Conservationists Honored By Goodyear Program At Arizona

Two nationally recognized conservationists discover that both cotton picking and divot digging can be farm chores. Milton R. Jordening of Eldora (left) and Caleb Knutson of Radcliffe (right) are among 106 grand award winners being honored at the 22nd annual Goodyear Soil Conservation Awards Program in Litchfield Park, Ariz. They are shown with George Busey, vice president and general manager of Goodyear Farms, which includes 10,000 acres of irrigated farmland and The Wigwam, a desert resort with two 18-hole championship golf courses among its recreational facilities.
