Twenty-five years of soil improvement are listed in the Silver Anniversary report of the Mills County Soil & Water Conservation district which is published in this issue of The Leader. It will be found as a page ad in this section.

The district, in order to get the widest possible readership for its annual report, publishes it in The Leader and the Glenwood Opinion-Tribune. It includes not only a summary of achievements for the past 25 years, but several pictures of special interest as well.

The above picture, showing deep plowing on the Kiser farm on the Missouri river flood plain following the 1952 flood, gives an interesting sidelight on the quarter of a century record of the district.
