippen's class, and the time I stole his gas out of the can." James Young said, "All my friends is what I'll miss most." There always will be one like Jason Larson who said, "All the woman at OHS is what I'll miss most about OHS. "The dances and all my friends" is what Mary Reed will miss most about OHS.

When we finally become a Senior and think of this question, we'll have some of these answers and a whole lot more.

F. L. O. W.

For the Love of Our World

Many OHS students have recently expressed concern for the condition of our earth. These students decided to form an environmental group called F. L. O. W., for the Love of Our World.

Although for Earth Day the group hadn't quite organized, a few individuals participated in activities at Pioneer Ridge Nature Center. Some church groups picked up garbage, and afternoon picnics. It is unfortunate that many students haven't heard of Earth Day before this year, but Anne Witte remembers participating in Earth Day activities in fourth grade in the Iowa City School District.

Witte has always been concerned about the environment and is a member of Greenpeace. Witte commented, "I am a member of Greenpeace, but I do not condone their radical behavior."

Steve Vittitoe said, "I was scared by the things I read about and saw on T. V."

F. L. O. W. is collecting used paper from classrooms and they're taking it to Iowa City to be recycled. They hold their meetings outside when weather permits and plan other activities.

Witte says about the group, "It's not just trendy for us because we really are concerned."

Vittitoe also commented, "It doesn't do any good to set aside one day each year to care about something. I try to be environmentally conscious every day."

Members of F. L. O. W. used Earth Day as a starter for the group. Vittitoe stated, "Our main objective is to educate and then improve awareness." The group went to several elementary schools and feels awareness should begin there.

F. L. O. W. provided some facts and helpful hints:

*In the U. S. alone we create 160 billion tons of garbage every year.

*People need to stop wasting paper. Wasting paper kills trees and we need them to help clean the air.

*Buy items in bulk to avoid excessive packaging.

*Don't leave the water running while brushing your teeth.

*Take showers in five minutes or less.

*Use items made of recycled paper.

*Recycle plastic, paper, glass, and aluminum.

*Pick-up litter.

Springfest '90 theme says

Let's have FUN, FUN, FUN!!

This year's theme for Springfest was "Fun, Fun, Fun" and that's exactly what OHS did.

The week started off with a Luau, but unfortunately it was cancelled along with Thursday's activity, sand volleyball.

On Tuesday, two assemblies were held for the guest speaker, Mark Sharonbroich. He spoke on what it is like to be a teenager. Several OHS students commented that he was the best speaker that has come to OHS. This was Sharonbroich's third appearance here.

Wednesday was Silly Slipper Day. Many students roamed the halls decked out in moose-head slippers, puppydog slippers, and regular house slippers.

The Pep Assembly on Friday was filled with many humorous skits by Student Council and a smashing performance by the Spiriteers.

The week concluded with the Hula Hop Dance on Saturday.

Prom '90

At last, the night that everyone had been waiting for finally arrived. The theme for the 1990 OHS Prom was Total Eclipse. Indian Hills Community College's Student Life Center was beautifully decorated in black, silver, and purple. "The decorations were great!" said Steve Sporer.

This night had been well planned for months in advance. Picking that perfect dress, renting the tuxes, ordering flowers, and making reservations to eat had all been taken care of way before this special night began.

As prom-goers walked into Hellyer Life Center, they heard sounds played by Twilight Productions. It featured a laser light show never seen before in this area. As the couples walked in, it was a gorgeous scene to remember. Chad Roberts said, "The laser show was cool."

Couples danced to all kinds of songs. Fast dancing was a favorite for most. Senior Dany Woollums commented, "Out of all the dances and formals I've been to in four years, this year's prom was the best night of my life."

As the night gradually ended, the song Total Eclipse of the Heart escorted the couples out the door. At last, prom night was only a memory that will be remembered forever.

"HAVE A TARGET — HAVE A GOAL"

Class of 1990 enters a decade of hope

" If you aim at nothing, you'll hit it — it's important to have a target, a goal."

This was the message given to the Class of 1990 by commencement speaker Mr. Bob Dean. Mr. Dean emphasized the importance of setting goals and doing everything possible to attain them. He also told the graduates to "sit back, relax, and enjoy it — you deserve it!"

Senior Class President Scott Anderson also spoke to the graduates. He shared memories of kindergarten through high school — the highlights and "black holes." Anderson also thanked all those that made this special day possible — parents, teachers, administrators, cooks, and custodians.

Then, May 20, 1990, at 2:39 pm, it became official. The Class of '90, for the very last time, marched one by one to the stage a received a diploma ending 13 years of public education. "We are proud, we are mighty, we're the Class of 1990!" echoed throughout Schaefer Stadium as red caps flew through the air. A few hugs, a few tears, many good-bye's ended a day that will only be a memory tomorrow.

WHAT WILL THE 90'S BRING?

Weightlifting has become a popular sport for many at OHS to stay in shape in off-seasons.

How to stay fit.

Why?

- 1) Aerobics
- 2) Cross-training
- 3) Sports
- 4) Eat healthy foods

- 1) Lose weight
- 2) Feel better
- 3) Get a date (see 1)

— Anne Witte

ARE YOU ON A Health Kick?

Before you go to school, do you stand in front of the mirror for that final check? First, with your eyes open, then closed, then slowly opening one, then the other, to find that, unfortunately, nothing's changed? This is a common ritual for teenagers.

If there was one thing most teens would choose to change, it would be their weight. Everyone wants to be thin.

Leslie Meinders said that most teens are concerned with their weight because, "Everyone wants to fit in with the crowd, no one wants to feel left out."

Not only are teens concerned with weight, but also their health. More and more teens are participating in sports, aerobics and personal exercises.

Anne Witte, a junior, feels that being in high school does not affect her feelings toward her weight. She said, "Most people who are concerned with their weight, will be forever, not just to get a date."

Teenagers involved in sports are also concerned about their health. They want to stay in shape so they can reach their highest potential and to avoid injuries.

Whether it's to participate in a sport, to look good, or to feel good, teenagers are becoming more and more health conscious. Before and after school the weight room is usually crowded with people toning up.

Participating in extra-curricular activities often leaves little time to prepare and eat three healthy meals a day, seven days a week. Just to grab an apple after school or on the way to practice satisfies our health conscious teens.

— Betty Rupe

— Jos Drew

While Doug Bookin works out in the OHS weight-room, Mendy Paris joined cross-country to keep fit.

SHOP TILL YOU

DROP

Has teenage recreation changed in recent years? Of course! With time, comes change. Teens find other interests or get bored with current fads and fashions. What do they do? Shop! It gives them something to do and try new and exciting things.

Most teens agree there is a limited number of clothing shops in Ottumwa and often have to take trips to Des Moines, Oskaloosa, and Iowa City. There are a few popular stores in Ottumwa such as Maurice's, Herbergers, and Sigels. Also, the new mall is coming. Most students approve of the new mall and Kari Hatfield said, "The new mall is a good investment for Ottumwa."

Most students say that when they go shopping, they take every dime they have and take off on payday.

Most of today's teenagers are buying clothes, tapes, C. D.'s, and general items that they feel they need.

Hatfield said, "I spend almost my entire paycheck on clothes."

Kimi Farrell, a senior at OHS, said she enjoys buying things for other people and said she hardly ever spends money on herself.

"I like buying things for my boyfriend Koree."

Prices on today's fads sometimes tend to seem unreasonable for the average under-paid teenager. But Farrell said, "You can usually get clothes for reasonable prices, if you shop around."

But shopping around with a group can be complicated.

Senior Julie Mitchell said, "I'd rather shop alone so I can be free to choose the stores."

Also, shopping with parents is a dreadful occasion.

Junior Mike Lee said, "I don't like to shop with my mom because our tastes clash."

Shopping has been a popular past time for teens for many years, fads, fashions, and interests will change and teens will go straight to the shops and buy them, just as they have done before.

lost in the Shuffle?

When asked once how he would like to be remembered, comedian and actor Jackie Gleason replied, "Heck, I'd just like to be remembered!" That's the story for the Class of 1990 as well. We haven't done anything really outstandingly bad or anything marvelously good. Class President Scott Anderson believes, "It is very difficult to stand out." However, he also feels, "Our class was very successful in the activities it sponsored; class floats and prom were excellent."

Most members of the Class of '90 don't really feel that it made any one permanent mark on the school. Academically we were very competent, and we showed determination to win in class competitions. Our class spirit was good, but not exceptional, but we seemed very close. Our loyalty was not so much to OHS as to each other. We were the first class that was together from 7th grade from Evans on and it showed in the general attitude of togetherness.

Perhaps we have not been a class that will be remembered by future students at OHS, but the Class of 1990 will undoubtedly remember each other and the times we have had at Ottumwa High.

With 12 years behind them, it's Seniors time to RELAX!!

Do you feel a sense of relief, thirteen years of school, day in day out, month after month, year after year or, do you feel a sense of loss not seeing all the kids you've gone to school with for years around every day? Just think of all the good times that you have in high school that will be gone forever — dances, ballgames, Homecoming, and Prom.

How do most seniors feel about their last year of school at OHS? "Relief! After years of school I'm sick of it, but I wish I would have worked harder on my grades," said Sean Murphy.

In a way I'm relieved but it's kind of scary knowing I'm not coming back next year," said Jos Drew.

"It's great, I can hardly wait to get out," said Kimi Farrell.

"I'm very excited about getting out of here, I'm not at all sad" said Mendy Paris.

When the seniors walk around the track at Shaeffer Stadium for the last time on Graduation Day all of them will be sad and may even shed a tear for all that has gone past that will never be regained. We all regret not trying harder for those good grades but nobody thinks that time will go by so fast, until it is gone.

Expenses, expenses, expenses! Checks gone before they arrive, car payments, insurance premiums, buying clothes with the right labels, and still keeping out a little to actually have fun! Well, underclassmen it gets worse! Just wait till you hit your senior year! Seniors pay dearly for the privilege of being a seniors.

Think of all the things that only seniors have to pay for. Senior pictures alone can cost as much as $600.00. Senior Angie Couch said, "It really zapped me when I went in to get my pictures today! Even after they took $100.00 off it still cost me $150.00 just for the first half!"

Of course, everyone knows that senior pictures are just one thing on a long list of special expenses for seniors. You can't go without your cap and gown and don't forget the nightmare of college applications! Not only do they ask you what size shoe your grandmother wears, they also need at least $10.00 to process the information! Remember ACT tests, the money your parents think you should be saving for college, the speeding tickets you get rushing scholarship applications to the post office to get them post-marked TODAY! It makes you feel like senior Tami Munley when she said, "Our parents brought us into this world, they should have to pay for all this stuff!"

After all that, you have to start on the task of getting everything together for senior prom. Other proms are fun, but senior prom is special. No expense is too great. Tux, dress, shoes, jewelry, limo, you name it, we buy it, rent it, or steal it just to make sure everything is perfect.

Then the final biggie, graduation. All the cards and announcements we never see. Memory books, rings, tassels, gifts for your best friends, and then the fun part — your graduation party! Not the one in the afternoon with Mom and Dad and Aunt Myrtle, but the one they never really hear about. The fun one!

With all these pressures and expenses is it any wonder you see seniors walking around in a daze?

Siblings in School

It's not all that bad.

"It was strange at first but kind of nice to see her in the halls everyday." — Jackie Bragg

What is it like having a sister or brother in high school at the same time? Many of us who don't have brothers or sisters think it would be neat. There are good and bad points to consider.

Jackie Bragg, a senior, and her sister Jenny who is a sophomore both had their own ideas. "It was strange at first but kind of nice to see her in the halls every day," said Jackie. She feels they have a normal sister relationship. The girls are both in the same sport activities. The first time Jenny beat Jackie in Cross-Country she was shocked but said, "Now I can accept it. I would rather see my sister win than anyone else." Jenny said they get along pretty good but, "When we fight it's over really stupid things." As far as sports are concerned, "I don't like to compete against her, I can beat her at Cross-Country but not at shorter distances," said Jenny. Both girls think they are alike in certain ways.

Shawn Fuller thinks it's terrible having a younger brother in school, but brother Shane says, "It doesn't really matter because I never see him." They both agree they get along fine at school but they have a tendency to argue at home. As far as sports are concerned, "I always have someone to practice with," said Shane and helping each other makes us more competitive. Shawn also feels they're different in a lot of ways but said, "I am willing to admit that he is my brother."

It's no joke . . . it's a crime!

To many, street sign theft seems like a harmless prank, but the truth is that Ottumwa spends approximately $4,000 a year on sign replacement according to Lester Hobbs of the Ottumwa Streets Department.

Student number one reveals, "I've accumulated ten or so, my most prized is the one with my last name on it!"

But why do people steal street signs, knowing it's a serious offense?

Student number two replies, "I took down the sign for my street so I could remember where I live."

