HIGHLIGHTS OF BUENA VISTA HISTORY

Buena Vista College, established in 1891, was an outgrowth of the Fort Dodge Collegiate Institute which when "surrounded by morally dangerous elements" — intoxicating liquors — moved to Storm Lake. The first buildings, Old Main and Ladies' Hall, were completed in January, 1892, completely furnished with modern conveniences of steam heat and electricity. The total expense of college for the first year did not exceed $150.

In 1906 Mrs. Flora Mather gave Mather House to the college; it was used as the musical conservatory. The same year commencement week traditions were established when the seniors smoked the Pipe of Peace with the juniors and planted a tree on campus.

"The Rudder," forerunner of the "Beaver Log," was published in 1907 by the junior class. They published the college yell as being:

Rah-Rah-Rah

Sis-Boom-Bah

Razoo-Razoo

Johnny blow your bazzoo

Rip-zidi-i-ki

Uvi

Buena Vista

Phi Alpha Pi was founded in 1906; their emblem was the swastika. The Buena Vista Oratorical Association was admitted to state membership the same year. In 1907 they won a place on the program of the state organization and closed the year with a balance in the treasury.

Rivalry between literary societies resulted in productions of society papers. One developed into the Tack organization; its first edition, appearing in 1911, was bound on a sewing machine, and its covers pasted

