

Co. Conservation Work Is Observed

The Hardin county ASC committee and the Soil Conservation district commissioners toured areas of the county Wednesday to observe conservation practices established during 1958 and 1959, according to Cal Moore of the Soil Conservation Service.

Earthen fill structures were seen on the Ed Clary farm, operated by Maurice Schwarck, and on the Ben Primus farm, both of Eldora. A structure and waterway project involving 42,000 cu. yd. of earth fill was observed on the Cecil Rooks farm southeast of Eldora. The dam, nearly one-third constructed, will be completed in 1960.