Besides names of streets, the stop sign holds a place in many hearts. "A thirty-inch stop sign can cost $30-$40, not including labor," commented Ottumwa purchasing agent Don Stevens.

Several posters concerning street sign theft have been placed throughout our school, but do people really read them?

The general consensus said no. Well, the posters distributed by the Iowa Department of Transportation, say the maximum fine for being caught stealing a sign is $1,000 and a jail term could consist of one year. A mere possession would be $100 and/or 30 days in jail.

Hobbs also said approximately two-hundred street signs are stolen a year.

"Street signs are placed for a reason. If a pedestrian crossing or a railroad crossing sign were missing, the end result could be fatal!" expressed student number three.

The message here is clear, street sign theft is a serious crime. The next time you consider stealing any type of street sign, remember the direct and indirect consequences.

We've all seen those yellow signs in teachers' rooms warning about sign theft . . .

But just how serious is it?

"There is quite a diversity of girls in every sorority, and most of us have many friends in other sororities."—Chrys Chestnut

About 120 high school girls are involved in something pretty exciting.. It's fun, sometimes expensive, and worthwhile. It's a high school sorority!

This year, sororities came under fire by school officials claiming that these secret organizations are possibly illegal for high school students. Both sides presented their cases at a board meeting and a decision will be made by the next school year.

In Ottumwa there are three of these sororities: TAK, Tes Trams and 4 O'clock's. So exactly what do these young ladies do? "A lot of fundraising!" said Junior Angie Hammersley of 4 O'clock sorority. Each sorority holds an annual dance and gives the profits to a local charity. TAK donates money to the Center of Hope, Tes Trams to Harold Hughes Hall and 4 O'clock to Ottumwa Regional Health Center.

Chrys Chestnut, secretary for Tes Trams, says that her sorority duties aren't terribly time consuming and she always enjoy it. "It teaches me responsibility."

The main yearly fundraiser is the formal ball. Preparing for this event is very time consuming. Themes have to be chosen, decorations have to be decided upon, ordered, then put up, dresses have to be found and, the hum-dinger of them all, dates have to be found. Renting a tux can be a costly nightmare for any high school boy, but it's a burden most are willing to bear. Pat Streeby commented that he enjoyed dressing up for dances "once in a while."

With these sororities in town wouldn't you expect some competition? Chrys Chestnut quickly dispelled that rumor, "There is quite a diversity of girls in every sorority, and most of us have many friends in other sororities."

High school sororities give girls a chance to take charge and accept responsibility. And, of course, to have fun.

Students List

FAVORITE POSSESSIONS

Most of us have something that we just couldn't live without, but it may take a few minutes to think of it. I asked several students at OHS just what that thing might be. Most OHS students seemed to fall into two general groups; those for whom the practicality is most important, and those for whom sentimental value wins out.

The first group, the practicality people, started immediately with their cars. Next came money, followed by important documents such as driver's license and social security cards. One student said that she couldn't live without her make-up and another is convinced that without her electric blanket she would perish. Some also included their computers and many listed jewelry.

In the second group we find more whimsical attachments such as one girl's desperate need of her pumpkin paraphernalia. Pictures ranked high among many people's priorities and pets come in a close second. Bruno and Otto, the fish, were a clear favorite. Stuffed animals, diaries, favorite tapes and golf clubs were also among the items listed by these sentimental students.

A Sign Of The Times

around now.*

The tables have turned because the times, they are a-changin. Young girls all over the world no longer have their eyes fixed to the phone, willing it to ring. Those same young girls are now taking control and calling up the boys of their "dreams" and asking them out.

"I like to ask guys out. It's cool, and it's a lot better than waiting around for them to get up the nerve," said Junior Janelle Walsh, "I don't see anything wrong with it." Well, apparently boys don't have a problem with being asked out either. Sophomore Clint Clement commented, "I don't have a problem with it." So possibly we've finally emerged from the dark ages and girls finally feel free to ask out any boy they please.

"It's almost 1990! Of course, I'll ask out a guy if I like him," commented Janelle Walsh.

"I like to ask guys out. It's cool, and it's a lot better than waiting around for them to get up the nerve." — Janelle Walsh

Okay, now with all of these girls asking all of these guys out where do they go?

It's pretty much the same as any other date. Dinner, a movie, or a dance. But who pays? "I always pay when I ask the guy out. I'd feel like a freeloader if I didn't pay," said Walsh.

So if you're a dateless young lady, join the crowd and ask a guy out.

Well-Prepared Officers

The Class of '91 is once again having a productive year. During Homecoming the juniors displayed another 1st prize float. Also, members of the class are vigorously brainstorming for Prom theme ideas.

The 1989-90 class officers are Gary Kilmer, President; Rob Fisher, Vice-President; Stacy Ogier, Secretary; and Andrea Fairchild, Treasurer. But these fabulous four are only a small portion of the Junior Class, but they represent the amazing spirit of the class. Kilmer commented, "The Junior Class is full of hard-workers and determined students."

With all of these fabulous accomplishments, Ogier remarked, "We don't have any pressures during the middle of the year. Homecoming was rather hectic and I imagine Prom will be too." Even though being a class officer requires some extra time and effort, Kilmer plans to definitely run for a third term and Fisher, Fairchild and Ogier are considering doing the same.

Kilmer directed some of the glory to the class sponsors. "The Junior Class is lucky to have four of the best sponsors one could ask for."

The efforts of this year's foursome have certainly paid off. Worries of inabilities to repeat the great projects of the past do remain on the backs of everyone's mind. If anyone can repeat success, the Class of '91 can do it!

Transportation

Students have various ways of getting around town

Looking over the student parking lot will give a very good perspective of the different types of cars the students drive today, from Escorts to pick-up trucks. The variety is wide. Many of the students drive to school, and one can tell the different tastes in cars. You may even see an old Chevy or Ford like our parents drove to school in the 60's. Economy is a big factor when we buy our first car now-a-days, four or six-cylinders seems to be the cheapest way to go and still look

"sporty" which is very important. "The way it looks is very important," said Rachel Furnald. She drives a Dodge Colt.

Of course, some of us who aren't fortunate enough to have our own car, "get to" drive the family car to school. That's quite evident in the station wagons and larger cars that sit in those same parking lots. There are also some who drive trucks and cars in various stages of repair or dis-repair, from beds missing off the trucks to rebuilt engines.

Julie Rowland drives a 1975 Malibu. "It looks nice and runs good," said Julie.

Mike Carr who drives a Fiero GT says he likes the way it looks. "It is supposedly suppose to go up to 130 mph", said Mike.

"Time was dragging on and on and on . . . "

Time is dragging on and your once bearable desk is now torturing you. Boredom has once again caught up with you.

Why is everyone so bored? A variety of things provide for a dull atmosphere for students. Junior Stacy Ogier said, "Lectures are the worst! I can fall asleep, but I can't concentrate. It's a real bummer!" Other boring classroom events include long films, busy work, in-class readings, listening to speeches and quiet study periods.

What can be done when time is passing as slow as cold molasses? Any escape from whatever is going on in the classroom is fine. Junior Joe Olujic likes to crack jokes while others talk to classmates, and count things in the classroom. Did you know that there are 100 dots on each ceiling tile? Some students stare at posters on the walls or just off into space. Junior Eric Hilfers occupies himself by twirling his pencil. Senior Amy Bishop likes to eat when she is bored and Junior Erin Voelliger cheerfully commented, "I love school! I never get bored!"

Even though school often seems to be drier than dust, don't fear, there are many ways to ease the drudgery while you're waiting for the bell to ring.

Sometimes a 60x14x6 space Just Isn't Enough!

What is orange, blue, or red and causes tremendous anger in OHS students? The micro-mini lockers. Is this a joke? No, it's the locker problem at the Otumwa High School.

Most students agreed that in the winter is the worst time to have a small locker.

Kari Hatfield, a junior at OHS said, "It's too hard to cram your coat, bag and books all into one tiny, little locker."

Some students share a small locker with their friends. With one student's books piled on the top shelf and the other's on the bottom. There are two coats, two bags and two sets of books for each student. It makes us wonder if it's really worth it?

Jenna Bedford said, "Andrea Fairchild and I have shared a locker for two years and we drive each other crazy trying to get in and out of it in five minutes."

Fairchild admits that, "It sometimes puts our friendship to the test."

Students complain that the 60x14x6 lockers are not only too small but too close together. There seems to be absolutely no room for people to move around.

Cindy Crouse admits there is a definite need for space. "People always seem to be in my way or I'm in the way of other people."

The question remains-How can something so small cause so much harm?

— Betty Rupe

►No wasted space here! Using an OHS student locker takes ingenuity and planning (and some brute strength).

A D^oie or Situation ??

Three minutes before the bell and you remember the test. Better late than never, you decide to get out the book and read the chapter. How anyone expects to read 20 pages in three minutes, is beyond comprehension. You realize that you're a goner and look for an escape route.

A.) Try your best and accept the grade.

B.) Go to the nurse and forget about it.

C.) Cheat.

The majority of high school students would choose answer c, cheat.

Why? It's easy.

A sophomore at OHS said, "When I know I'll do really bad, I'll cheat. It's the easy way out and it takes no brain power."

How do students cheat?

There are a variety of ways students bend the rules.

Cheat sheets, writing on tables, arms, or hands, and the ever-popular, copying from the nearest neighbor.

What are the teachers doing while this is going on? Surprisingly enough, teachers realize this is taking place and they can single out the cheaters.

The symptoms of a cheater include nervousness, looking around the room, and shying away from eye contact with the teacher.

Mr. Graziano, an English teacher at OHS takes cheating seriously and said, "My policy on cheating on a test is no credit for the test and a letter is sent home to the parents."

Students see the situation as do or die. Either fail the test or take the chance and cheat. If they get caught, they accept the punishment.

"Students believe that they can get away with it and sometimes they do," said Mr. Waldorf, a student teacher at OHS. "But the only person the 'Cheaters' are cheating is themselves."

Well-prepared officers of '92 are ready for THE NEXT STEP

This year's Sophomore Class Officers consists of Dan Canny, President; Ashley Oswalt, Vice-President; Alesha Holtsman, Secretary; and Brenda Mahaskey. Most of these students were officers last year and know the ropes.

Being a class officer occupies a lot of time during fundraisers and Homecoming, but otherwise it's a pretty simple job.

The Class of '92 looks financially prepared for Prom next year, providing everyone in the class pays class dues.

The main fundraiser for the Sophomores was a dance. A pop can drive and maybe selling candy bars will be set up later in the year.

What are the advantages of being a class officer? Brenda Mahaskey said, "I get to help make decisions that affect the entire class."

The extremely dedicated and helpful sponsors for this class are Mr. and Mrs. Cassill and Miss Miller.

Dan, Brenda, Ashley and Alesha plan on guiding their class once again next year.

Are Superstitions Really

NONSENSE?

Remember grade school? Step on a crack, break your mother's back? Obviously, most of us outgrew that one. But, superstitions are still very popular.

Athletes, for example, have their own personal superstitions. Wearing lucky socks to a game, using lucky charms, and often times, carrying a picture of their families is enough to pull them through.

During the Halloween season, people really let their superstitions take over. Wanda Scully, a junior at Ottumwa High School, said, "I'm not really superstitious, but it's fun to get into the spirit at Halloween."

Friday the thirteenth is another unlucky day for some people. It's the day they lock their doors for fear that Jason will strike again.

Webster's dictionary clearly defines the word superstition as, a belief in, or fear of the unknown or the supernatural. The unknown can be a number of things. The outcome of a game, answer to a problem, or even who will be the next person to walk through the door. Having something to believe in helps to even out the fear.

Avoiding ladders, throwing salt over the shoulder, or knocking on wood before a tough challenge are also common, everyday superstitions. And, everyone is careful around mirrors.

Superstitions can be fun. It's an easy way to avoid fear, or, at least, to tame it. Besides, most people would be quicker to admit to being superstitious than to admit to being afraid.

Gross Anatomy?

When most students think of Biology, they think of dissection. But that's not what Bio is all about.

Technically, Biology is the study of living organisms. During one unit of the course, students have the choice to dissect or not to dissect. For those who choose dissection, students have the option of wearing gloves.

Students are responsible for the information covered in the unit. If they choose not to dissect, it doesn't affect their grade.

Junior Tiffany Hunt, who has dissected frogs, sharks, and grasshoppers, said, "Dissecting really didn't bother me. But when I dissected the shark, it really smelled bad."

Students dissected by-products of the meat industry, usually organs. The science teachers obtain organs, from local meat lockers and Excel.

So far this year the students response has been good. Hunt also stated, "I learned and remembered from the dissection, but I probably would have learned the same from a model."

If you are having any doubts about dissection in your science courses, fear no more. Options are always available.

DRIVER ED:

A necessary evil?

Driver Education. A tedious course we must all endure to obtain our driver's license.