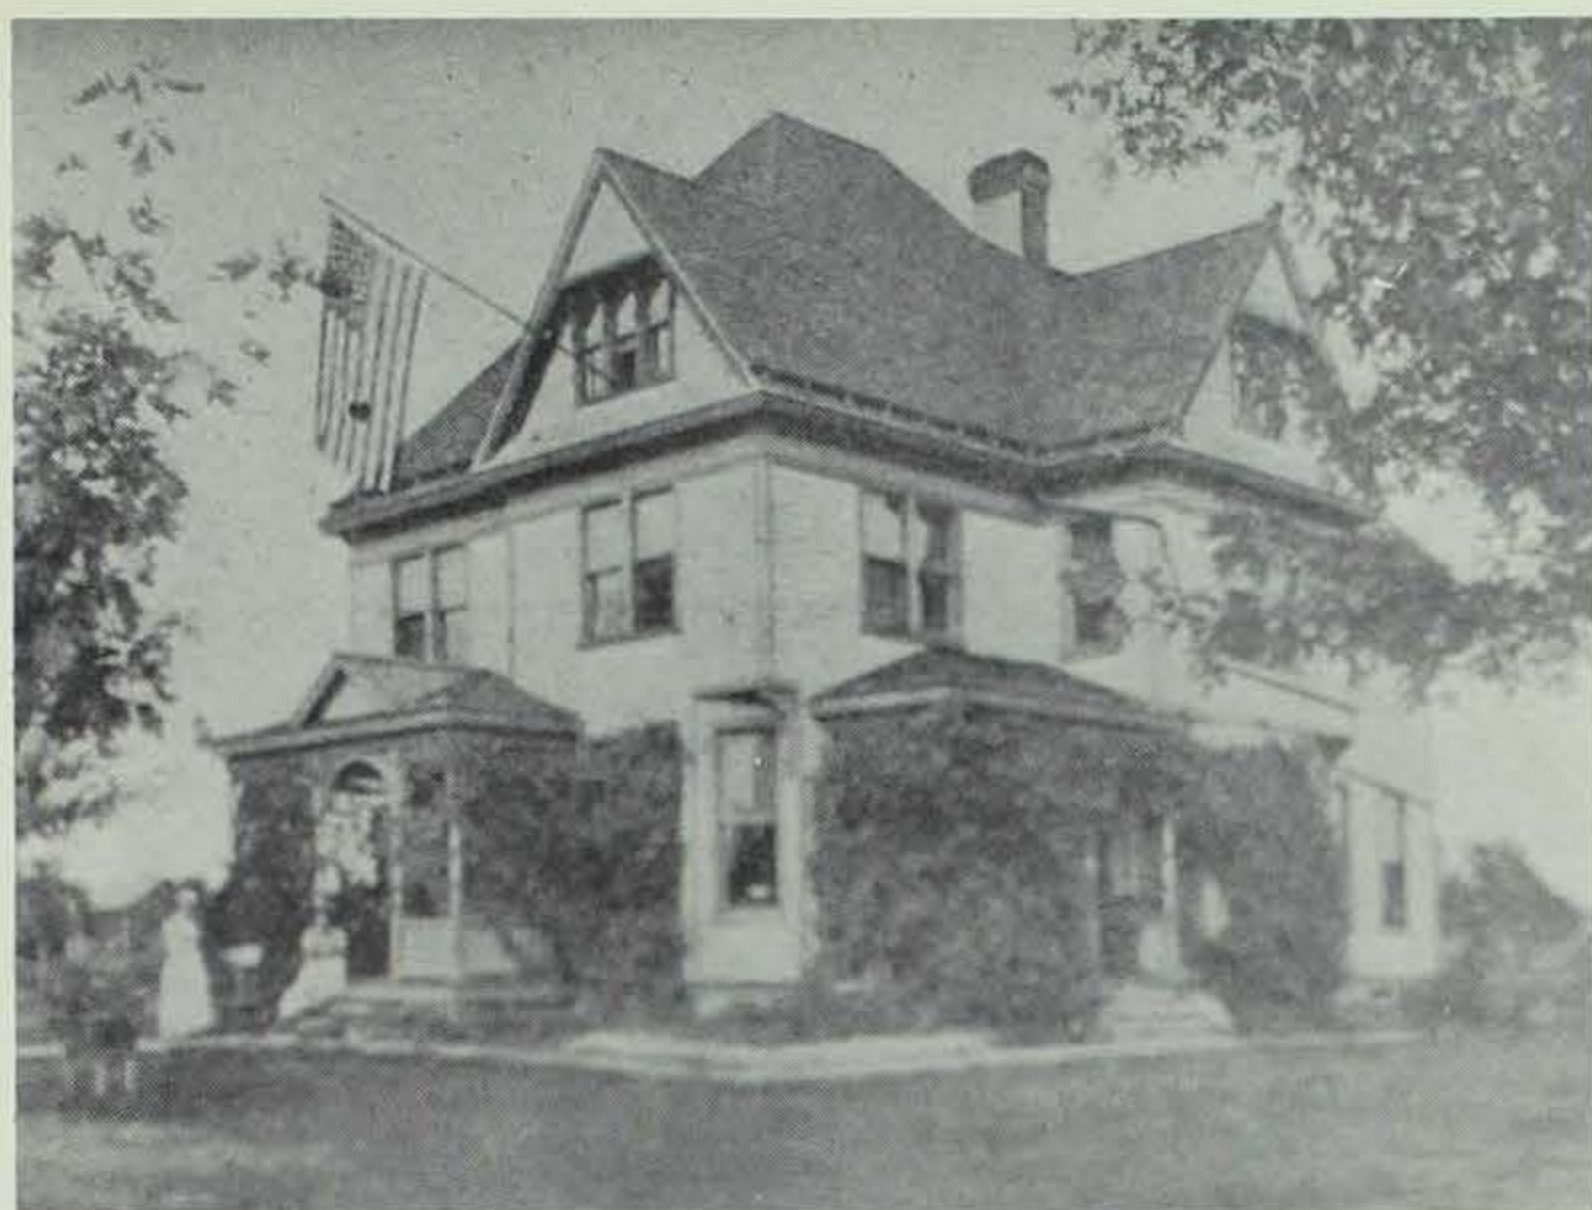

OLD MAIN — front view.

Old Main, the first building erected for the college, was built in 1892. It stood on an eminence of ground that gave it an imposing appearance. The building faced the lake. Old Main had three stories with rooms for a museum, library and reading room, recitation rooms, and chapel. The basement housed the college press.

Miller-Stuart House.

Miller-Stuart house was purchased for the college in 1901 by Reverend William Miller of Des Moines and Mrs. Lois G. Stuart of Audubon. Since its erection it has been used as the President's home.

Mather House, the gift of Mrs. Flora S. Mather of Cleveland, Ohio, was built in 1906 and used for the musical conservatory. Still standing, it is now housing women students.

by hand. At first a monthly magazine, by 1919 it was a bi-monthly newspaper.

By 1913 the administration was looking forward to 500 students, anticipating 300 for the next year.

Mr. S. C. Bradford donated twenty-two lots in 1915 which were used as the athletic field.

1916 marked the year for construction of the gymnasium. It was called Victory Hall in 1920 in remembrance of those who served in World War I.

June 4, 1918, the Buena Vista service flag was dedicated. Seventy blue stars and one gold represented the alumni and students who gave service. Buena Vista started 1917 with forty-four men, but by May, 1918, twelve remained.

Delta Phi Beta sorority started in 1920.

The Beavers won the Iowa Basketball Conference under Coach Kelly in 1926.

During the depression era the college almost folded, but with the help of such professors as Professor Reynolds and Professor Sampson and President Henry Olson it remained intact.

By 1948 the institution was ready to expand again and Vista Court was purchased. 1950 saw Swope Hall being built for women students, and Fracker Library was moved from Smith Hall to a new building. The men's residence was erected in 1956 with an addition in 1962.

Delta Phi Rho and Gamma Sigma Phi fraternities began their period as locals in 1960.

Schaller Memorial Chapel ends the history of expansion, but 1963 and the future promise a new cafeteria, and library, additions to Swope Hall, and an expected enrollment of 2000.

The construction of Smith Hall, the science building, was begun in the summer of 1925. It has continued to serve the college in this capacity since its erection. The hall was named in honor of Professor Emeritus F. F. Smith.

Vista Court.

Vista Court was an addition to the college layout in 1948. It was obtained by the college for its married students' quarters.

In the fall of 1956 the men students were housed on campus in the newly built men's dormitory. In the summer of 1962 an addition was built to compensate for the increase in enrollment.

