

1910

This is looking west from the corner of the street that the church is on. Thelma Brindle's house is on the corner (left on picture) of Main Street. Maggie Ryan's house is across the street on the left. (The Flater house, originally called the old Beaman house, was burned in 1988.) The next house west is now a part of Helen's Apartments. The light posts on the street beyond were lights lit at night. There is a barn at the end of the street.

1912

This is the Farmers Elevator Company. It is now the Beaman Cooperative Company in 1988.