Truthfully, Driver Ed. does give many inexperienced drivers a chance to practice, and to scare their teachers out of their minds!

Driver Ed. can also provide some entertaining and hair raising stories. "One girl in my car almost caused a five car collision. I was scared to death!" remarked one student.

"In my car, this boy hit a parked car while we were practicing parallel parking. I thought it was pretty funny," commented one Senior.

Driving isn't the only aspect of Driver Education though. It also includes written assignments from a textbook and simulation driving. "Simulation is a drag," said Junior Erin Voelliger as she recalled the many hours she spent in her simulation "car".

Sheri Stolz remembered her written assignments to be "a complete joke."

Okay, so Driver Ed. probably isn't one of the most difficult classes offered at the high school. But after you pass, finally you may bask in the glory and freedom of having a driver's license. (A car to drive is an entirely different subject!)

Without the completion of Driver Education, one would have to resort to bumming rides, as so many freshmen do. So, maybe if it only saves you the embarrassment of being mistaken for a freshman it is a good idea to take Driver Ed. and get your license.

FREE TIME? What free time?

What do you do after school? Watch cartoons? Eat? Go to work? OHS students do various activities after school. Sophomore Jaime Koettel watches Chip & Dale Rescue Rangers and Super Mario Brothers. He is also responsible for feeding the dog. He has three brothers so chores are rotated.

Junior Laura Berry goes to her boyfriend's house or downtown after school. She's also responsible for cleaning the house. Even with all these after school activities, Laura holds down two jobs. She's expected to be at work at 5 P.M.

call her beloved boyfriend! She then chows while watching the Brady Bunch and Gilligan's Island. If she has to work, she goes in at five.

Betty, Laura, and Jamie all agreed that homework should be saved for later. Laura Berry said, "Starting your homework right after school can really put a damper on your evening."

Jamie Koettel commented, "Since I live in the country, I can't do many things after school because my ride home is the bus."

Everyone's after school routines are different but the same. With work, clubs and school activities it's hard for OHS students to have their own time.

Freshman officers take new responsibilities

IN STRIDE

Being a freshman is tough what with trying to find where you're going trying to keep your grades up and learning not to take directions from upperclassmen. It's especially tough being a freshman class officer. Even though there are no specific jobs for the officers to do the pressures are still there.

There are only a few fund-raisers in the making such as a car-wash, a pop can drive and a dance. These activities are all in preparation for Prom, which will cost approximately $2,000.

So what's so great about being a freshman class officer? For Michelle Delaney, class secretary, "It's being in charge and knowing I can make a difference."

Treasurer Tara Dusil said, "It helps you to be a better person. To be a class officer, one needs to be responsible and also keep grades up. Otherwise you will be replaced."

Other class officers include: Michelle Howerton, President; Doran Schrantz, President; and Jenny White, Vice-President.

Have you ever been stuck in a place you really didn't want to be, but you were too soft-hearted to back out? It's happened to all of us at one time or another.

How do you get out of it? The key point is don't use the same excuse over and over. It gets suspicious.

Now let's say your parents are going out of town for the weekend and, of course, they want you to come along. You naturally have other plans. Party time!! Parents aren't as stupid as we may think. Nowadays they don't fall for the old, "but I don't feel like going" line. If you want to stay home, give them the impression you're a mature young adult. Tell them you have homework. Long-term assignments usually work best. This tells your parents you use your time wisely, plus you can use it for later reference.

"Let's just be friends." Oh no! The killer phrase! Those four words can cut a person's self-confidence to shreds in no time flat. Okay, picture the most disgusting, grotesque, and pathetic person you can think of. Now picture this person asking you out. What do you say as to not hurt their feelings when you reject them? A nice way to get out of going is to tell him your uncle from Zimbabwe is visiting and you'd like to spend some time with him. Also, the imaginary boyfriend/girlfriend is a good one especially if they're from out of town. Don't tell them you have to stay home to wash your hair or mow the lawn. Big mistake!

When it comes to homework there are many excuses to use. Teachers aren't stupid either, so things like "my dog ate it" or "it blew out the window" don't cut it. Some teachers accept "I left it at home" or "I didn't understand it", but most don't believe them. Give them something original. Something like, "My parents are housebreaking my puppy and they used my homework as carpet." Sure they won't buy it, but it's a nice change.

What's the point of excuses? Why not just tell the truth? People don't like to make themselves look bad and they're much more fun!

DJ's keep dances lively

Dances are one of OHS's many fun weekend activities. There are several different disc jockey companies that crank out the tunes for our school dances. A few of these are Murphy Sound, 97.7 Ottumwa, and K96 Fairfield/Ottumwa.

D.J. Mike Paulos, who has worked for both 97.7 and K96, likes to work dances with heavier music and says dances are "fun to do every once and a while."

So, what does it take to be a dance D.J.? D.J. Tom Palen commented, "You've got to be half-crazy and you've got to have fun with the audience!"

Palen said the D.J.'s are for a variety of occasions, such as wedding receptions, retirement parties, family reunions, and even neighborhood get-togethers.

Disc jockey companies are even willing to travel long distances for exposure. Paulos has traveled throughout Iowa, and Palen has traveled as far north as Madison, WI, south as Oklahoma City, OK, west as Denver, CO, and east as Washington, D.C.

For 97.7, a three-hour dance would cost about $175, and the K96 price runs about $200-250.

Dances usually require one to two D.J.'s and they are responsible for running lights, spinning tunes, and keeping the crowd lively.

What do you students like about our school dances? "Lots of flashing lights and bubbles!" Junior Kari Hatfield exclaimed. She also likes out-of-town D.J.'s and thinks Murphy Sound is good.

Junior Anne Witte revealed that she'd like to hear a wider variety of music.

Regardless of music played, OHS dances are an activity loved by all.

LEFTIES

right-handed world?

Desks, spiral notebooks, and pencil sharpeners. A few perils left-handed students must face every-day.

For lefties, living in a world where everything has been designed for right-handed people can be rough! Since many adjustments are made when lefties are young, most students are adjusted to these changes by now.

Some sports can be awkward and require special equipment. Baseball, golf, bowling, and arm wrestling insure a fight to the end.

Another inconvenience is opening doors with the handle on the left side. Most attempts result in a collision between the door and the opener.

One suggestion from a left-handed driver is, "Don't get a stick shift!" Unless you're extremely coordinated, a stick can be a major struggle!

If you're a lefty and would like to work as a cashier, your dreams may be shattered. Cash registers are designed for right-handed individuals. You may end up sacking instead.

Unfortunately there aren't enough lefties around to make a difference, but it would be nice.

BRACES

Comedy or tragedy?

"I'm definitely ready to get them taken off, but I'm glad that I've had them!" — Julie Bonney Braces. A tragic beginning with a beautiful end. Nearly one-half of kids today either have braces or have worn them.

But why are they so hated? According to Sophomore Erika Ellis, "My lips always get caught on them." Good news, there is a solution!

Merely ask your orthodontist for some wax. Speaking from experience, braces can be a very complicated situation but the results were well worth the wait.

Over the years the technology of braces has changed. Not only is there the wrap around brace, but there's the cemented brace, the "invisible" brace, braces that are placed on the back of the teeth, and removable braces in a retain-er-like form.

Another downfall of having braces is being called ridiculous names, such as the following: Metal Mouth, Brace Face, Silver Smile, Amtrack, Railroad Tracks, and Tinsel Teeth.

According to the office manager of Donovan and Roush, the approximate cost of a 2 1/2 to 3 year duration is about $2,000.

"My braces only give me problems just after they've been tightened," said Senior Julie Bonney.

As best concluded by Junior Mike Lee, "Braces are a high-priced, lip-rippin' deal."

— Patrice Miller

Are Seniors gods??

During the freshmen year at OHS students always want to look up to seniors who are good in sports and who are popular in order to get in with the crowd.

The underclassmen rely on seniors. They may not believe that, but it is very true. Seniors do not know where they are headed until they are gone from OHS.

Bruce Allen, senior, said, "Seniors have worked hard to get where they are. God only knows where. So they need some gratitude since underclassmen deserve nothing until they are seniors."

Senior Barry McFarland shared Allen's feelings. "Nobody else should have the superiority that we do. We did a lot to get where we are and nobody should have any say of what we do." McFarland added that all other seniors have had the same rights in the past and the rights will come to underclassmen when they are seniors.

"Last year I thought seniors were cool. Now I look at them and I want to throw up," said Sophomore Nicole Walters.

As the Homecoming Court walks down the stairs, ten of the most popular people are ready to appear on the stage in front of the whole student body. Nicole feels that when the Homecoming Court walked on the stage it should have been cleaned off from the previous group. "I feel they deserved better," said Nicole.

Underclassmen have different views towards the Senior Class. Some underclassmen are really jealous of the underclassmen. By the time a student becomes a junior, looking at Seniors as gods goes away rapidly.

Students Against Drunk Driving. S. A. D. D. You probably know that we have a chapter here at OHS, but the majority of students don't have any idea what it's all about.

According to Vice-President Sarah Overturf S. A. D. D.'s purpose is to change people's attitude towards drinking and driving. "She said, 'Most people have already made up their minds about whether or not they will drink, but they shouldn't endanger someone else's life because of that decision.'"

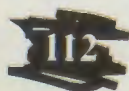

Most students don't realize that the S. A. D. D. chapter here at OHS is really very busy. Last year S. A. D. D. members went into both junior high and elementary classrooms to discuss with students the problem of drunken driving. The organization was also responsible for the placement of cards in the flowers and tuxedos rented for last year's prom. These cards were printed with a safe driving message. Parents received a letter from S. A. D. D. at prom time last year emphasizing the importance of parental awareness in preventing accidents due to teen-age drunk driving.

The message of S. A. D. D. is sometimes misunderstood. S. A. D. D. does not condemn drinking or driving, it merely feels the necessity of a teenage voice in the battle against the combination of the two elements.

Doin' It For The Fun?

(yeah, right.)

The past year has been a hectic one for the Argus staff. Writers were typing, layout people were writing, and everybody was taking pictures. For 180+ days, people worked like crazy to produce a book for YOU.

This is not a job that receives a lot of recognition, and while it's usually fun, we don't always get along the greatest. In order to put this book together, we soon learned to put aside our differences and just do the work.

With just 5 returning staffers, work seemed to get off to a slow start because new staffers had to learn the basics of putting a yearbook together. But the 12 new students learned quickly how to balance time between studying and actually working.

As the year progressed, work went faster and faster and the quality improved greatly. The year went by fast as we hurried to meet deadlines.

The 1990 staff is to be congratulated for meeting each deadline almost a month ahead of time. This is probably the only time they will hear this — God knows I don't say it to them enough — "Thanks, you did a great job! I wish you lots of luck next year!"

Student Council. You've heard of it, you've seen people with sweat-shirts on it, but what is Student Council? Is it just another group of students that sit around and do nothing? Not by a long shot! Student Council does many things for the school and community during the year. They put on such events as Homecoming, Spirit Week, Springfest, and dances. They also put out their own newsletter, the Oracle. At Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Valentine's Day they go around to the senior citizen homes to talk, serve refreshments, and play bingo. Student Council does take a lot of time and effort and they are a big part of things here at OHS.

Corresponding Secretary Julie Baker stated, "It's what you make of it. You can get a lot out of it if you apply yourself."

For as much as they do, recognition is poor and credit is not given where credit is due. This is mainly because people don't really know all that Student Council does.

Next year there will be a new election process for Student Council. It involves a school-wide election, and, for the most part, people accept the idea. Chrys Chestnut, corresponding secretary, said, "I think the next election process is great. More people will be able to vote for their representatives and maybe they will appreciate the organization more."

Other officers include Jason Pigg, President; Scott Mahaskey, Vice President; Eric Burrough, Treasurer; and Kim Berg, Historian.

Mary O'Brien, sponsor for Student Council said of the new election process, "The student initiated change within the Student Council constitution hopefully will be viewed by the student body as a commitment by Student Council to provide fair and quality representation for OHS students."

Hola! Bonjour!

International Club offers students cultural diversity

Hola! Ottumwa High School has been involved with the Student Foreign Exchange Program for many years. It is a way to show young students another way of life. It also shows students from other countries our way of life here in the United States.

OHS practically dedicates an entire club to our foreign exchange students. It is called the International Club. But, the club is for other students also. "Any student interested in learning more about foreign cultures may be a part of the club," said Mrs. Rose Rinderknecht, the group's sponsor.

Most of the students agree that the club is very interesting. "We get together and talk with the other members and the foreign exchange students. It's a lot of fun," said Wanda Scully, a club member.

The big event is the International weekend in January. All area exchange students are invited to attend school on Friday, January 26, then attend a basketball game, and then a lock in. This gives all of the students a chance to get better acquainted with one another. There are other monthly programs in which our exchange students take part. In the spring there is a volleyball game and picnic for all foreign exchange students.