President
Dr. Wendell Q. Halverson

Buena Vista College

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

Storm Lake, Iowa

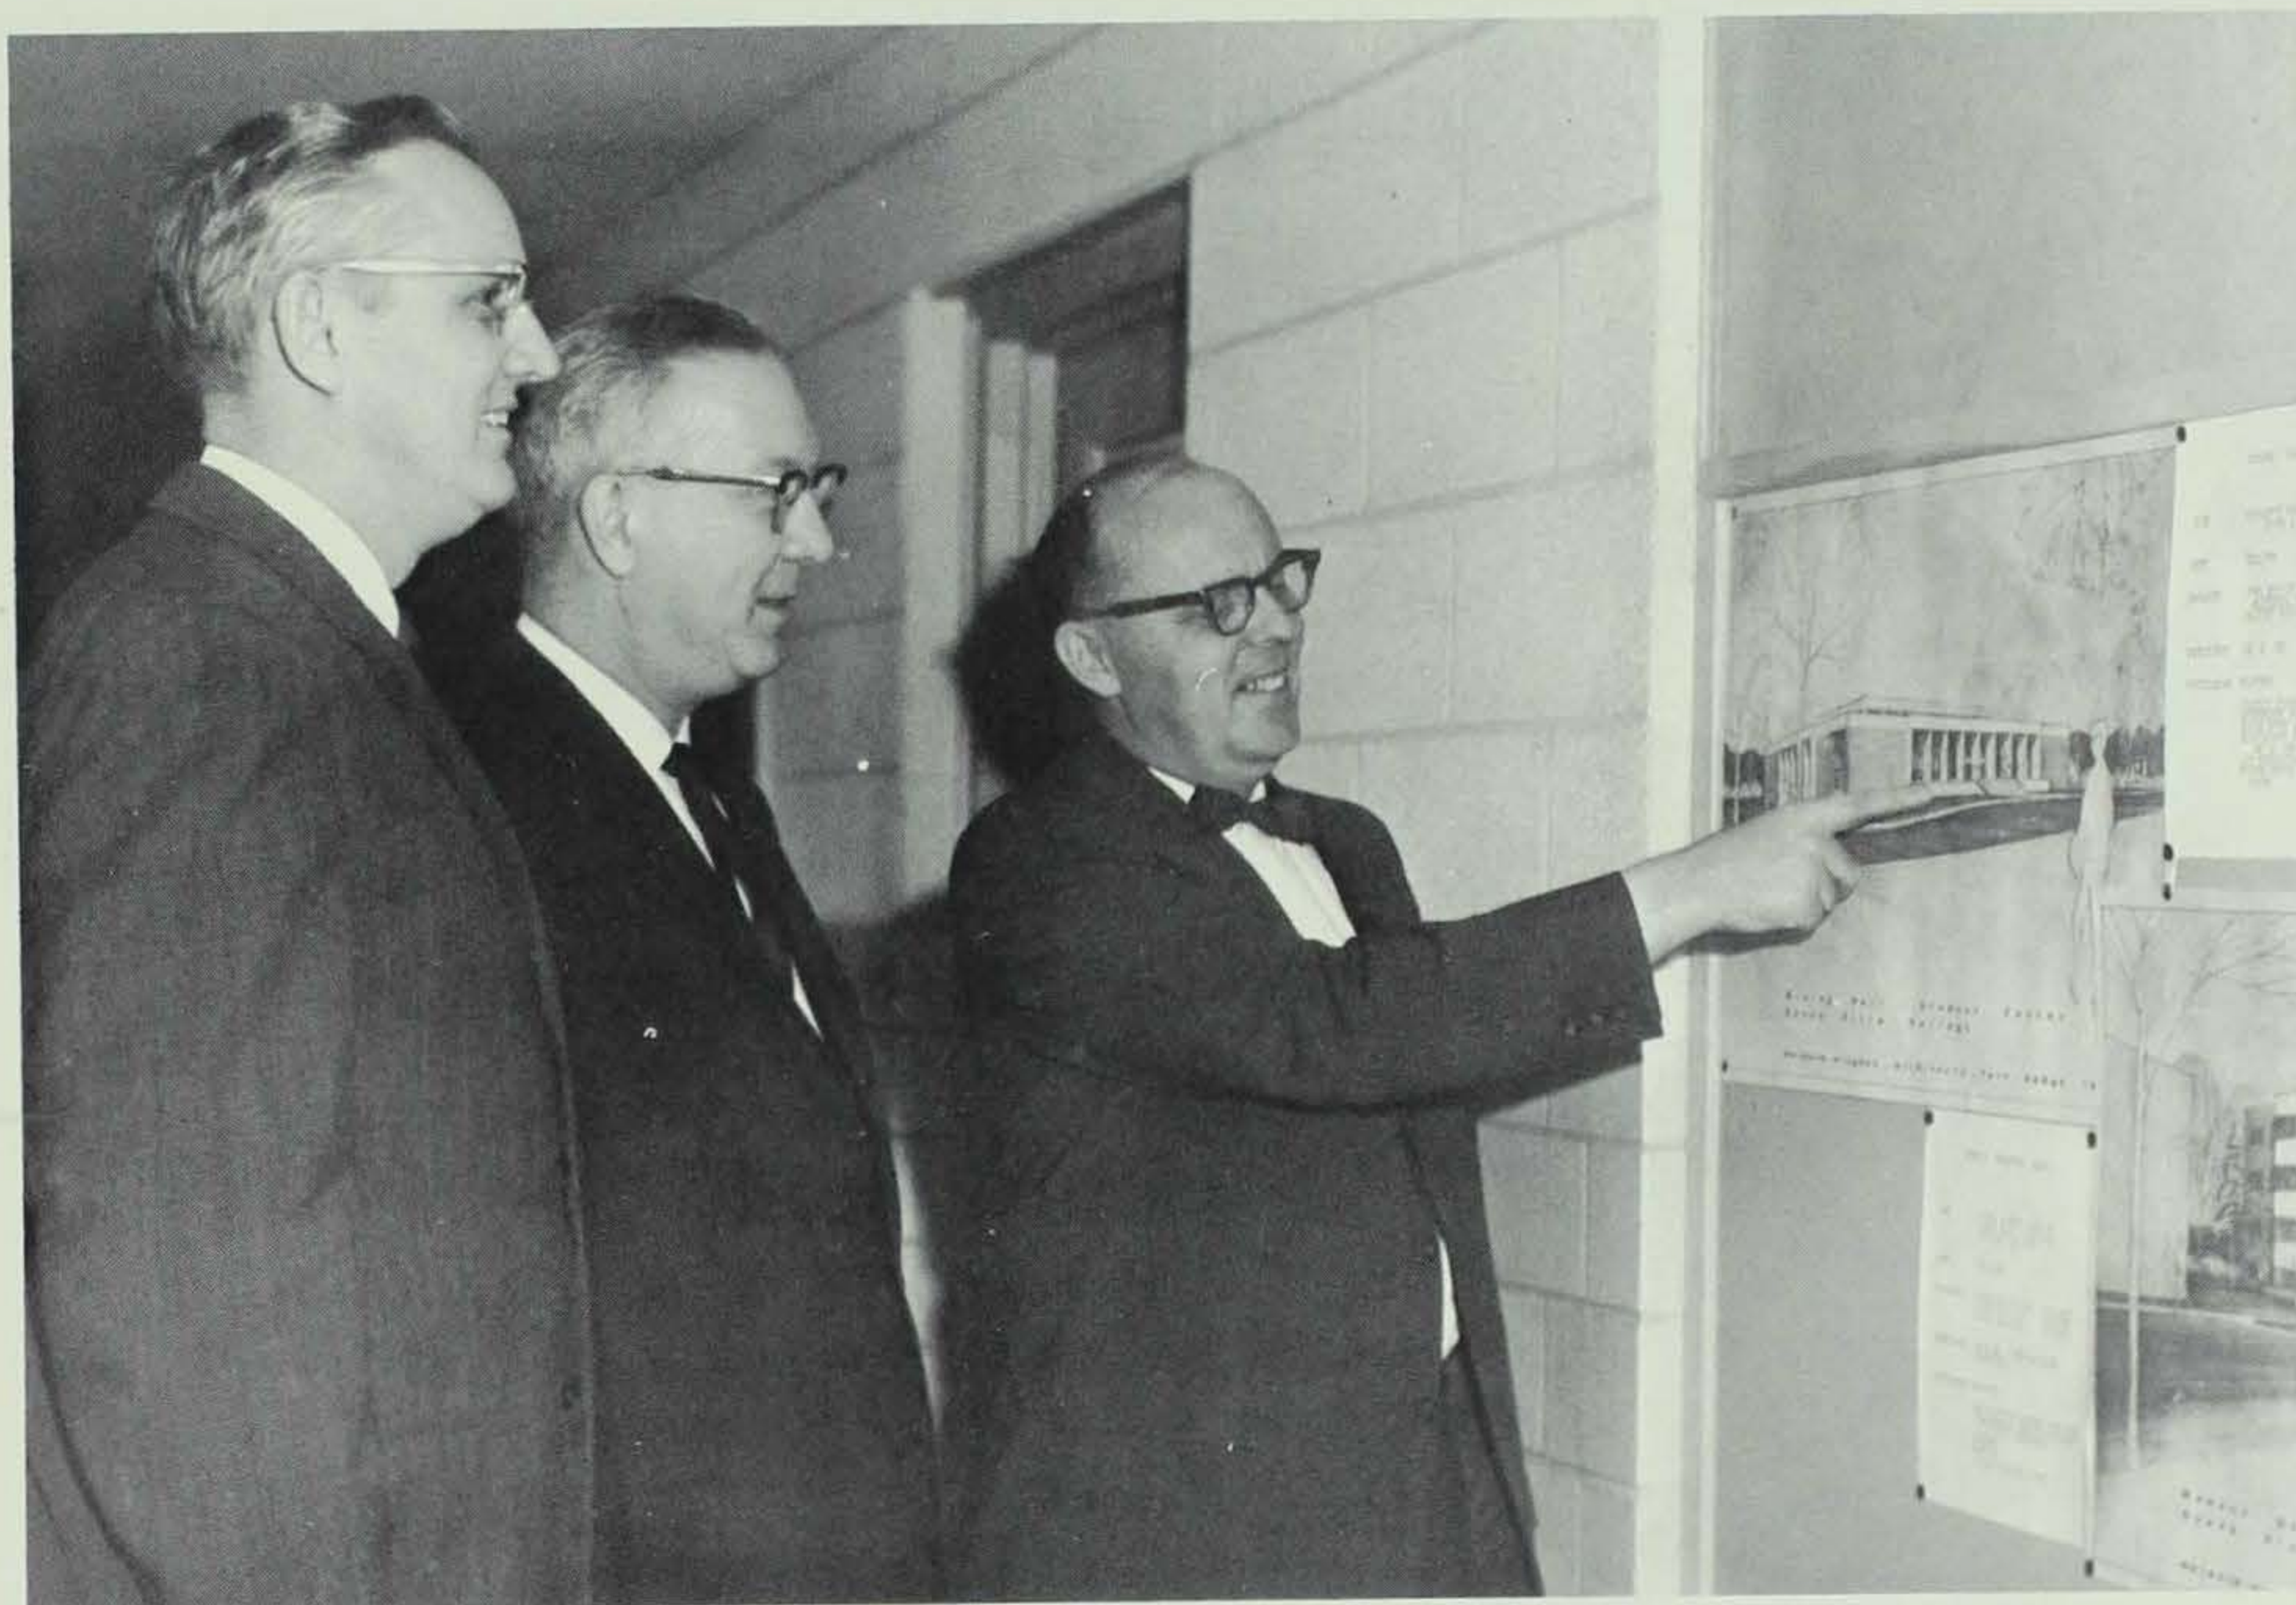

The years ahead will provide continuing rapid social change. As seniors are graduated we cannot but wonder how well we have prepared you to face the bewitching and bewildering problems which confuse the wisest and best of men. We have tried to introduce the faith and share the understanding which we believe will enable you to ride out this Twentieth Century storm. We shall perhaps never know how well we have done.

As faculty and administration we have committed ourselves to you in faith that God can forgive and override our common error and stupidity, and beyond that, gloriously multiply the usefulness of your talent and commitment, "some thirty fold, some sixty fold, some hundred fold."

We shall pray for God's benediction on your coming and going, and watch your progress with love and affection.

Sincerely,

Wendell Q. Halverson

VICE PRESIDENTS

Dedication, generosity of time, talent and substance, Christian concern, vision — these only partially and inadequately describe the group of men legally responsible for Buena Vista College — the Vice Presidents.

These men have shown this dedication, generosity of time, talent, concern, and vision in development, academic affairs and business affairs.

COMMENCEMENT

The Freshman Orientation Program is designed to let the new student meet the old student and their fellow classmates.