Soon after all of the year-long group activities end, the International Club gets together to say "Farewell to our Foreign Friends." Adios Amigos!

After school starts, twenty-eight very talented people start practicing their debates with their partners for their very first meet. It takes a lot of hard work and this is a club that requires a lot of dedication. On Tuesdays and Thursdays they practice after school. On Saturdays they either go to Iowa City for research sessions or they just work at OHS.

Senior Scott Anderson, a 4-year debator, said, "The Championship Debate team is a lot more organized this year. We have an extra year of experience. With Mr. Beisch being gone it is quite confusing, we are not sure what is going on."

"The Championship Debate team is a lot better this year. With Mr. Beisch gone, we don't lack in coaching, we just miss the managerial part," said Junior Jemi Shieh.

Nathan Jongewaard, a sophomore debater, said, "Each year there are bound to be some changes in the form, structure, and status of the Champion Debate team as well as the Debate Team. For instance, the number of debaters graduating and the number of debaters joining the team will vary from year to year. The team will lose members through quitting also."

Before deciding whether or not this club is for you, take into consideration that it takes a lot of dedication and hard work. If you put 100 percent into this club, you will get 100 percent out of it.

Backstage crews give OHS drama productions

THAT EXTRA EDGE

Just what goes on behind the scenes of a dramatic production? Well, between Chris LeTourneau, Bryan Ernst, Rob Fisher, and Technical Director Mr. Michael Pitt, they have covered almost every area backstage.

One of the most important parts backstage is, of course, the stage. The stage crew and cast members start building the set as soon as the cast is picked. The set takes six weeks to construct, the duration between tryouts and production, plus many late and extra hours. Mr. Pitt said, "People are really cooperative in loaning their items for our set. The cast is really careful so we won't lose that privilege."

Another important backstage area is lights. Rob Fisher, who was once a lights committee head, said, "One important aspect of my job was to make sure that everyone was seen on stage."

Make-up and costumes really make the characters true to life. The makeup crew first must have a few quick lessons in makeup, but usually the actors apply their own makeup. The costumes are also basically found by the actors, but the costume crew is responsible for storage of costumes and making sure costumes are intact.

With this in mind, give extra applause for backstage crews after the next drama production.

The drama department's fall production of "Dracula" came just in time for Halloween this year. The play centered around the arrival of Count Dracula, (Nathan Jongewaard) a 500-year-old vampire from Transylvania, and his attempt to take the beautiful Lucy (Erin Johnson) as his bride. The tale followed a typical romance storyline, as the monster was destroyed and Lucy's soul was saved as she was reunited with her lover, her father, and her friends. An unusual twist at the end led the audience to believe Dracula's tradition will be carried on through Arthur, Lucy's friend who had been Dracula's captive.

The play featured several new innovations. With the help of student Todd Cox, many special effects were added. A flying bat and a smoke machine were two of his ideas. The one that stood-out though, was a mask, featured in Act Two, to show Dracula in his true form, that of a monster. Cox made the mask himself with his own chemicals. He also took molds of Erin Johnson, Nathan Jongewaard, and Chris Manus' teeth in order to make temporary fangs for their "vampire" scenes.

All in all, the play was one which featured a lot of technical work, not to mention, hard work from cast and crews. The drama department held up their fine tradition of excellent productions yet again.

The OHS Drama Department really out did themselves when they presented this classic of Charlotte's Web, written by E. B. White. The very professional direction by Michael J. Ernst and acting of all the cast members made this a very entertaining evening. The actors, to name a few, who gave impressive performances were Christina LeTourneau who showed gracefulness, and class as Charlotte and of course, Susan Canny as Wilbur who showed us a wide variety of emotions. The Goose and the Gander, Jennifer Williams and Gary Kilmer, showed great precision in their moves as well as their lively acting ability. It's hard to name everyone. It was just a great show.

DRAMA

On April 7th and 8th the OHS Drama presented Spoon River Anthology. This was the third and final play of the year. Spoon River featured over 70 different characters and numerous songs.

The eight actors and two chorus members used the ability of creating different personalities to entertain the audience. The differences in their personalities gave the entire play a unique feeling. The ten actors and actresses remained on stage throughout the play, talking and listening in silence, as their speeches came and went.

Each character's individuality was portrayed through how he carried himself and the props he used. Rob Fisher made himself appear shorter with his old man, Eugene Carmen. Adrienne Beavers took on the quality of the Oriental school girl Yee Bow. John Burger and Amy Boswell became captives of a ruined marriage with Mr. and Mrs. Purkapile. Hod Putt played by Brent Myers showed a laid back bum. Bryan Ernst and Doran Schrantz acted out a love sick boy and a money hungry girl in the song Paper of Pins. Erin Johnson and Nathan Jongewaard became the Sibley's. Last but not least, Desiree Gosby playing Mrs. Williams who was an angry hat maker.

Hard work was put in backstage too. The lights, props, costumes, sound and set helped make the jobs of the actors easier. On the whole, the play is one that will be remembered for its originality in years to come.

Unique OHS course prepares students for

THE SOUND OF MUSIC

Are you interested in becoming a music teacher? or concert performer? Then Music Theory is for you!

Music theory is a specialized music course for potential college music majors. This course deals with the theories and practices of the famous composers of the 17th, 18th, and 19th centuries. The material studied deals with all the areas of music.

Music theory is not just for music students, but that certainly would help. Students must do a little bit of singing and should know how to play the piano.

Junior Steve Sporer plans on either becoming a vocal or instrumental music teacher or a concert marimbist. Steve said, "Music theory is a different class. It takes hard work and dedication."

The OHS Music Theory is an excellent course that prepares music majors for college. The book Mr. Schneider teaches from is harder than the college book. OHS music theory students are very fortunate because most schools don't offer this course.

Senior Angie Modrell said, "Taking this class will definitely determine whether or not I want to be a music teacher."

Unfortunately, this class is only for juniors and seniors and will only be offered every other year.

Display cases allow art students to show off their talents

What is that stuff in the display case? Art? You bet it is!

The students enrolled in the art classes have a place to display their work unlike other classes. Not only do the students get to display their art at OHS, they also get to display it at Indian Hills Community College.

"I look at new artwork in levels," said Mr. DeMoss. He looks at how well the artist understood and controlled his materials. Essentially this is craftsmanship. How effectively has the artist organized his space? There are design principles to guide; there should be evidence proved that the artist understands the principles.

The pieces chosen to go in the showcase are selected for a variety of reasons. Sometimes they are a collection of the best artwork available at that time. Sometimes they are not the best but they represent excellent progress by individuals in the art classes. "Other times pieces are chosen because they work well together visually," said DeMoss.

Dave Ablett, who got his artwork chosen for the showcase said, "I find it representing any conflict, any battle, and disturbance; but that's not what it represents. The only thing it does represent is what ever you see it as symbolizing. I got my artwork in the showcase. Mr. DeMoss seemed to like it. I did not do any brownnosing or anything, I just did it."

A Trip To Texas!

Spiriteers earn a spot in Cotton Bowl Parade.

Howdy y'all! They went to Dallas. They danced. They came home. That, in general, is what seven members of the OHS Spiriteers did when they went to Texas to march in the Cotton Bowl Parade, only it was much more exciting than that! It all started on July 28th as they were presented with an "Award of Excellence" for their performance of a precision dance to "How the West Was Won." This award qualified the Spiriteers to go to Texas to march in the annual Cotton Bowl Parade held on Jan 1st. After 3 days of hard work, it was nice to have something to show for all the effort, exhaustion and aching muscles. Then it was time to learn about the wonderful world of fundraising. They did everything from bake sales and raking leaves, to selling spirit links, here at OHS, and pumpkins downtown. Plus several donations were received from local businesses, patrons and a hefty one from the school board. So the $4100 needed to go was somehow raised and on the 27th the Spiriteers departed on a chartered bus for Dallas. Riding 16 hrs on a bus is an experience, especially overnight!

On the afternoon of the 28th they arrived in Dallas, greeted by sunny 70 degree weather. Time wasn't really plentiful, so after a nice lunch they headed for the hotel. That night was spent learning the routine and although most of their time was dedicated to perfecting the dance there was some spare time in which different activities were planned. The first of these was on the 29th when all 1300 girls went to the Galleria, a gigantic mall. This city of stores had everything, including an ice skating rink a 200ft lighted Christmas tree, and such stores as Macy's, Sax 5th Avenue, and Tiffany's. The next night was the Cotton Bowl preview Extravaganza, which included a preview of the floats, bands, and dancers performing in the parade. The group "Safety in Numbers" also provided great dance music. On New Year's Eve "A Taste of Texas" barbecue was held. It included different performers significant to the history and culture of Texas.

Time flew by and before they knew it, it was Jan 1. At 9 am they performed for the CBS cameras, a sea of colorful poms, hoops, hooplas, boxes, and ladders. After marching the rest of the parade it was off to the Cotton Bowl Game. After a chilly morning it promised to be a beautiful day as Arkansas and Tennessee battled it out on the field with Tennessee reigning over Arkansas. After the game they loaded the bus and headed for home, leaving the warm sunny weather and all the people behind. The memories however will last a lifetime.

►A moment to rest allowed the spiriteers to talk about their fun experience.

It was a unique experience and I enjoyed it very much, especially when the Kilgore College Rangerettes performed for us.

Vive la France!

OHS French students to spend 1 month learning French culture first hand.

Madame Ruiz and her nine students are anxiously waiting for June 7th, the day they will be boarding a plane in Cedar Rapids on their way to France. Amy Bishop, Julie Mitchell, Angie Modrell, Tammy Smith, Amy Hawley, Tiffany Hunt, Katheryne Souravong, Jennifer Line and Chris LeTourneau will all be traveling together with one other group from Iowa.

The students have had a challenging time trying to raise the eighteen hundred dollars required to go on the trip. Before Christmas they sold nuts to raise money. In the spring some of the students organized a garage sale. Many used their paychecks and some of them wrote letters to relatives near and far.

But no matter how they paid for the trip all are ready to leave.

The trip will start off with a five day family stay in Paris. There the students will have the opportunity to experience French traditions first hand. Then they will take the world's fastest train to Annecy in the Alps. Four days later they head for the French Riviera to bask in the Mediterranean sun. They will leave Nice on June 20 and wind their way back to Paris. In Paris they will get V.I.P. treatment including lunch in the Eiffel Tower. Shopping and sightseeing will fill their last three days in France. On June 28th all nine students will again board a plane and head back for the U.S.

UNITY . . . On AND Off The Field

Most softball team members agreed that for being such a young team, they did really well last season because they'll be even more experienced.

Coach Frank Huston provided friendship and guidance to his team. Jeni Courtney, a junior right fielder, admitted, "Coach and I have a very unique relationship. We can joke around with each other and we can also be serious. He has really taught me a lot about softball."

Junior second baseman Megan Poole said, "During the season, I learned a lot about the team members — both likes and dislikes. I'm sure we'll agree. I often joked about how I saw the girls on the team more than my own family."

Being in the dugout is exciting, especially during a winning game.

"It feels great and reassuring while we are winning," said Jennifer Wilt, junior pitcher for OHS. "There is a lot of excitement, especially in close games when competition is good."

Next season, Wilt will have little time to watch from the dugout since Mindy Peden has graduated and Wilt is the only varsity pitcher left.

Being in the dugout during a losing game tends to get very tense.

"It's depressing knowing you've worked so hard and you don't win," Courtney admitted.

The players find it very difficult to stand by in the dugout and watch when there isn't anything they can do to help.

Third baseman Josie Ashmore agreed. "I think it's easier to be in the dugout during a winning game than a losing game. I feel bad because I can't be on the field trying to help. But, no matter what, it's still hard to watch from the dugout."

The team is very confident that next year will be a winning season. Ashmore claims, "Next year we are GOING TO STATE!!"

BASEBALL: a contact sport?

The Ottumwa High School Baseball team finished another season with a record of 29-11.

Outfielder Ted Schulz summed it all up when he said, "We've had our ups and downs."

The up side? A good effort by all the players and a good time.

The down side? Possibly the "brawl" that forced the Bulldogs to sit out six vital games. "The brawl really hurt us as a team," said pitcher and outfielder Bill Farrington. "We never had the same team spirit as we did before." Not only did the 'Dogs catch the image of a rowdy bunch of guys, but some players feel that there is a serious lack of school spirit. We all know it's hot outside and baseball does get a little boring after a few innings, but unless it's tournament time, most players think there aren't enough fans.

However, the Bulldogs are very optimistic about next season. There is a possibility of making it to state, according to Farrington.

So with the promise to keep baseball a non-contact sport, the Bulldogs hope to have a productive and winning season.

Cross-country runners push themselves

TO THE LIMIT!

The OHS Cross-Country team is once again ripping up running courses all over Iowa.

This year, much to the satisfaction of Coach Bob Warren, the Cross-Country team is a whopping 41 people strong.