Many different activities are planned for the first three days of school. One of the new ones this year was the speed boat rides on Storm Lake. The annual get-together dance initiated the twist. Jake's picnic was a huge success. There's something about sitting on the ground together that's friendly.

FRESHMAN ORIENTATION

During the day, the Freshmen settled down to more serious things. Registration was one of the hardest, most confusing times. But finally after several lectures in Edson hall, everyone was registered and on their way. The President held his annual New Student's Tea that Sunday.

Sports

1962

Lundquist unleashes another pass.

It was a long season for our Beavers, winning only three out of nine games. To illustrate how firmly "Lady Luck" was established against us, we lost every flip of the coin which begins each ballgame. Even in a losing season, however, we were proud of our team, cheering them on and being caught up in the excitement which a football game always brings to the heart of every American.

Nothing is ever as bleak as to not have some light diffused through it. This light came in the form of Norm Anderson and Jim Hoffman, who received all conference rankings. In addition to this, Norm Anderson was given N.A.I.A. recognition.

Coach Naughton gives out "pearls of wisdom."

GRIDDERS

Another completed pass for the Beavers.

In recognition of good hard work, Miller, Lundquist, and Ahrens were named tri-captains of the team. Radke was voted the "most valuable player," edging out Jim Hoffman by one vote. Jim McGowan received the Larry Troutman award, given to the outstanding freshman player each year.

Even in losing six of the games, can anyone truthfully say it was a season without honor or glory?

Radke boots another goal.

B.V. CAGERS

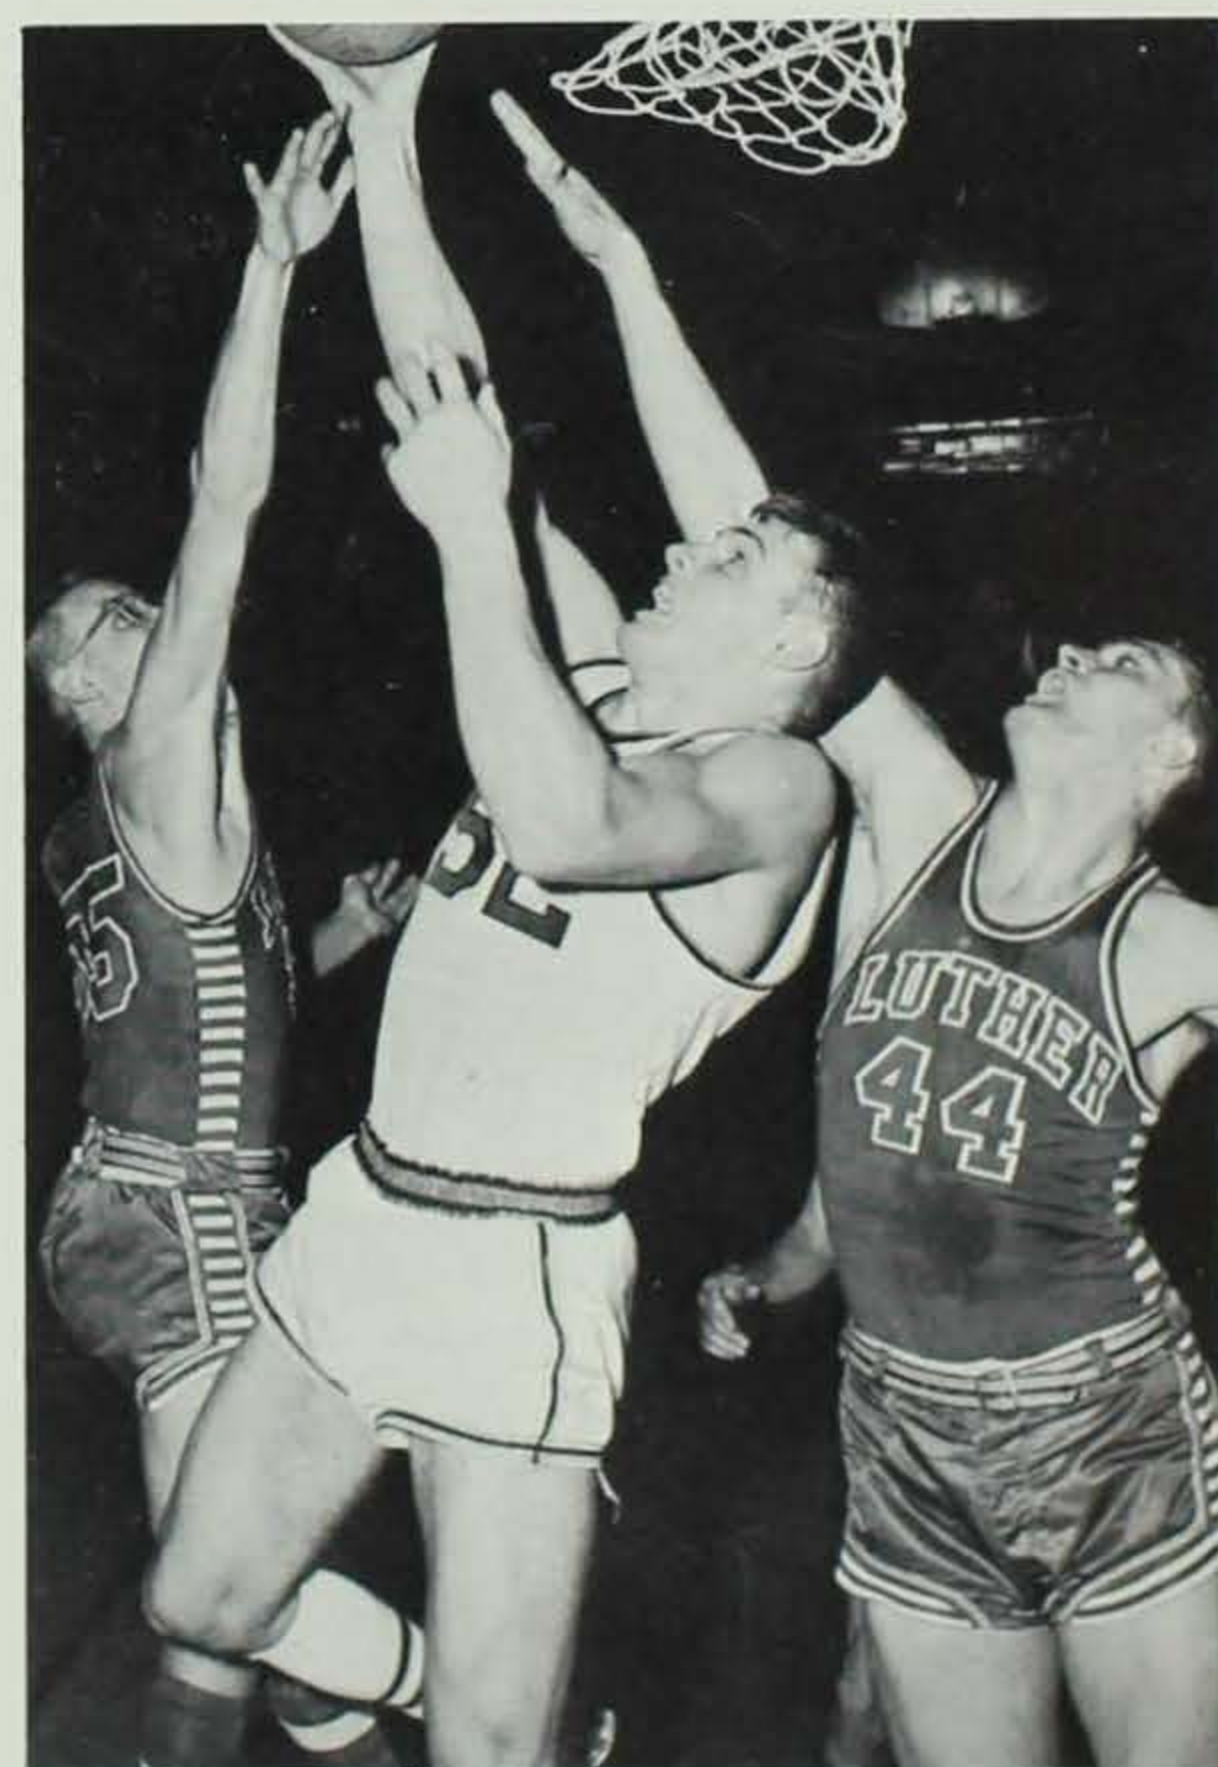

This is our Beaver basketball team. Color them determined. Also color team good. Color the fans happy — happy to have the opportunity to watch such high caliber basketball. Larry Dick and Dick Point, pictured in the lower left, may be colored outstanding; they were both named to the first all-conference team and finished one-two in the individual scoring race among all players in the conference. As for the future, color it brightly victorious. It should be at least that since all the team will be back next year except Erv Dotson.