With the dedication and hard work of the runners paying off, people have to wonder why on earth these runners take on the pain of long-distance running. Senior Wes Thurman said, "If you're not going to go all the way, why go at all?"

Wes Thurman certainly has gone all the way again this year. He has won the conference championship title this year. Wes has won all but one of his races this season. He summed it all up when he said, "It's been a great year!"

The presence of Wes will be greatly missed after his graduation. However, Coach Warren dropped the names of some promising runners. "We've got Dan Bell, who made all conference, and Jaci Jirsa also looks promising. This is one of the best seasons ever."

With all of the participation and dedication it's no wonder the OHS men's and women's Cross-Country is as good as it is. The efforts of everyone pay off with both awards and self-satisfaction of a job very well done.

ATTITUDE!

Players & coach look for better attitudes

As another year passes so does another football season. This year's losing season was a downfall for not only the student body, but also for the players themselves.

"Why not quit?" one may say to himself. "Why not throw in the towel?" Bill Cooper said on, "It's playing the game, not just winning that matters."

"I've been playing a long time," Brian Sincox noted. "I wanted to quit but I didn't because I didn't want to let down the rest of the guys."

Along with the new season came a new coach, Tom Kopatich. Coach Kopatich isn't pleased with the way the season went. "This year the overall work attitude was down. Players need a positive, winning attitude, be able to make sacrifices and pay the price. We need to play hard as a team," he said.

This year held a lot of problems but players are confident next year will be bigger and better. "There will be new blood in the system next year," Jason Thode commented.

Mao Baccam stated, "This year there weren't enough good players. We only had 26 people. We should encourage students to go out for extra curricular activities."

One of the setbacks this year was the number of injuries one of which was Barry McFarland. McFarland believed one thing the team needed for success was "more school support."

Proposed Pool Would Benefit Swimmers

Abright future could be displayed before the eyes of the OHS Girls' Swim Team.

On one of the roads to success, there is talk of a water park, with a pool to accommodate the team.

Several of the members expressed their delight in the proposed facility. Junior April Anderson said, "It's perfect! It's exactly what we need." Coach Mike McWilliams replied, "It's a tremendous idea, the concept is good."

The pool will measure up nicely to other Iowa pools in Des Moines, Newton, Burlington, and Fort Dodge.

Team members disagreed on the best Ottumwa pool for competition. The YWCA is big, but too small for competition but has good visibility and water temperature. Competitions are held at the YWCA.

With all these positive aspects of a new water facility, what is holding us back? Well, we need money and we get that from the taxpayers. So, we need a vote of over 60% from the taxpayers.

Ottumwa's swim team has always been good, but with a new facility, they could be ever better.

A Working Relationship . . .

Volleyball, just like every other sport, takes time to develop. Head Coach Mike Rathe feels the trust between coach and the players is already developing and he is expecting it to continue. He also described last year's season as a learning and growth year. Rathe said last year he discovered more about the team and the team learned more about him. The team chemistry is coming together. "Our level of enthusiasm is improving and we are starting to enjoy the game."

Of course, winning is what competition is all about, giving 100% or playing one's best is the name of any game.

"My relationship with the coach is pretty good as long as I have a positive attitude while I'm playing," said Lara Wettestad, a junior. Wettestad has an optimistic view of the team's achievements. "We have improved a lot since last season even if our record this season doesn't show it," she said. "We have learned to play together as a team. The team as a whole has a good relationship. We try to encourage each other while we're playing."

Junior Tracy Crumes also feels that there is comradery within the team. "I'm very comfortable with the people on the team," said Crumes. "During a winning game it really makes me feel good."

In spite of a struggle, the team still keeps up the positive attitude and spirit.

FALL SPORTS HAS UPS & DOWNS

The '89-90 fall sports season had its ups and downs. On the up side, OHS had a good baseball season and Head Coach Ron Howard was pleased. With a season record of 13-5, the seasons losses were by only one run. Some highlights of the season were winning the SE 7 Conference and having nine SE 7 players. These nine people were David Weilbrenner, Ted McNulty, Mark Bennett, Ken Hucks, Todd Grooms, Jason Thode, Ted Schultz. Weilbrenner was also selected as an All-State pitcher.

Also on the up side were the Boys' and Girls' Cross-Country teams. On the boys' season, Coach Bob Warren commented, "It was a good team led by an outstanding group of seniors and the individual performance of Wes Thurman."

As for the girls' team he said, "It was a fine team to work with and with the continued improvement, they became one of the better teams in SE Iowa."

The softball team had a smashing season with a record of 29-9. Two members of the team-Angie White and Jos Drew-made the All-State team. White and Drew also made the all conference team along with Mindy Peden and Sheri Speer.

The Girls' Swimming ended their season with an 8-1 record with outstanding performances by J.J. DeAth, Marcy Snyder, April Anderson, Lizzy Dew and Missy Steffen. On this years performance Coach Mike McWilliams stated, "We had an outstanding year, all things considered. We're really going to miss Dew and Steffen but if DeAth and Anderson lead our team, we should have another good year."

With the good there is also the not so good. The OHS football team had a winless season with the highlight of the season being Mao Baccam rushing over 900 yards. Head Coach Tom Kopatich is already plotting strategies for next year. He said, "With great effort and dedication in the off season, we will be an improved football team next fall."

The volleyball season ended up with an 11-5 season and although they lost the majority of the games, their proficiency and serving averages were up when compared to last year. Coach Mike Rathe stated, "This year there has been growth in areas of skill development, team concepts and team competition."

So as you can see, life has its ups and downs and the world of sports is not exception.

"Physical Education" or A WASTE OF TIME?

Some Ottumwa High School students agree that participating in an extracurricular sport and taking physical education as a class is a waste of time and some say it's unfair.

Angie Hamersley, an OHS Cheerleader, said, "It isn't fair because we work out and get in shape for our sport so why should we have to take gym also?"

Other students feel it could be a hazard for those in a sport to exercise and train for their particular sport and then exercise in gym.

Matt Ellis, a senior at OHS said, "It could easily burn a person out."

Mike Lee, a junior who participates in football, said he could use the extra study hall.

Also, some students find physical education a waste of time anyway. And those who wish to exercise and work out will do so, by choosing to participate in a sport.

Kari Hatfield, a junior at OHS said that, "People who choose to be in a sport for their own personal exercise will get more out of it than playing ping-pong in gym."

Junior Laura Berry agreed and said, "It should be up to the individual, whether or not they should get their exercise in a sport or in gym, not both."

Unfortunately, the decision isn't up to the student body so, for now, we all suffer through physical education.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Increased SPIRIT would boost OHS Wrestling

"The number of injuries in football and basketball are greater than in wrestling." — Larry Kilmer

AS winter approaches one sees wrestlers starving themselves, TRYING TO MAKE WEIGHT.

Matthew Goodman doesn't believe in cutting a lot of weight for wrestling. For Goodman, keeping weight is hard because he constantly thinks about food. But when he does eat, he eats what he craves. Goodman begins training for the wrestling season with running in cross-country.

Head Coach Larry Kilmer describes a typical practice as beginning with warm ups, stretching, running, technique drills, wrestling hard, running distance for conditioning, and then running sprints.

Team members get in shape by wrestling, working on technique, and running. Wrestlers do lots of conditioning.

This year's team had four excellent wrestlers and three are returning next year. There are quite a few bright spots in the team, but the lack of emphasis in the area toward wrestling brings down the number of boys participating.

Kilmer also stated, "The number of injuries in football and basketball are greater than in wrestling."

Many assume that more injuries occur in wrestling.

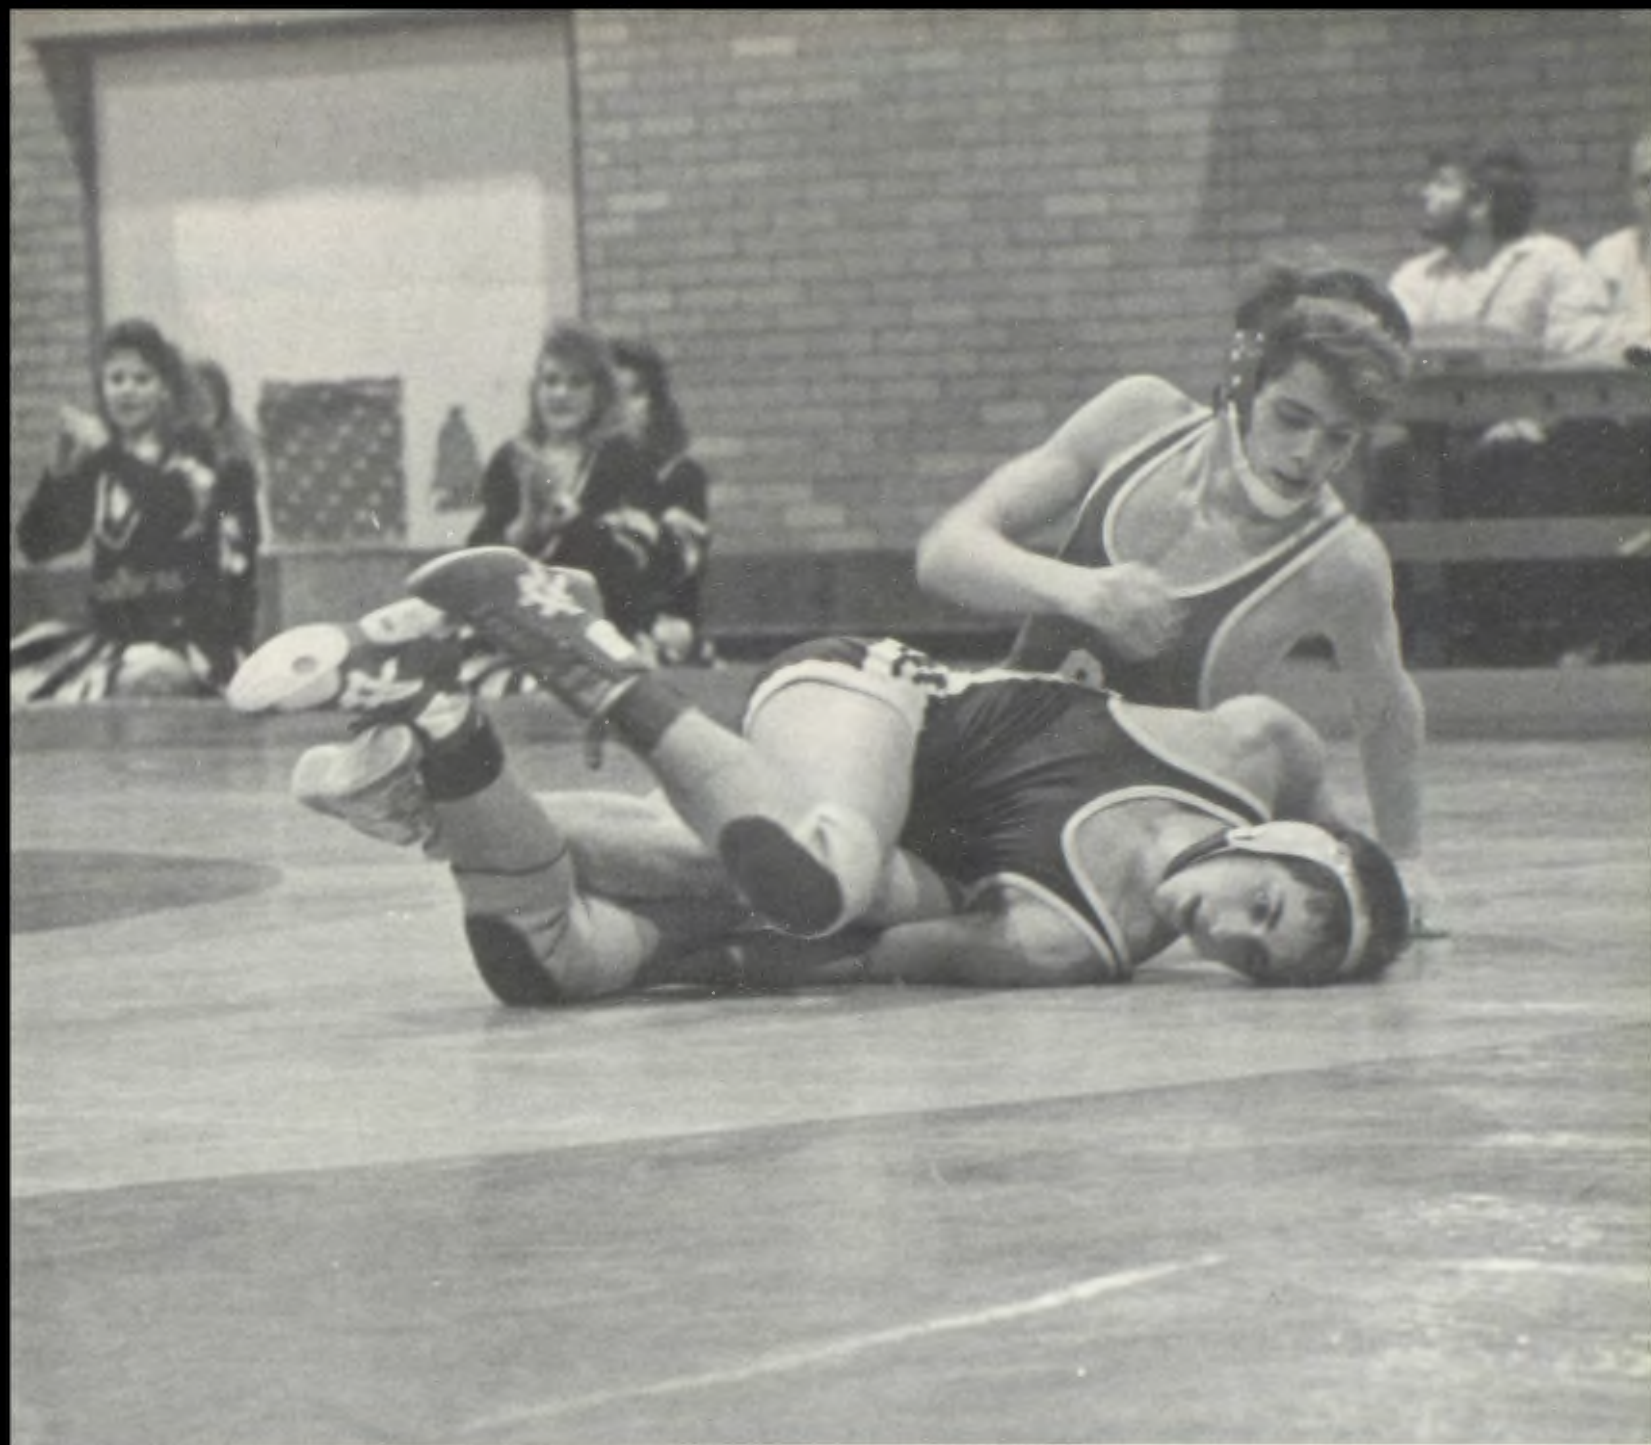

Hopefully an increase in interest in the community will send OHS more prize wrestlers.

OHS BASKETBALL

Boys' basketball had a great season, from a last-second win over Oskaloosa to an "almost-win" over Fairfield

Sportsmanship is that certain quality of honor that desires always to be courteous, fair, and respectful, and it is interpreted in the conduct of players, spectators, and coaches, and school authorities.

— Mike Coddington

The OHS Boys' Basketball team dribbled and dazzled their way through yet another season.

The team was led by four seniors: Randy Rinderknecht, Aaron Guiter, Tim Ash, and Rob Mallory.

This fabulous foursome benefited the team in both spirit and points.

However, a winning season does cost the team members. Long, grueling practices go hand in hand with basketball. All in all, everyone can agree that it was worth the effort.

After all the hard work has been put into practice, it's time for the games to begin. Five boys in front of gobs of people. A large portion of the community and, worst of all, their peers. However, both Joe Olujic and Erik Tetmeyer agreed that a large crowd "gets the adrenaline going." With all the time these guys spend together, they've become somewhat of a family.

The fame of a great season can be credited not only to the skill and talent of the players, but also to the head coach Joe Curran. "We're a well coached, dedicated, hard-working basketball team," added Junior Erik Tetmeyer. Senior Randy Rinderknecht commented, "I think Joe Curran had done an excellent job improving the teams attitude, because he gets along with the players so well."

Girls' Basketball Record Improves by 50%!

What a season! The Girls' basketball team has improved quite a bit this year. Their current record for the season was twelve wins and ten losses. The leading scorers were Senior Steph Rathe who scored twelve points per game, Sophomore Tammy Reynolds who scored eleven points per game, Senior Shelly DeDecker who scored eight points per game, Sophomore Kristen Klyn who scored seven points per game and Freshman Angela Hatchett who also scored seven points per game. "The teamwork displayed on the floor has been excellent and the total togetherness has been super," said Coach Frank Huston.

"We all get along really good. It is like a little family," said Angela Hatchett. "Playing five on five is more exciting, a lot more action and you move around a lot more," added Hatchett. Hatchett ended by saying, "Coach Houston has faith in us to go on the court and just do the best we can. He has lots of confidence in us."

Swimmers end year of ACCOMPLISHMENT

According to Swim Coach Mike McWilliams this year's team is doing quite well.

"For the kind of swimmers they are, they really are good," McWilliams said.

Some of the swimmers have been swimming for years and have a lot of experience.

The team members and the coach have a special relationship.

Senior swimmer Jason Walter said, "Not only does Coach McWilliams shape us with his brilliant experience and knowledge of the sport of swimming, he also laughs with us, shares his stories, and cares about us in life, academics, and social affairs as well as swimming. Coach is great."

The team members are also close to each other, as well.

Walter said, "We're like one big family. The seniors, especially, are extremely close since we've been together for so long."

Support and recognition from the school for this particular sport is lacking. But, hopefully this will change.

The team has made a lot of great accomplishments this year and from the past years. There is a lot for them to be proud.

Much Improved Winter Teams in '90

The OHS winter sports athletes had a fairly good season sending many members proudly to state.

Highlights of the '90 men's swim team included fourth place finish at Williamsburg invitational and fourth place at District Championships. Team effort at the District meet was outstanding. The free relay team qualified for the state meet and all four had personal best split times.

Head Coach Mike McWilliams said, "In spite of our won-loss record 3-7, this team did an excellent job; of the thirteen swimmers on the squad only five swam prior to coming to high school. The kids worked hard and really improved."

For the 1991 season there will be less swimmers with six graduating. But, the underclassmen are a hard working, motivated group of people so the quality will be there.

Four OHS wrestlers advanced to the second round of the state tournament. District champions Jason Black, Jason Matheney, Marc Mundt, and district runner up Travis Vanveen all won first round matches in the state wrestling tournament.

"OHS came home in the top three of the district. All but Senior Marc Mundt will be returning next year.

So OHS has six top returners for next year," commented Coach Larry Kilmer on the 1991 outlook.

Varsity basketball had the first winning season in twelve years! They also had a second place finish in the conference.

"The team was very unselfish and this led to great team play by everybody. This team never quit which led to them being the first winning team in twelve years," commented Coach Joe Curran.

With dedication and hard work the varsity basketball team for 1991 is planning to continue this winning streak. Experience will be lacking, with some seniors being gone but desire will make up for it.

The varsity girls basketball team also had a much improved season. Returning from a 2-18 record to a 12-10 record and a third place finish in the SE 7 Conference.

"The future looks bright," said Coach Frank Huston on the 1991 season. With desire to play the five player game, sophomore starters Angela Hatchett, Kristen Klyn, and Tammy Reynolds will be returning plus several excellent prospects from the junior varsity squad look challenging.

The outlook for the OHS winter sports for 1991 is very promising.

Injuries All Around

Athletes resort to braces to keep competing

A lot of OHS students are involved in sports as an extracurricular activity. Unfortunately, our bodies aren't pain proof. Occasionally, a person sprains, breaks, or bruises himself and cannot work to the best of his ability. Of course, the injury is bad for the team as well as for the individual. Although, we cannot eliminate the pain, we can make it more bearable!

More and more people are seen wearing braces on their legs or taping up their ankles.

OHS Softball player Jos Drew injured her ankle during a game and had to have it taped up. This gave her ankle more support. Also, the pain decreased. Drew added, "Coach Huston taped it so tight that it almost cut the circulation off of my foot."

Taping an athletes ankles may not always solve the problem, but it does help.

MURDER on the HIGH SEAS

The OHS pool was transformed into a high seas cruiseliner for the Shark Club presentation of "Not So Perfect Murder on the High Seas."

The synchronized swimmers were pleased with this year's attendance. Stacy Wasson, veteran Shark, commented, "I'm really pleased because our crowds get larger every year."

The swimmers started meeting in January and by the end of the month the groups were formed. Everyone suggested themes and then they voted.

The students choreographed and wrote the script while Mrs. Diana Robertson supervised. They practiced twice a week for about an hour.

This year's pageant was a murder mystery made up of flashback scenes. Wasson was the killer and in the end was captured by three surviving detectives. The swimmers designed their own costumes. What's the limit? There isn't any, if it can be worn in water, it'll work. They are required to paint their fingernails and their toenails and wear bright lipstick. This helps to bring color to their faces.

Anyone can be in Shark Club. It's really fun and becoming more popular every year. Good luck next year!

Betting Pools

Choose your favorite team, then place your wager!

A slightly illegal, but profitable means of making extra money. Betting pools on sporting events adds a lot more excitement to the game. One player said, "You have a personal interest in the outcome so you are much more involved."

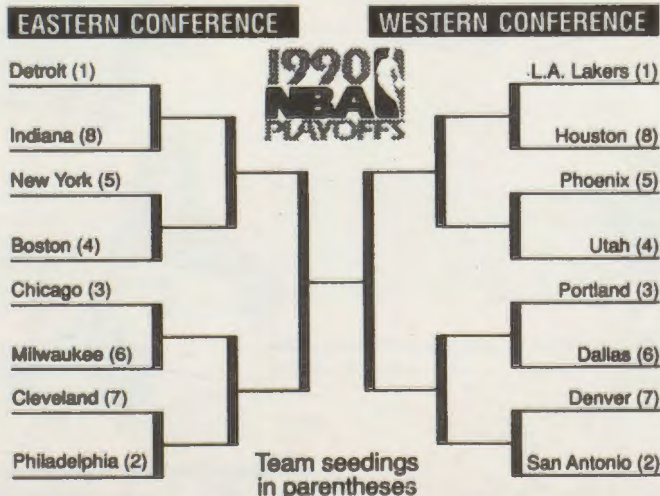

Does it matter if this activity is illegal? A number of OHS teachers disapprove of betting and would willingly turn in any students caught gambling. Is that enough to scare students away? Not really. Students are not overly worried about getting caught. The thought of winning a mere few extra dollars doesn't seem to frighten anyone.