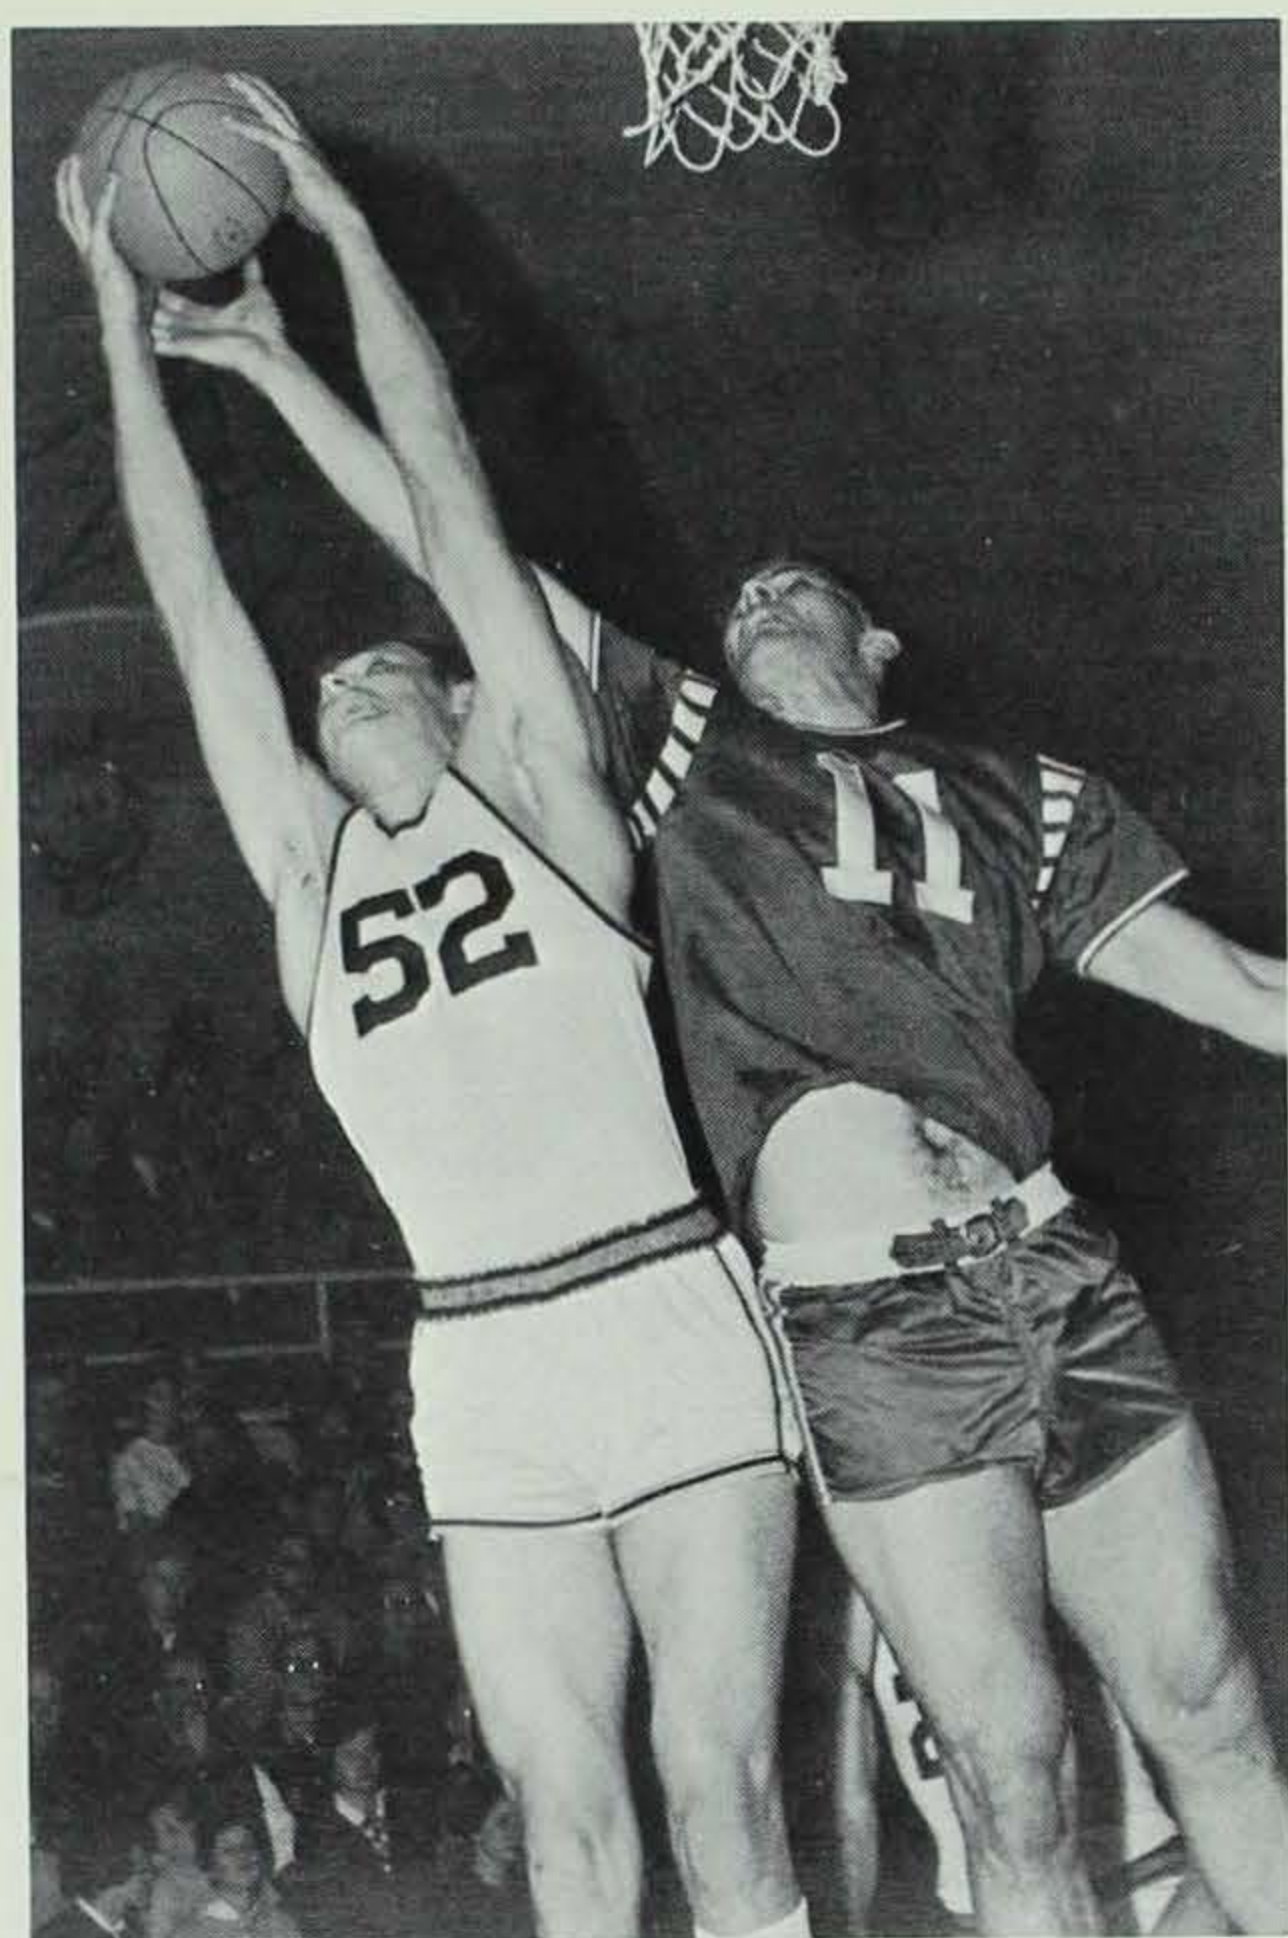

It looked like we were really on our way to another glorious season. Then, with a month of nothing but road trips, the roof fell in. Although we didn't win the conference title, we serve due notice — due warning — to all conference rivals of our prowess and our intents for the future — nothing less than victory after victory after victory!

The Beavers had another winning cage season this year. They extended their consecutive conference game winning streak to thirteen until they fell into a slump. Early in the season Larry Dick and Gary Puttmann combined for a two-man one game scoring record of 66 points. Gary owned 36 of these — and this was his Iowa Conference debut! The next night the Beavers thoroughly out-played Parsons with another star, Dick Point, leading the action.

Early in the spring the Beaver baseball team made an extensive road trip through Arkansas and Missouri. Their won-lost record on this trip was far from impressive, but that wasn't the real objective. The real objective was for everyone to gain playing experience and this meant playing them in crucial situations so they would gain confidence and get used to the pressure. This paid great dividends when the race for the Iowa Conference title began. Buena Vista was right in the thick of things right down to the wire. They held first place for the whole first half of the season and looked like a good bet to take the title. However, when both Parsons and Buena Vista faltered in the stretch, Wartburg grabbed the crown.

"DIAMOND MEN"

These are the players as they receive their letters. Below, Arnold Zediker gets ready to hit one.

FINAL STANDINGS

	W	L	T	GAMES BACK
Wartburg	8	4	0	0
Dubuque	10	6	0	0
Parsons	8	5	1	1/2
BUENA VISTA ...	6	5	0	1 1/2
Luther	8	8	0	2
Upper Iowa	7	7	0	2
Central	6	8	0	3
Simpson	5	9	0	4
William Penn	2	8	1	5

BUENA VISTA'S

Buena Vista's track team was exceedingly small this year. There were only nine letter-winners. These nine were good, however; they won many points in various meets, but it takes depth to win track meets. Other schools fielded large squads, and thus their chances of winning were very much greater than ours. The squad was injury-ridden much of the year, on top of being small, and thus was forced to drop out of some meets.