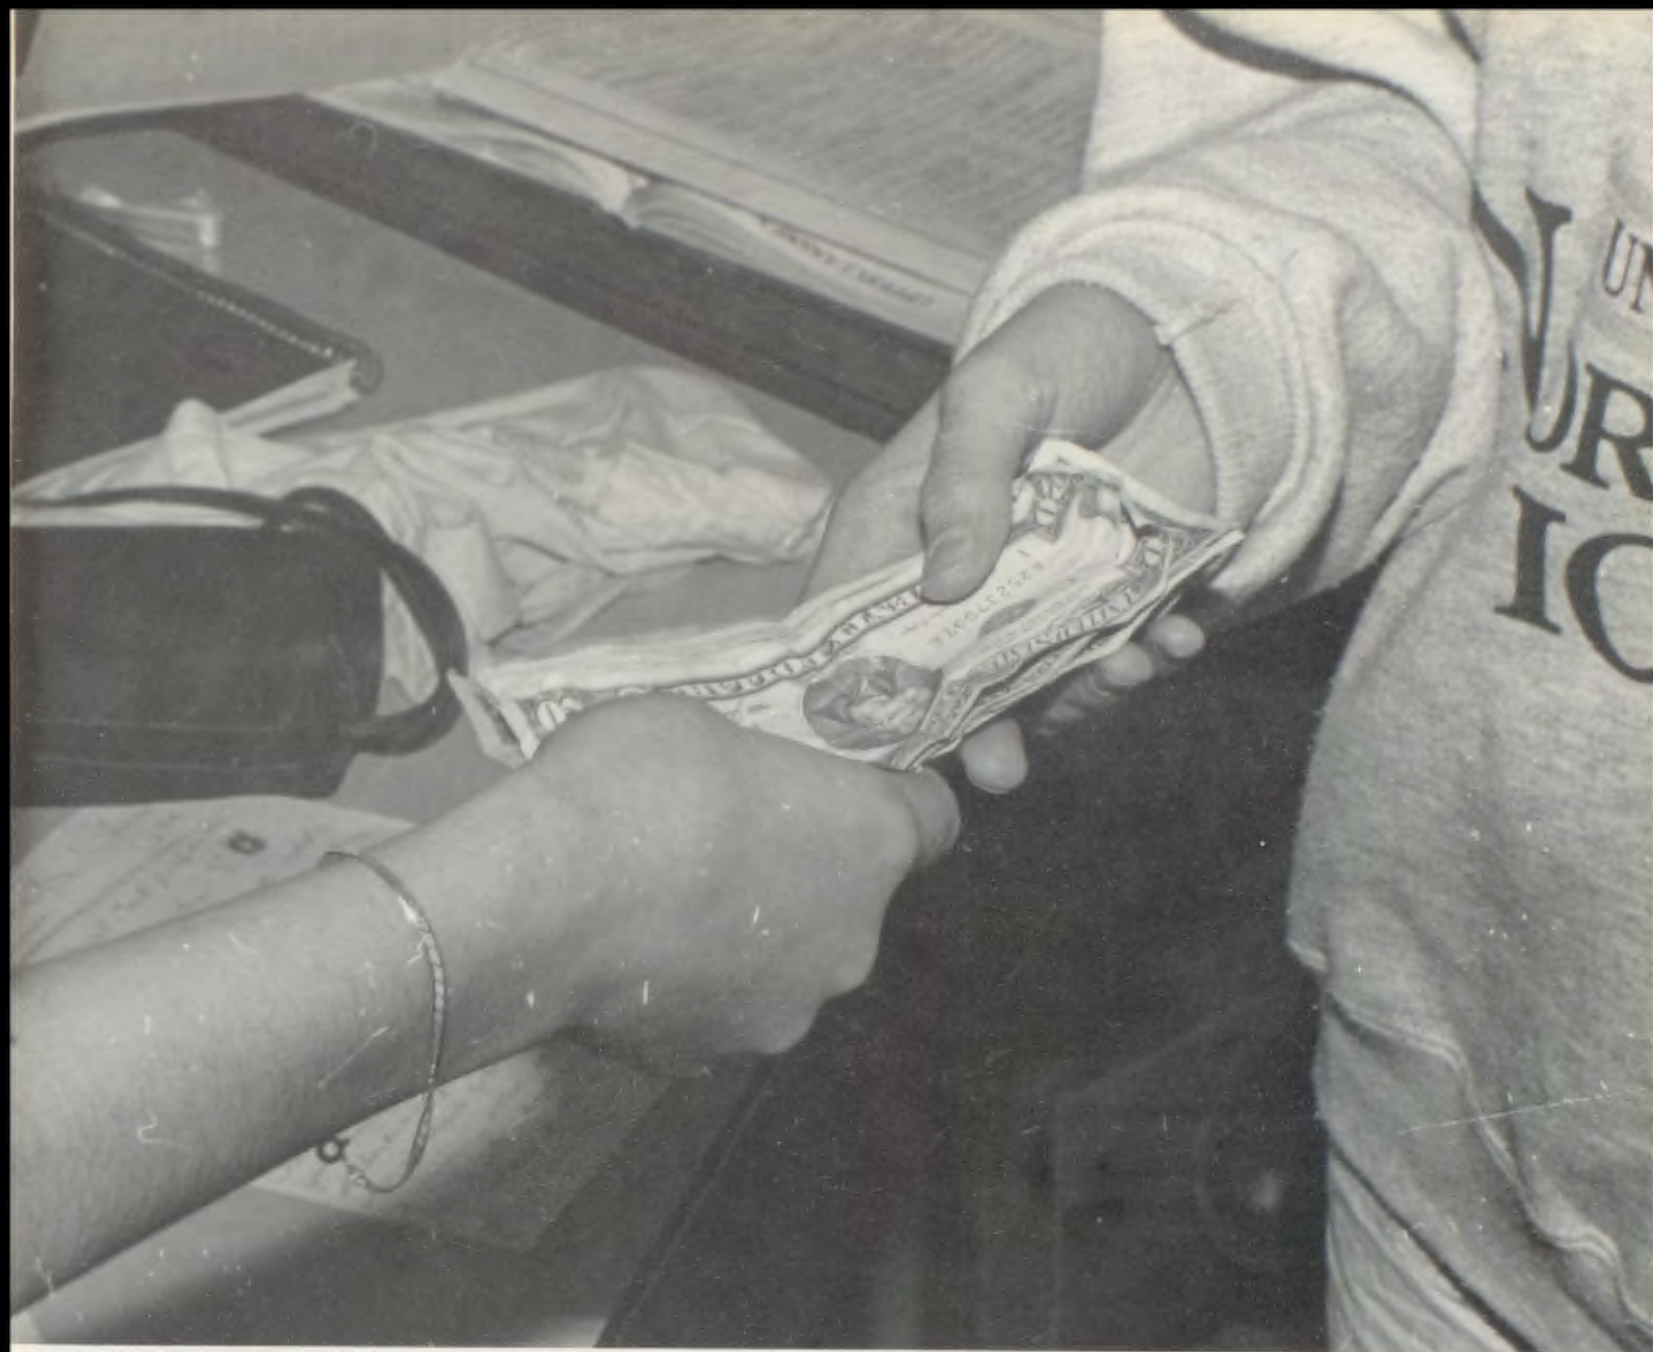

Many sports are bet on, but the biggest money maker of the year was the NCAA basketball tournament. Players simply pick a team to win the event and then place a small wager.

Betting pools involving World Series baseball, Super Bowl football, and weekly college basketball games are commonplace not only among students but adults as well. Could this simple harmless betting turn into a serious gambling problem? Probably not.

Determination is on their side!

Experience, commitment, and spirit are the keys to the 1990 Girls' Tennis team. With only one senior graduating last year, the team still had some of the more experienced players.

Last year was the first time since 1976 that Ottumwa did not send either a singles player or doubles team to the state tournament, but Ottumwa has won the conference for the past 2 years.

The top five from last year are Lizzy Dew, Sheri Speer, Jennifer Ellison, Jaci Jirsa and Kim Berg. To become a top 5 player, they have to earn it by climbing up the ladder-challenging the other players to reach number one.

"This year was a turnover from last year," said Junior Sheri Stolz. "Next year we are going to have to work harder because five of our best players will be graduating."

With a history of high scores and wins, the 1991 team should easily make up for the loss of the key players. Determination is on their side.

Self-confidence and Team spirit

Lead boys' tennis to a winning year.

To members of the OHS Boys' Tennis team, this season feels like their best season.

Junior Brock Lumpa feels that he, as well as the rest of the team, has improved a great deal due to the excellent coaching of Gary Gullion. Sophomore Shannon Kershaw agrees and said, "This is Gullion's second year and I see a lot of good things happening."

Lumpa, currently ranked number two, feels the most rewarding part of the game is "... just being out there with a bunch of friends playing a sport you enjoy!!"

Kershaw loves the thrill of beating someone, but feels discouraged when he just can't hit any shots.

The team is high-spirited and full of self-confidence and that really contributes to their game!

Only three students left the team last year and now the team consists of a blend of upper and lower classmen.

Even though the weather has been chilly, the team has been out there. We wish them a successful season.

Confidence Dedication Fitness

Underclassmen look to seniors for leadership

A confident, dedicated, physically fit, hard worker with the right attitude—these words, in a nutshell, describe characteristics of a quality track member, as described by the senior members of the girls' track team. Senior members not only have to worry about college but also about passing on their legacy to younger members. How do they go about this? As Jackie Bragg put it, "I advise them to keep working and I (we) remind them that just because they 'lost' a race, it doesn't mean they didn't win."

Fellow member Whitney Hocker stated, "I advise them not to compete against other runners, but to compete against themselves so they can do the best they can do."

For the most part, the elder members are confident about next year's season. Alinga Clark said, "Hopefully the team will do great and qualify to run at Drake," while Brenda Petersen added, "Most of the younger runners are good, so I think they'll do really well."

The experience of the seniors on the team is a valuable asset to the younger runners. Their guidance and leadership will always be needed.

Attitude is the secret to the Boys' Track team's success. "People this year really care about the team and want to work with Coach Nickerson to make it better," said varsity runner Jason Walter.

Although, being a young squad sometimes tends to be discouraging, the team works well together and does the best they can do.

Practices are held everyday. "Workouts this year are the toughest and most intense I've ever be involved in," said Walters. Coach Jim Nickerson knows what potential each member has and pushes them to reach it. The intense practices help to reach that.

"We came out good in the beginning by winning our first meet," said Sophomore Darin Dowling. "We still have a long ways to go before we reach our full potential."

Being recognized at a big track meet is an awarding experience for the OHS track team. Also, "The winning, the work and the friendships you make with your teammates is rewarding," said Walters. "Being able to do something nobody else can do is a stimulating and exciting element of the track team."

*S*wing into *S*pring

As the season begins, the Girls' Golf team is ready for another very fantastic season. The Ottumwa golf team has a good advantage over their opponents since there are two facilities that are close for them to practice on: the Municipal Golf Course and the Ottumwa Country Club.

The team is really strong and the season is going great so far. "OHS is one of the best teams in the state," said Senior golfer Kim Moreland. "Coach is great. We all get along as a family." Moreland is ranked among the top girl golfers in the state.

Head Coach Steve Casady is the driving force behind the Ottumwa golf team. He has led the Ottumwa teams to the state title several times. Junior Tess Kirchner said of the coach, "He is great! He is encouraging and supports us all the way."

Other members of the team, though not as highly ranked, are excellent players. Sarah Von Schrader, Lisa Sears, Heather Christy, and Tess Kirchner all work quite well together and hopefully will bring the state championship back to Ottumwa.

BOYS' GOLF

Hard work and concentration pay off

Golf. A sport that few people think much about. Few people know that the Boys' Golf team won the State Championship last year. Why would someone choose to participate in a sport like golf over one of the more popular sports such as football or basketball?

Payton Whitworth said, "The game is never the same, and the golfer controls his own destiny." Many of the golfers play the sport for the very same reason — they like the challenge, the individualness, and the personal satisfaction of the game.

To be the best in the state requires a lot more than luck alone. "We practice 2-3 hours each day," stated Jay Beaver. "The more we practice, the better we get," said Sophomore golfer Steve Oliver.

Why, of all places, does OHS excel in golf? "We have two excellent golf courses in town with excellent practice facilities. Since OHS won 3 State Championships, it gets the younger kids interested in being members of the team and becoming a part of the State Champ tradition," said Cory Schaub.

Whatever the case, the OHS Boys' Golf team has got the makings of a quality team.

TRADITIONALLY WINNERS

As usual the OHS spring sportsters 'rocked the house'. The Boys' Tennis team had three individual conference champions this year. They are #1 Javier Cortes; #5 Chris Owens and #6 Jason Pigg. In doubles the team of Ryan Morrissey and Javier Cortes also were conference champions. Coach Gary Gullion is optimistic about next year even though 7 of the top 12 players are graduating. "Our JV team won all their meets and lost very few matches in the process. This is a great sign for a coach who has a lot of spots to fill in '91."

The Boys' Golf team also held the Conference Championship title this year. Coach Mike Cardin had nothing but positive remarks in regards to the team. "As a very young team we have played very consistent and show promise for future years. We are very optimistic for the '91 season since we return almost everyone and pick-up some good freshmen."

Five people from the Girls' Track team qualified for state this year. District champions were Susan Dawson in the 200; Kristi Smith, Lornette Martin, Susan Dawson and Alinga Clark in the 4x100; Kristi Smith, Julie McBurnett, Susan Dawson and Alinga Clark in the 4x200. Coach Joe Curran said of the season, "The teams showed great improvement as the season progressed. The roster was dominated by freshmen who will help establish a winning foundation for years to come."

The Boys' Track team took 3rd place in the SE7 Conference and also 1st place in the Oskaloosa/Grinnell Triangular meet. "The 1990 track team was an extremely hard working group of young athletes. A positive, determined attitude helped qualify six members to the track meet (Dan Bell, Wes Thurman, Bryon Nicholls, Pat Streeby, Phil Irwin and Travis Jennings).

The Girls' Tennis team won all six singles and three doubles Conference Championships. Conference winners were Jaci Jirsa, Lizzy Dew, Sheri Speer, Kim Berg, Jennifer Ellison, and Jennifer Henle.

Coach Dan Staggs said, "With the development of three or four of our younger players this summer, we should be very competitive again the next few years."

*Students roll
around in Jello
for fun and prizes*

A new tradition for Student Council is Jello wrestling. Its creators, Matt Goodman and Eric Hilfers boast its success and variety of students who participated. Although it wasn't one of the biggest money-makers, it was a new idea that caught on rather well.

Goodman said, "We plan to continue wrestling, but changing the substances." A few suggestions included oatmeal and spaghetti.

First, second and third place in the girls' division were Tammy Reynolds, Kim Berg, and Cybil Johnson. First, second, and third in the boys' division were Tom McCloud, Leth Baccaam, and Wes Hamstreet.

Many students felt that Jello wrestling was the most fun activity planned by Student Council this year and are looking forward to next year's event.

IT.

Doin' it with class . . . OHS students have the ability to excel in everything they do, from sports to studies. As a senior, life can be demanding.

Applications, scholarships, and essays can be very challenging. Like many students, Gianna Meyer went to her guidance counselor, Mrs. Linda Vogt for advice on how to deal with the choices.

It's obvious that in today's world a college education is required for a decent job. It's also necessary to achieve "good" grades to go to college. How do students achieve these grades and what are colleges looking for?