"CINDER MEN"

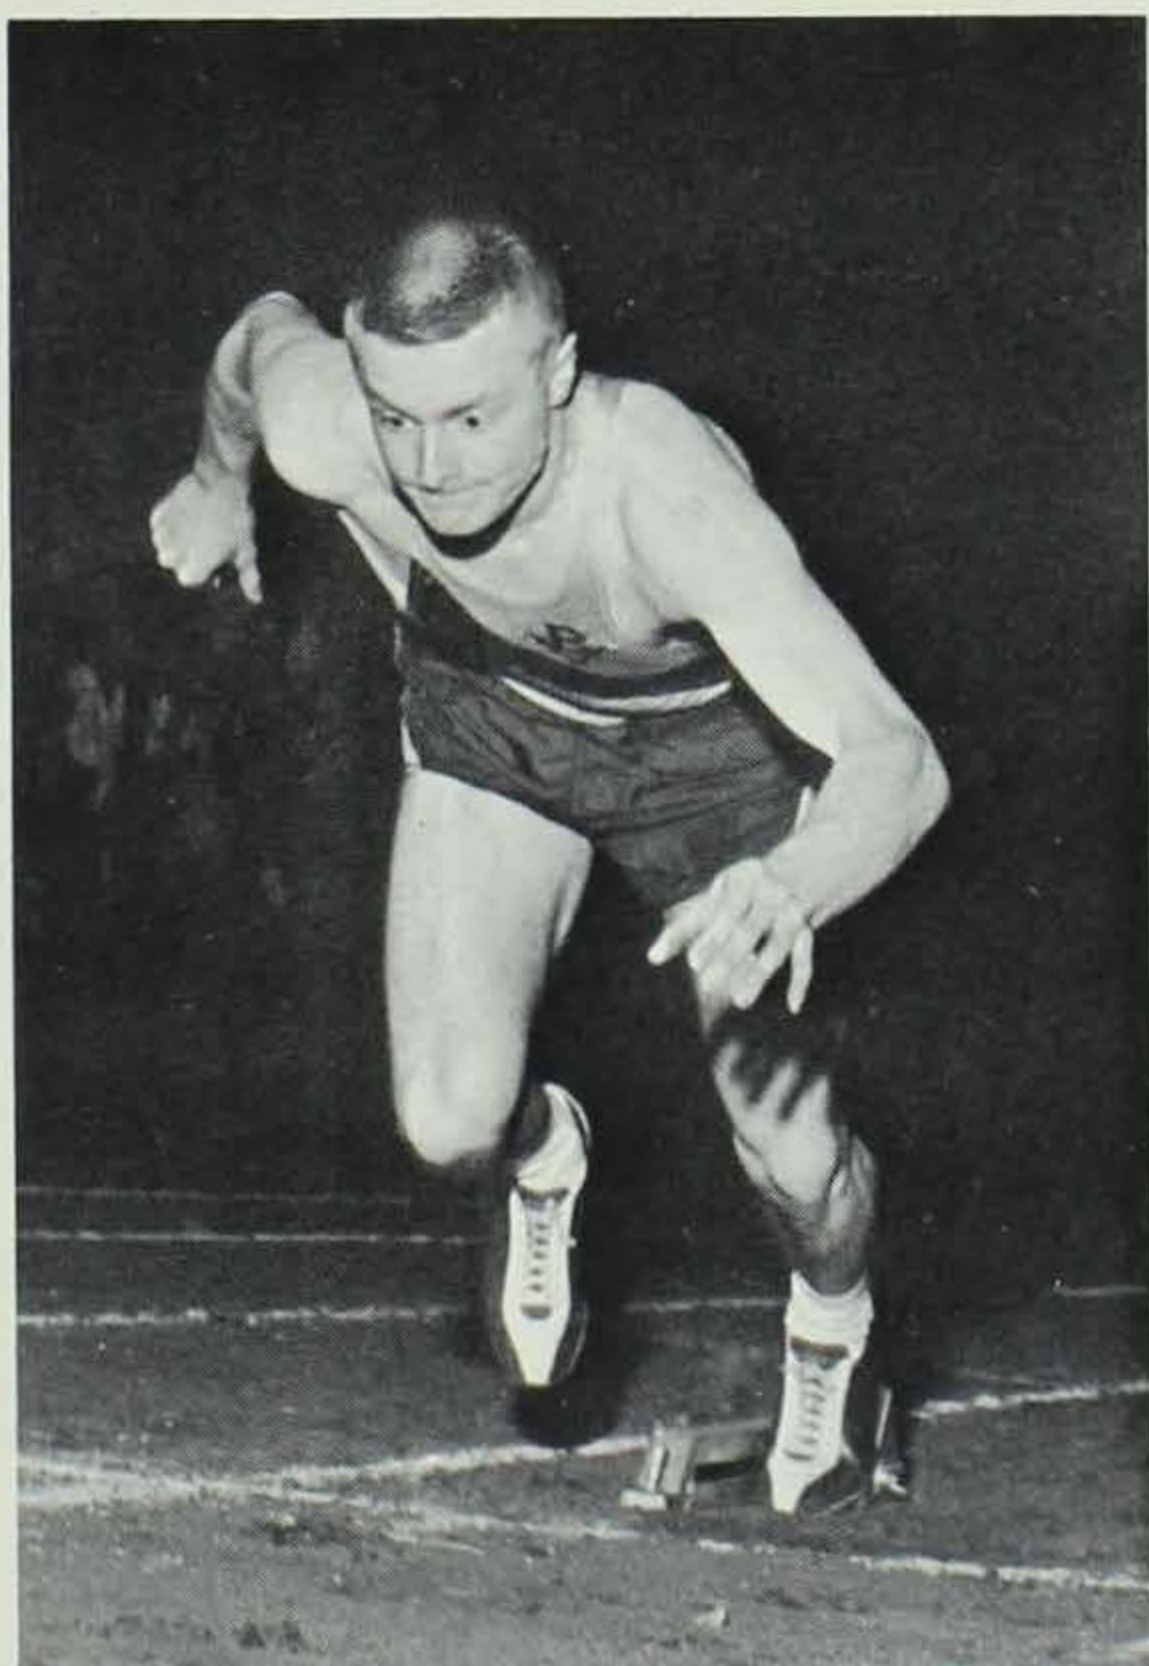

DeWitt, one of B.V.'s outstanding runners, breaks the tape with no one near him.

This is the 440 yard relay team which represented us well this year.

Quick, well-balanced starts are a prime requisite.

Our golf squad was hampered by poor weather this season making practices difficult. Due to this, the men of the green had two opponents — the course and the weather — rather than one. The four lettermen — Ronald Zwemke, John Pagel, James Delaney, and John Owen — were the only consistent players throughout the season. As a team the Beavers won 3 and lost 2 in dual meets. They took part in the Drake Relays Tournament and finished 8th in the Iowa Conference Tournament at Waverly. John Naughton took over as coach this year. He should have a good team next year as the whole team will return with another year of experience behind them.