One student, Senior Paula Hoff, says curiosity inspires her to achieve good grades. She also stated, "Grades are important to me because they will help me achieve other things."

Another top student, Senior Heather Christy, says this year has been a little bit harder and she has to study a bit more than before. Heather feels grades are important because they are a challenge to her and they are important for college. Despite her different extra-curricular activities, Heather doesn't feel pressure when it comes to maintaining her grades.

On the other side, Paula does feel a little more pressure when her extra activities take over. She says she just has to re-adjust her schedule for more study time.

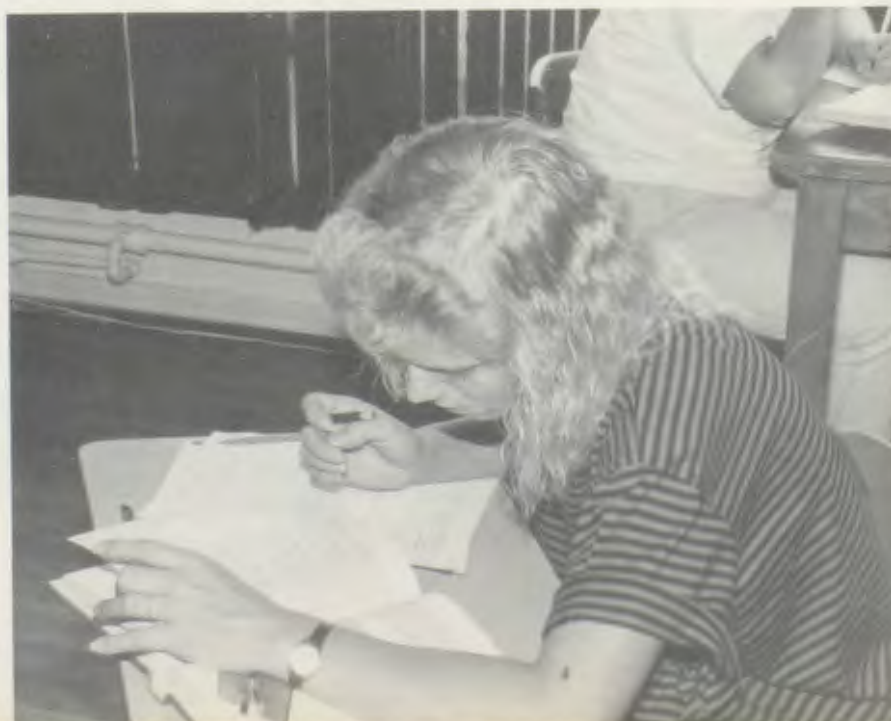

What do schools look for in a student? According to the Admissions Director, The University of Iowa looks for students in the top half of their class; ACT or SAT score (depending on which the student took); high school courses completed, difficulty of class, and minimum of C-passing grades. Extra-curricular activities aren't really looked at unless the above aren't good but the student has potential.

With this information and inspiration it's up to you to make the grade.

— Patrice Miller

Hauling Books

The burdens of high school never seem to end. Homework, tests, sports, dances, and more homework. On top of all of that, everyone has six tons of books to drag all over.

If you're lucky, your locker is somewhat near most of your classes. However, how do you handle a basement locker and third floor classes? Sure, you build up those biceps, but, boy, do you look like a dork! It is possible to shove some books into a bag and lug that around, making quick pit stops at your locker every few periods.

Is higher education really worth fumbling through school with an armful of books and looking rather dumb in the process? Probably not!

So quit complaining and solve your textbook dilemma. How? You could always stash a few books in the locker of one of your many loyal pals. If you don't mind a lot of F's, just never carry your books anyplace. One student commented "I just 'borrow' an extra copy for the year and keep it at home." Another student replied, "What books?"

Another logical conclusion to this book problem is that everyone else has to carry their stupid books around too. Misery loves company, right?

So maybe looking a bit goofy is a high price to pay for a well-rounded education, but the pain you are enduring right now will fade and those emotional scars will heal in the future and someday you'll be a bright, well-founded and strong OHS graduates.

Guidance Survey Reveals Students' Lifestyles

Surrounded by peers, many of whom are their immediate supervisors, my students often work at highly routinized tasks that seldom invoke the use of school skills and seldom learn skills that lead to future full-time adult employment.

— Brooke Workman, teacher, Iowa City West

How has your job affected your school attitudes and performance?

42% say "very little." 15% say "much."

How do students and teachers feel????

How many hours do you work during the school week?

Over 25	5%

"It teaches kids self-discipline and responsibility. You have to learn to manage school work and a job."

— Angie Galey

"Students who want money of their own should have a job - I don't really think it matters, my homework doesn't get done on the days I don't work, either."

— Patrice Miller

"Jobs definitely affect students school work in a negative way. It absorbs way too much time out of their day, unless it's odd jobs, like mowing lawns and babysitting."

— Mrs. Darla Jackson

"It's a good way for kids to become responsible. I'm saving money for a car."

"All this suggests that work has a negative effect on many students. But the effects of working and school can't be determined unless individual students are studied. There are other reasons why school performance deteriorates."

Speech has many benefits

▲In a sequence of pictures, Kim Hartley uses gestures and facial expressions during her presentation.

"I took the class because I needed confidence in talking to groups." —
Tessa Cottrell

Name a class with a comfortable environment in which you can talk endlessly and get graded for it!

Speech is a course taught by Mr. Ernst in room 300. The class is a study of the whole communication system with the first few weeks focussing on verbal speech.

The course is designed for students to become better speakers and learn about all the areas in the communication cycle. Junior Tessa Cottrell added, "We also learn about ourselves and our relationships with other people."

Why do students take speech? Amy Boswell said she took the class because she is going into communications and added, "I took the class because I needed confidence in talking to groups."

Although Mr. Ernst tries to create a relaxed environment his students still become somewhat nervous, especially if they are not completely prepared for their speeches. But with Amy's stage experience she feels at ease and Tessa has a friendly and sympathetic class.

Mr. Ernst feels that speech should be required and he said at this time, speech class is the current trend.

Both Speech I and II count as two elective English credits.

Speech is a confidence building, fun-filled class available to anyone at OHS.

— Patrice Miller

Speaking to small groups gives students such as Jason Thode a feeling of confidence and control.

Speech class builds self-confidence leading some students toward the dramatic arts.

LOCAL EVENTS FOR 1990

The opening of the Quincy Place Mall on the corners of Highway 34 and Quincy Avenue was a boom to Ottumwa's local economy.

The local K-Mart store completed a major expansion project last spring. The store now boasts the largest square footage department store in Ottumwa.

Despite the growing local economy, the Ottumwa City Council proposed a 1 cent city sales tax. Local merchants and Chamber of Commerce members strongly opposed the measure.

Local comedian and OHS Graduate Tom Arnold made tabloid headlines when he married comedian Roseanne Barr of the top-rated television comedy show ROSEANNE. Both Barr and Arnold made numerous stops in the Ottumwa area.

Union Bank and Trust Co. of Ottumwa was hit by two burglaries during the year — both occurring within 2 weeks of each other. One suspect was caught soon after the robbery; the other is still at large.

A longtime landmark was destroyed by a major fire last February. The former Washington Junior High building was gutted by an intentionally set fire. No one was injured but the building was a total loss.

DES MOINES RIVER

Map details the latest plans for a proposed water complex slated for opening in the spring of 1991. The complex is being designed by Markey & Associates of Kennewick, Ga.

The go-ahead was given by Ottumwa taxpayers for construction of a water park complex. The recreational building will be located on the corner of Highway 34 turnoff. Included will be 2 water slides, a wave pool, a kiddie pool, and an indoor swimming complex. Opening is scheduled for Spring 1991.

Ottumwa made national news last March when FBI agents raided a home at 116 N. Jefferson and confiscated over 20 million dollars of rare books, some dating back to the 1400's.

NEWS AROUND THE WORLD

The pro-democracy protests began in Beijing, China on April 15 with a call by students for talks on increasing social freedoms and ending official corruption. They peaked during the week of May 15, when Gorbachev visited the country, and nearly one million people poured into the streets.

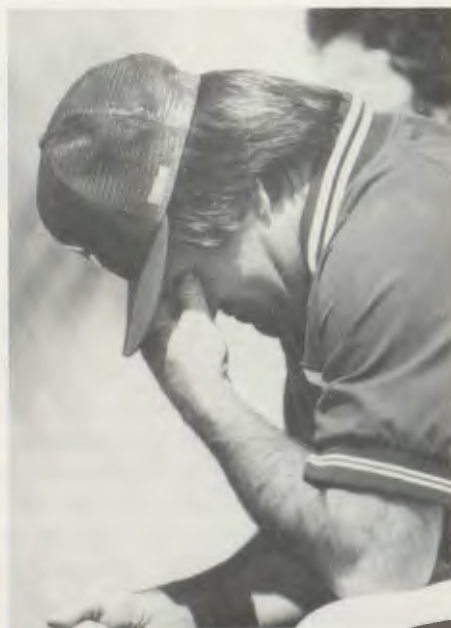

Martial law was declared on May 20, and troops attempted to move into Tienanmen Square but were driven back by masses of citizens sympathetic to the protesters.

On June 3, troops opened fire on the protesters, smashing through barricades with tanks to reach Tienanmen Square. While the government claims that nearly 300 people, mostly soldiers, were killed, diplomats and Chinese say up to 3,000 died, and Chinese Red Cross officials estimate 3,600 people were killed and 60,000 injured.

Cincinnati Reds Manager Pete Rose, one of the greatest players in the history of baseball, had been banned for life from the game for betting on his own team.

Rose, who has continued to deny he bet on baseball, can apply for reinstatement after one year. Even if he's turned down, the game's most prolific hitter will still be eligible for election to the Hall of Fame in 1992.

"I've been in baseball three decades and to think I'm going to be out of baseball for a very short period of time hurts," Rose said at a press conference in Cincinnati, where he was born and where he broke Ty Cobb's all-time hit record of 4,191 in 1985.

On June 13, 1989, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar gave us his last performance. At the end of the night fans cheered him, his teammates hugged him, shook the hand that launched thousands of skyhooks. Jabbar said, "It really hasn't set in, as far as deeper meanings. I'm just thankful I've been able to last this long and walk out the door."

AND AROUND THE COUNTRY

On November 9, 1989, East Germany lifted restrictions on emigration and travel to the West, and within hours thousands of Germans celebrated on and around the Berlin Wall.

By midnight, thousands of East Germans had entered the western part of the city which had been inaccessible only hours before.

A catastrophic earthquake rocked Northern California on October 17, killing at least 62 people and injuring hundreds, caving in bridges and freeways, igniting fires and causing widespread damage to buildings.

A fiery explosion in a giant gun turret rocked the refitted battleship, U. S. S. Iowa, killing 47 sailors and injuring many others. The explosion occurred on April 19, 1989.

The Exxon Valdez, a 987-foot tanker owned by Exxon Shipping Co., struck Bligh Reef about 25 miles from Valdez, Alaska, ripping holes in its hull, gushing millions of gallons of thick crude oil into pristine Prince William Sound. The result was the largest oil spill in U. S. history.

NEWSMAKERS 1989-90

The Rolling Stones launched their 1989 tour August 13 when they pulled into a tiny New Haven, Connecticut, nightclub for a tuneup that thrilled 700 fans who paid $3 apiece for the impromptu gig.

More than 50,000 people gave President Bush a hero's welcome at the worker's monument where Solidarity was born in a wave of labor upheaval. Bush told the cheering crowd that their struggle had produced "a time when dreams can live again" in the democratic transformation of Poland.

Miss Missouri Debbye Turner, a marimba-playing veterinary student from the University of Missouri, was crowned Miss America 1990 this September.

Miss Turner is the third Black woman to become Miss America in the pageant's 68-year history. She succeeds Miss America 1989, Gretchen Elizabeth Carlson of Minnesota.

Voyager capped its historic 4.43-billion-mile, 12-year tour of four planets when it skimmed 3,048 miles over Neptune's north pole in August, then dove past Triton, the planet's largest moon. It made its closest approach about 23,900 miles above the moon's surface at 2:10 a. m. on 8/25/89.

United Airlines pilot, Captain Al Haynes, declared "there is no hero" in the fiery DC-10 crash in which survivors outnumbered fatalities. Of the 296 people aboard, there were 185 survivors. Aviation experts have credited Haynes with keeping the craft aloft until he reached the airport, where hundreds of emergency workers were waiting. The flight crew never doubted the stricken jetliner would make it to Sioux Gateway Airport, where the plane crash-landed short of a runway, flipped and broke apart.

Leaving a trail of death and destruction across the Caribbean, Hurricane Hugo smashed into the coastal city of Charleston, South Carolina on September 22, 1989.

The Supreme Court has limited the power of states to outlaw the desecration or destruction of the American flag.
